7. HELP advice needed on 450 ohm matching

I wonder if u could help me, i have a tri-band beam erected and am considering using 450 ohm feeder due to the less amount of loss on the line (as opposed to RG58)

The radio i am using is an IC-756PROII, with inbuilt ATU, will i be able to connect the feeder direct to the beam and run it straight into the back of my 756 (using 259 connector) ??

Or will i requir a balun at either the beam or radio end???

hope you can shed some light on this as I have got a bit confused with it.

thanks in advance.

Hello, Hans

As you well know, it isn't the size of the ship, it's the motion through the ocean! :))

You got the comms going back to Guam with what, 100 watts? Into a chain link fence? I know some folks would tell you (and me) to go back to the VFW and tell tales. I hope that the young folks can handle the emergency traffic.

There is no scam. Radio Mart is a legetimate e-Bay reseller of refurbished ham radio equipment and accessories. There is no difference between how Radio Mart does business and other retailers like HRO, AES and others.

The problem here lies with a few usenet knuckleheads and cheap bastard hams who pontificate about all so much 'sour grapes' over them.
(most or all of em' being ex-hamfest dealers who just don't like e-Bay!)

Something, in perspective, so common of the minority of cheap ham radio op's we all used to see at the hamfests years ago.
The hams that used to walking around in dirty 10 year old clothes who never had a good word for anything or anybody so they cast their bile on that which they could or would not simply walk away from because the radio on the table was "too expensive" for them. In short it's cheap-assed cranky old men who act like spoiled 8-year-olds.

If they don't like Radio-Mart you'd think they'd just go buy new stuff at HRO and AES. R-M has to be doing something right as it appears each and every auction they put up ends with someone bidding on something. I say more power to them, and if someone don't like how they do business, they can go down the street to the next corner Deli on the block and get a pastrami-on-rye from them instead.

Radio-Mart(RM) is a deceptive seller that has cause more than a few buyers to get negative feedback. I like how the R390A he sells is Collins "designed", which is not the same as Collins built.

If Radio-Mart(RM) was an honest broker, then there would be no need for the private sales.

I often see items for sale from Radio-Mart(RM) that I want, but I won't buy from Mr. Red Velvet. Just wait a bit longer and a better deal will show up on ebay. There is no need to deal with Radio-Mart(RM).

The "private" sales stem from many folks here contacting his bidders warning them about his supposed questionable character. One or two folks here found his online auctions and started calling him a crook, then many more folks who have never had a single dealing with him joined the bandwagon. Radio-Mart isn't doing anything different than the normal used gear seller... he just doesn't hide his practices as well. Millions of salespeople use these tactics all day long. If true problems develop Ebay will pull his registered status or kick him off, but he's far from being that bad. The situation concerns him, his buyers, and Ebay... everyone else is either jealous, enjoys causing trouble, or can't afford his stuff. If you don't like his practices, then don't bid.

Horacio, LU4DXU, has cancelled/postponed his LU4ZS operation from Marambio Base (IOTA AN-013, Antarctica Award LU-03) on Seymour Island that was scheduled to take place between January 3-8th. There is a possibility of him going there in February. More details are forthcoming.

CDXC 2006 CONVENTION. Laurent, F8BBL, states to mark your calendar for the 28th Clipperton DX Club DX Convention which will be held over the September 15-17th weekend. The event will be held in the very popular Arcachon area of France. Some of the presentations scheduled include K7C, 5H1C, A52CDX, FT5XO, 4S7PAG, MU0EXV/GU0VNK, 3Y0X and TO4Gxx just to name a few. For more details you can send an E-mail to convention@cdxc.org or check out the CDXC Web page (in French) at:
http://www.cdxc.org/Conventions/2006-Arcachon/arcachon2006-f.htm

FG, GUADELOUPE. Rick, N0YY, will be active as FG/N0YY from February 13-21st. His activity will include the ARRL DX CW Contest (February 18-19th) as a Single-Op/All-Band entry. QSL via K9JS.

HB0, LIECHTENSTEIN. Tom, DL2OBO, is expected to be active as HB0/DL2OBO from "Chalt Bars&#65533;la" cottage between 1600z, January 2nd and 1200z, January 7th. Activity will be on 160-10 meters with an emphasis on the lower bands. He states that if you need a sked for anything, call by telephone at 00-423 262 68 54; anytime you like (between the above hours only), and also during the night.

IOTA NEWS.....
EU-088. Ric, DL2VFR, will be active as OZ/DL2VFR from Laeso Island (DIA NK-003 for the Danish Islands award) from July 23-30th. Activity will be HF and 6 meters, mostly CW with some SSB. He will also be active in the RSGB IOTA Contest (July 29-30th). QSL via his home callsign; bureau is preferred.

EU-096. Operators Ric/DL2VFR and Frank/DL2SWW are planning to be active from Korpo Island, March 22-29th. Activity will be on 160-10 meters (possibly 6m), CW and SSB. QSL via their home callsigns.

NA-058. Look for Jerry, N9GGO, and his XYL Kathy, KC9HIF, to be active from Jekyll Island (USI GA-006S, Glynn County, Georgia), January 3-7th. Activity will be during the hours of 1230-1600z on 20 meters SSB (watch 14260 kHz +/- QRM). QSL via N9GGO (QRZ.com).

SA-023. (Cancelled) Renner, PY7RP, informs OPDX that Cristovao, PY7GK, had to cancel his holiday ZY6GK expedition to Itaparica Island due to radio problems. Some days ago his IC-746 stopped transmitting. He told Renner that he will send his radio to get repaired and plans to be back on Itaparica just in time for the next IOTA contest.

ISWL DIAMOND ANNIVERSARY (Special Event). SWL Pete Rayer, Hon. Life Vice President of the ISWL, informs OPDX that the "International Shortwave League" (ISWL), celebrates it 60th (Diamond) Anniversary in 2006. The ISWL was founded in 1946 and caters to Licensed Amateurs, Broadcast Band and Amateur Band SWL's and Air Band Listeners around the world. (Plus many more aspects of their great hobby). Please visit the following Web for more details at: http://www.iswl.org.uk

used at 12 public events throughout 2006. The first event will be on January 22nd from the RAF Montrose Heritage Centre in Angus, Scotland. Also, look for special event station GB6SWL to operated on weekends and public bank holidays from various locations around Great Britain. Full details can be found at the above Web page or on QRZ.com. QSL both operations to: Alan Loveridge, c/o ISWL QSL Bureau - 29, Courtiers Drive, Bishop Cleave, Cheltenham Gloucestershire England, U.K.

JW, SVALBARD. Trond, LA9VDA, will once again travel to Svalbard (Spitsbergen Island - IOTA EU-026) and be active as JW9VDA from January 9-16th. His activity will be on all bands, mostly CW and SSB. This operation will be good for a brand new WLOTA JW-0125 reference number. QSL direct to: Trond Johannessen, Helgedalen 13, N-1528 Moss, Norway. Please include a self-addressed envelope (SAE) and sufficient return postage. For postage to Europe and the rest of the world, 1 USD is not enough. Please provide at least 1 IRC or 2 USD. Direct QSLs without sufficient return postage will be answered through the bureau. QSL cards for JW9VDA can be requested via E-mail to: la9vda2003@yahoo.no

P4, ARUBA. Tom, W7YW, informs OPDX that he will be operating from Aruba from March 7-22nd. He will be operating from the P40L contest station on all bands with SSB and CW. A personal callsign has not been assigned yet, but Tom has requested P40YW. He will be accompanied by his wife Bonnie, W7BWW. QSL to his home call, W7YW.

QSL INFO AND NEWS.....
Gerry, VE6LB/VA6XDX, reported that the 3C2MV logs are now online and available at: http://dx.qsl.net/logs/

SILENT KEYS.....
WB3DNA - Tim Fanus, DXer of Harrisburg, PA, became a Silent Key on December 28th. Tim was 47 yrs. old and confined to a wheel chair since his early teens. He was a DXCC Honor Roll member, QSL Manager and a long time QSL sorter for the W3 Bureau until his health would not permit him to continue.

W8LKH - Richard Hatton a DXer of Novelty, Ohio, became a Silent Key on December 20th at the age of 86. He has been a ham operator since the age of 5. He was at the top of the DXCC Honor Roll for many years with his DXCC Mixed total of 382. Richard Hatton worked in radio broadcasting and electronic sales/service for 65 years. He also served as the Chief of Police in North Randall in the early 1950's.

OPDX and its readers would like to send out our deepest sympathy to the family and friends of the above "SK" DXers.

S0, WESTERN SAHARA. Radio-Noticias magazine reports that a group of operators during their Sadiki Expedition will transmit from different locations from the Sahara, within the territory of the Arab Republic Democratic Saharaui between January 7-13th. Activity will be SSB on the following suggested frequncies: 3675, 7085, 14310, 21175 and 28975 kHz.

Their activity also includes 27425 kHz (11 meters, YES the CB Band!!).
Details are available on: http://www.radionoticias.com

SJDXA 2006 OFFICERS. At the December meeting of the South Jersey DX Association, the following officers were elected for 2006:
Bob Schenck, N2OO - President
Tony DeBiasi, K2SG - Vice President
Steve McGarry, W2USF - Secretary
Bob Pantazes, W2ARP - Treasurer
Visit the SJDXA Web page at: http://www.qsl.net/n2oo/SJDXA.htm

SPECIAL AWARD/EVENT. During 2006, the Croatian Amateur Radio Association will celebrate the 150th anniversary of the birth of the great inventor and scientist Nikola Tesla, who was born near Gospic in Croatia, on the 10th of July 1856. Look for special event station 9A150NT to be active on all bands and modes from Croatia during the year of 2006. ADDED NOTE: The special station 9A150NT will be active each month from a different Croatian county. Also, the Croatian Amateur Radio Association will issue a special event "Nikola Tesla Award", commemorating that anniversary. QSL 9A150NT via 9A6AA. More details about this special callsign (approx. operating schedule) and the "Nikola Tesla Award" can be found on the following Web page at: http://www.inet.hr/9a6aa/9a150nt Note: Contacts with 9A150NT will also be valid for the Worked 9A Counties Award.

SPECIAL EVENT. The members of the Amateur Radio Club Koprivnica "9A8K" will activate the special callsign "9A650C" to celebrate the 650th anniversary of receiving free status for the town of Koprivnica (in 1356). The special callsign will be in use in 2006 from January 1st through December 31st. The QSL Manager for this activity is Kresimir, 9A7K. One QSO with the "9A650C" callsign is enough to receive the special "Koprivnica City Award". More details are available about this special anniversary callsign as well the special "Koprivnica City Award" on the following Web page at: http://www.9a7k.com

SPECIAL EVENT. Amateurs from the Ardennes area will activate the special callsign TM5OVA now through January 12th. Their activity is in memory of Lucien, F5OVA, one of the most active Hams in the Ardennes area. Operations will be on HF, VHF 2m, UHF 70cm and 23cm. QSL via F0DTB, via the Bureau or direct to: Brunet Gerard, 13 Rue de la Croix du Moulin, 08000 Warcq, FRANCE.

SPECIAL EVENT (JA Activities).....

QSL via the JARL Bureau.

8J5MC - Activity between January 1-31st, to celebrate the anniversary of Mitoyo City, Japan. QSL via the JARL Bureau.

8J8HKT - Activity between February 1-28th, to celebrate the anniversary of Hukuto City, Japan. QSL via the JARL Bureau.

8J8NST - Activity to celebrate the Winter Sports Festival in Tomakomai, Japan. Special event to be aired between January 16th and February 1st. QSL via the JARL Bureau.

TO5, MARTINIQUE. Al, F5VHJ, will be active as TO5A in the ARRL DX SSB Contest (March 4-5th) as a Single-Operator/All-Band/High-Power entry. QSL via F5VHJ, direct or by the bureau.

TR, GABON. Franck, F4BQO, will be active as TR8FC from Libreville between January 1st and May. Look for Franck during the evenings starting at 1800z on 14190 kHz. Also, watch 21020 and 24900 kHz on CW. Skeds can be arranged by sending E-mail to: F4BQO@orange.fr
QSL via F4BQO, by the bureau or direct to: Claude Franck, 56 Rue de la Treille, 95490 Vaureal, FRANCE.

VP2V, BRITISH VIRGIN ISLANDS. Jim/G3RTE and Phil/G3SWH will be active as VP2V/G6AY from Anegada Island in the British Virgin Islands (IOTA NA-023) between February 23rd and March 1st. Their activity will be primarily CW on 80-10 meters but with some SSB and the possibility of some 160 meters CW operation. They will have two 100 watt stations and hope to be on the air as much as possible, propagation permitting. QSL via G3SWH, direct (with SAE and adequate return postage), via E-mail for a bureau reply or via the RSGB Bureau.

VP9, BERMUDA. Kyle, WA4PGM, will be active as VP9/WA4PGM between January 26-30th. Activity will be on 160-6 meters with an emphasis on the CQWW 160M CW Contest (January 28-29th) as a Single-Operator entry. QSL direct via POB address listed in QRZ.com or on: http://www.wa4pgm.us
Also, QSL via eQSL, and LoTW.

VU4, ANDAMAN AND NICOBA ISLANDS (Update on Hamfest). On December 30th, the National Institute of Amateur Radio (NIAR) sent out a press release (First Information Circular) detailing their upcoming "HAMFEST (VU4) INDIA &#65533; 2006" to take place between April 18-20th from Port Blair, Andaman and Nicobar Islands. The purpose of this conference is to provide a forum for presentation and discussion on the latest technology developments, Antennas & Propagation, Dx-peditions, HF & VHF Communications, Digital amateur radio, Emergency Communications, Promotion of amateur radio / open forum in the field of amateur radio communication. The conference will cover all interdisciplinary aspects of amateur radio in various sessions.
The major attractions during the event include an arena for exhibitors to display and demonstrate amateur radio communication technologies as well as allow foreign hams to operate from the Andaman and Nicobar Islands. Local tours to exotic locations are also planned for participants and much more. The NIAR requests Amateur radio organizations and individual hams interested in operating from Port Blair, Andaman and Nicobar Islands to forward a letter of intent with details (E-mail only) to:
niarhamfest@gmail.com
The complete press release with more details on requesting permission to operate from VU4 are available on the NIAR Web page at:

YASME PRESS RELEASE (Foundation Supports Young Contesters at WRTC-2006):
"Because radio contesting needs to attract and support youth, the YASME Foundation (http://www.yasme.org) announces a donation of $10,000 to WRTC-2006 (http://www.wrtc2006.com) in support of youth participation.
These funds will be used to help Young Contesters from around the world attend and participate in WRTC-2006, to be held in Florianopolis, Brazil, in July 2006. WRTC-2006 has dedicated three two-person team allocations to Young Contester teams. Additional Young Contesters may participate as part of multi-operator teams. We encourage young amateurs with a strong interest in contesting to make their applications for those positions by 20th January 2006. The qualifications and criteria for Young Contesters to apply to multi-operator teams will be announced shortly. While the multi-operator teams will operate at existing stations in Brazil, Young Contesters qualifying for the WRTC2006 competitor teams are expected to bring their own equipment..... 73, Ward, N0AX, YASME Foundation, Board of Directors"

XU, CAMBODIA. Just a reminder to look for Peter, NO2R, to be active as XU7ACY this coming weekend (January 7th). He returns to Sihanoukville again and plans to stay until January 21st. Activity will be mostly CW on 160/80/40 meters, with some SSB. QSL via K2NJ. His pilot station is W2EN.

Nope. No QRO and no HRO or DRO or PLO.

I've used commercial wideband high-power VHF amplifiers for testing in professional work. Smaller than shown in the

>But the 3cx10,000a7? Hardly amateurish. Probably more in the domain

Sounds rather ILLEGAL to me if "used on 80m" as claimed by the seller.

Not something that HRO or even Henry Radio would feature in catalogs ("call or write for details and prices"). Pro stuff, probably intended for something rather different than pure communications.

From the looks of the exhaust vent in the E-bay photo, I'd say that it should be about a 10-gallon RF output thing, quite out of the amateur legal limits. Besides, it doesn't have enough knobbies on it to "qualify" for an amateur radio transmitter on "the bands" (HF).

"Radio-Mart isn't doing anything different than the normal used gear seller... he just doesn't hide his practices as well. Millions of salespeople use these tactics all day long."

Nice justification. I'll be sure to ignore your advice in the future.

Radio-Mart is into buying radios on Ebay and then turning around and selling them on Ebay for a higher price and pocketing the difference.
It makes perfict sense to look for radios that are undervalued and then resell them. I and most other people have no problem with that. The problem is he does not tell the truth about where he got the radios and the condition of the radios. I don't understand why he is compelled to do tell stories about the radios he sells but it does not generally cross the line into outright fraud and treads around in a grey area so he will continue to be controversial topic in the news group. Going "private" will further take his sales into the grey area and apparently that and the story telling are risks he is willing to take. Buyer beware.

I have not contacted nor am I aware of anyone else who has contacted bidders about Radio Mart auctions. They may have read about him on Usenet, which would eliminate any reason to contact them.

I don't care one way or the other about Radio Mart but people that buy from him should be informed about the way he conducts his business.

Yeah, right! I've been ripped off by that bastard too(along with numerous others). Claimed the radio was near perfect, found it had been repainted (not discernable from poor photo) and it smoked after I got it out of the box. Lets not forget the Shill Bidding he does from his gottahaveit account!!!!!!! Don't try to defend him, he keeps getting the same negatives after all these years which shows us, he's still playing the same games with some defective gear and covering himself with the "Private Sales".

Jeff, this new year (2006) is NOT 1896...when radio was first demonstrated as a communications meadium.

This isn't 1906 either, a time when practically ALL radios, amateur or commercial, had to be "built from scratch."

Today, if you have the "scratch," you can CHOOSE to either build a radio from components (dozens of major parts vendors) or buy them ready-made, ready-to-use. If you look at "shack photos" in the ham publications from the last half century of issues, you will see MOST of them contain ready-built radio equipment.

In my career experience I've learned to not only DESIGN radio equipment of many types but have learned all the steps to fabricate them, test them in the lab, test them in the field. But, that's "hands-on engineering responsibility" and is NOT a requirement for an amateur radio license nor is it a requirement to use radios.
I can - and have - done just that..."building from scratch" but only because I WANTED to do so for myself.
Most of my radio-electronics equipment is ready-built, not because I "can't do it" (I can) but because it is much, much easier for me to do so.

Amateur radio is a HOBBY, not a union, craft, or guild.
Nowhere is there a die-hard "necessity" to retain ALL the "traditions" such as "building from scratch" as it had to be done a hundred years ago.

Now, if you want to "build from scratch" totally, you will have to learn to SUCK all the air out of the tubes you build for yourself (honoring the "tradition").
That's rather difficult (truly, vacuum sucks)...but much, much easier than first creating ultra-pure silicon and then doping the microscopic areas on it to become the solid-state device you need. [sorry you can't build "spark" transmitters...those being forbidden in these modern times unlike a hundred years ago]

Heh heh, I was born not too far from Galena, IL, where the vital "crystals" for the first crystal receiving sets were obtained. My first "radio" was a Philmore crystal set KIT with the galena crystal already mined and mounted in a piece of lead (circa 1946). :-)

>Whatever.

Try to remain one of the "higher class" of amateurs, Jeff, don't admonish everyone who doesn't share your opinions.

It's fine and dandy you are a rapid-fire morseman, thanks to the USCG. However, the USCG isn't amateur radio. Neither is the University of Hawaii where you "lecture" students at a community college. Morsemanship necessity for federal permission to operate amateur equipment below 30 MHz is on the way OUT. Try to accept that.

Don't try to teach your grandmother to suck eggs, either.

>No 73 for you,

...and none for you either. <shrug>

Good luck on your efforts to ENFORCE TRADITION and bringing back the home-built spark transmitter a la 1906...

Sincerely,

LenAnderson@ieee.org

NOMINATIONS FOR AARA/LEO I. MEYERSON, W0GFQ, AWARD FOR EXCELLENCE IN AMATEUR RADIO OPEN

Nominations are now being accepted for the AARA, 2006, Leo I. Meyerson, W0GFQ, Award for Excellence in Amateur Radio. Send your nominations and supporting materials to the Awards Committee, AARA, the American Amateur Radio Association, Box 440, Belgrade Lakes, Maine 04918, USA.

Leo Meyerson is a true radio pioneer. His World Radio Laboratories developed one of the first single side band rigs, and their Galaxy radios were the first to use transistors hybrid with tubes. Leo flew around the world on a SAC aircraft with Arthur Collins with his 500 Watt Globe King AM transmitter to test AM compared with Art's KWS-1 1000 Watt SSB transmitter. SSB proved itself, and the race was on. Leo developed new methods for manufacturing crystals during World War II which were adopted by all the crystal manufacturers and earning him the Army "E" Award. Leo gave away part of his company which then became Hy-Gain Electronics.

Leo is in the QCWA Hall of Fame and a Dayton Ham of the Year. Leo Installed Maine's QCWA Pine Tree Chapter, which he and Glenn Baxter, P.E., K1MAN, started together years ago. AARA and IARN are proud to offer this grand Award which honors Leo and his commitment to excellence in amateur radio.

Maybe it should go to Jim/N2EY for recognizing on Dec 10 that the FCC does not license amateur radio.

Heh. Yessss . . Reminds me of the time there was a flap in this NG about that Eimac bottle or one of it's close cousins being used to run 56kW in a Chevvy Suburban truck during CB "shootouts". I tossed the 56kW "mobile" station topic into the thread as post #150 and the thread went on to 899 posts before it finally died. The thread was "CW = Engineer ?" circa 1 Sept 98. It's still available.

Back when folk like Carroll, Hare, Tennehill and McCollum populated this NG and the average IQ hereabouts was 30 points higher than it is these days.

Sweetums was there too of course tossing out all sorts of his usual inane blather even back then . . like it wasn't possible to run 56kW in a Suburban because the coax and antenna would get toasted by all those amperes worth of RF.

Trust me, I don't bid on Radio-Mart (RM) gear. Long before I knew he was a crook, I saw a radio he had for sale that I wanted to bid. The private sales turned me off. My thought was what does this asshole have to hide? The private sales are the perfect way to do shilling.

Nothing illegal, so long as it's used within the rules. I have a couple of different amplifiers which could easily be driven beyond 1500W out, but are perfectly legal so long as the power output rule is observed.

No license, no original software CDs....hmmmmm......and somehow it's RT Systems fault? If you cannot produce a license or original CDs, it's your fault and if I were RT Systems, I would think you pirated the stuff and why they won't help you. Best to put originals in a safe place or fireproof vault. It's your fault, not RT Systems.

That's the crux of the whole thing, isn't it?

"Legality." :-)

>I have a couple of >different amplifiers which could easily be driven beyond 1500W out, but are >perfectly legal so long as the power output rule is observed.

...and just who checks your "legal status" in operating?

Oh, my, there's LOTS of different "technical" regulations in Part 97, Title 47 C.F.R., aren't there?

The same can be said of Citizens Band Radio Service. It was "okay" once and legal to have a linear amplifier connected to a CB transmitter provided one did not exceed the regulatory limits found in Part 95, Title 47 C.F.R. Uh huh... :-)

A company called General Radiotelephone once operated in Burbank, CA, on Magnolia Blvd a few blocks from Hollywood Way. They had - once - a cramped, busy assembly line operation going on the second floor of one building on the north side of Magnolia Blvd. Their major product was a CB transceiver which was ready to increase its power output from 5 to 35 Watts (by removing a jumper) "if and when the FCC allows a power output change." It SOLD in quantity with that "feature." The company planned to expand in the near future and had put up most of a triangle tower for their CB antenna...tower still visible half-erected on the roof today. Of course the FCC never did increase CB power output. The offshore import CB rigs arrived to undercut their prices and they went Chapter something and quit the business. [no, I didn't have one of those General Radiotelephone rigs, but they were in my vicinity and I was up on their second floor factory]

Now and for some years there has been a legal no-no on even being able to PURCHASE a linear amplifier in a certain frequency range...which could be used for a CB radio...or a 10m amateur radio. Can you connect the dots and see a trend for the future there?

If someone has a 10 KW linear that covers all of "the bands" (HF) then it is tempting both faith and human nature to say that a legally-licensed (certificated, tested, got their legal license in the nave of the Church of St.Hiram) amateur will ALWAYS OBEY THE RULES. The temptation is GREAT...just sitting there, ready to go, beside the operating position in the "shack."

Of course YOU will always be scrupulously honest. [was there any doubt?] Are all the other legal amateurs just as scrupulously honest?

Be honest now...

On a hot Saturday in the middle of June, a crowd of white supremacists gathered in a town near Tampa to celebrate the arrival of a new summer and the emergence of a would-be leader in their movement ý Kevin Alfred Strom.
With his thick black glasses and disheveled, graying hair, Strom resembled a middle-aged Harry Potter as his distinctive, nasal voice blared through a cheap PA system. He lectured those who'd come on the "real" reason the United States fought in both world wars ý to facilitate the building of a Zionist state at the expense of foolish "American cattle" who didn't understand that their government was selling them out to Jewish interests.

The event, the Summer Solstice Festival, marked a special moment in Strom's long and dreary career as a professional racist and anti-Semite. He was finally coming out of the shadows after decades of thankless labor in the musty back offices of the neo-Nazi movement.

Strom had long played a key but subservient role to William Pierce, founder of the National Alliance ý until recently the most important neo-Nazi group in the country ý and then to Erich Gliebe, who was anointed over Strom as Pierce's successor, even though it was Strom, not Gliebe, who had created the Alliance's well-known weekly radio show; Strom who convinced Pierce to venture into the white power music business; and Strom who edited the Alliance's flagship publication in his role as the group's in-house "intellectual."

Now, at long last, it was Strom's turn to shine, to be shown respect, to be treated like a leader.

Last spring, Strom and other disgruntled Alliance principals were summarily expelled from the Alliance after they tried but failed to overthrow or curtail the power of the Alliance's current leaders. Soon after he was ejected, Strom formed his own group, National Vanguard, lifting the name from the Alliance magazine he had edited for years. When Strom left the Alliance, hundreds of other members left with him, most of them at least temporarily joining National Vanguard (NV). The Alliance's old Tampa unit, now an NV chapter loyal to Strom, organized the Summer Solstice Festival.

At this early stage, things seem to be going Strom's way, although Strom did not respond to requests from the Intelligence Report for comment. In its first three months, NV set up 15 chapters, even as the Alliance's membership rolls continued to decline. Strom has received clear support from other movement leaders, including neo-Nazi David Duke and Don Black, operator of the infamous Stormfront hate site. NV units from Boston to Denver have rented billboards and bombarded Internet message boards with propaganda, winning both attention and publicity. Disillusioned and angry over Gliebe's perceived failures as a chairman, several Alliance unit coordinators have defected to NV with their entire chapters. High-profile former Alliance member April Gaede, whose young twin daughters are the fastest rising act in white power music, has also signed on with Strom. Performing white supremacist folk songs under the name Prussian Blue, Lynx and Lamb shared a stage with Strom at the Tampa gathering.

Considering the NV's rapid growth spurt, Strom's powerful alliances with leaders like the charismatic Duke, and his long-standing reputation within the movement as a thinking man's neo-Nazi, it seems possible, even likely, that Strom may soon pick up where his one-time mentor Pierce left off as one of the most influential leaders of the racist radical right.

High School Fascist

Born in 1956, Strom grew up near Washington, D.C. His childhood and adolescence were set against the historical backdrops of the civil rights movement and the Cold War. Strom was raised a devout Lutheran, according to his ex-wife, Kristen Kaiser. His nickname was "St. Kevin the Good."

Strom decided when he was a teenager that communism was evil and that anyone who hated communism was good. One of Strom's high school teachers, who happened to be an extreme right-winger, discovered Strom's political leanings and recruited him into the John Birch Society, Kaiser said. It was in that far-right organization that Strom reportedly was first introduced to the National Alliance by Birchers who also belonged to the Alliance.

Strom began attending the Alliance's weekly Sunday night meetings in Arlington, Va., soon after William Pierce began holding them in 1975. Pierce had a Ph.D. and burned with hatred for communists and also for Jews and blacks. Strom admired him and was quickly indoctrinated with conspiracy theories about evil agents of the Zionist Occupation Government slowly destroying America.

After graduating from high school, Strom paid the bills by working as a broadcasting engineer while he continued to labor for Pierce. When Pierce acquired and moved onto some rural property in West Virginia in 1985, Strom used his technological prowess to help set up the compound's telephone and alarm system.

Strom ascended to the role of right-hand man. According to Kaiser, his favored status within the Alliance was a source of great pride to Strom, who clearly looked up to the Alliance founder. Kaiser said that Strom was never close to his own father, a verbally abusive alcoholic who hanged himself when Strom was in his 20s. "I think Dr. Pierce became his father figure," Kaiser told the Intelligence Report.

Kaiser first met Strom in 1987. Pierce played matchmaker, introducing her to Strom even though she was married at the time to a man named Joseph McLaughlin. By 1988, her marriage to McLaughlin had disintegrated, and Strom helped her move out. Kaiser and Strom were married in 1990. Pierce conducted the ceremony.

That same year, when Nelson Mandela came to Washington in a highly publicized visit, Strom was arrested outside the South African Embassy for assaulting a police officer during a pro-apartheid rally. The officers who searched Strom found detailed sketches of Techworld, a downtown office building that happened to be adjacent to the Washington Convention Center, where Mandela was scheduled to speak.

Nothing ever came of the sketches. Pierce hired a lawyer for Strom and the assault charge was dropped.

In 1991, Strom and his wife moved into a home near the National Alliance compound in West Virginia and took their places in Pierce's court.

Veggies and Mozart

Strom was a strict vegetarian, Kaiser said, who never drank or used drugs. But he did have some Howard Hughes-like qualities. When he ate, he would only eat one food at a time and would never allow the different foods to touch each other or mix in any way, much like his philosophy on interracial dating. Strom was an extremely controlling husband, said Kaiser, who forced her to abstain from meat, forbade her to wear blue jeans, and predetermined her favorite music - Mozart.

There was no point in debating Strom on any issue, she said.

"If you disagreed with him, he'd literally keep you awake until you agreed with him," Kaiser said.

According to his ex-wife, Strom was a packrat who kept stacks and newspapers and magazines scattered throughout their home.

"You couldn't walk through his living room," Kaiser said.

For all his quirkiness, Strom proved invaluable to Pierce and the Alliance. Strom hatched the idea in 1991 to launch a weekly talk radio show called "American Dissident Voices." Strom produced and hosted the shows and negotiated with am stations across the country to air the program. In the pre-Internet early '90s, "American Dissident Voices" provided a major vehicle for the Alliance to spread its message and drum up support. Every week, thousands of white supremacists across the country - and later, via the Internet and shortwave, around the world - listened to Strom's diatribes on the evils of Jews and minorities.

The same year he got the show going, Strom ingratiated himself to Revilo Oliver, a classics professor at the University of Illinois who, like Pierce, was considered an intellectual heavyweight within the neo-Nazi movement.

One of the founding members of the John Birch Society, Oliver once wrote, "Aryans are a small and endangered minority on this planet, but how many members of our race seem to have even an inkling of that fact?"

Trouble in Paradise

Strom and Kaiser first met Oliver in March of 1991, when the couple paid homage to him in a visit to his home in Illinois. Strom took his first-born son to visit the aging racist again in 1993, and Oliver put Strom in charge of archiving his academic writings on race. Then in 1994, Oliver killed himself.

"Hitler shot himself, [neo-Nazi leader Ben] Klassen shot himself, and Oliver shot himself," Kaiser noted in an Aug. 10, 1994, entry in her diary, right after Strom told her Oliver was dead. "Kevin's father killed himself. It seemed to be the suicide rate was high amongst people Kevin admired."

Just prior to Oliver's suicide, Kaiser said, Strom had sunk into a depression that only deepened with the death of his hero. At first withdrawn, Strom eventually began openly voicing his growing displeasure with Pierce. He felt underappreciated and underpaid.

In his biography of Pierce, The Fame of a Dead Man's Deeds, University of Vermont professor and white nationalist sympathizer Robert Griffin wrote that Strom often appeared to have "worked more under Pierce than alongside him, and never really with Pierce in a truly bonded way."

"From what I have picked up from Pierce," Griffin wrote, "his relationship with Strom was more akin to that of like-minded colleagues than fused brothers. "

For her part, Kaiser found Pierce arrogant and condescending. Still, despite their growing bitterness, the couple continued until 1995 living on Pierce's West Virginia compound, where they'd moved after a period living in a nearby town. Strom first started talking openly about leaving several weeks before the Oklahoma City bombing in April 1995, Kaiser said.

The day after the bombing, Strom was really worked up, she recalls. He made her help him take several boxes of papers and tapes to Stanton, Va., where they threw away the materials at various Dumpsters at different retail stores in the town.

Not long after the bombing, Strom told Pierce that he wanted to leave the compound. Pierce, needless to say, was displeased.

Strom and Kaiser relocated to Rochester, Minn., in November 1995. Strom chose the city because its population was 95% white. Kaiser found that once she was off the compound and was no longer forbidden to read newspapers or watch television, she began having doubts about the white supremacist movement as well as her marriage to Strom.

In 1997, Kaiser, who had begun work as a real estate agent, was fired from her job on her birthday, when her employer found out "just who and what Kevin Strom is," according to one of her diary entries. His letter to the editor of a local newspaper had been published that day.

That same year, the second of the Stroms' three children was diagnosed with autism - a genetic weakling, according to the neo-Nazi code. Strom blamed Kaiser for their son's disorder and left her, taking their first son and the baby born in 1996 with him. He also stopped working for Pierce, claiming the Alliance founder owed him money. Strom was initially granted custody of his children, moved to Texas and began home schooling them. But Kaiser eventually won full custody.

Return to West Virginia
During his years away from West Virginia, Strom's only visible connection to the movement came through his personal Web site and his frequent postings on various Usenet groups. Strom used his Web site in this period to promote Oliver's essays by posting them for the masses to read. He also displayed some of his more controversial interests in a section of the site labeled "feminine beauty," where Strom posted pictures of attractive white teenage girls, many in bikinis. Heavily favored were photos of a fresh-faced Brooke Shields astride horses.

"The beauty of the women and girls of our race has inspired our greatest poets, artists, and writers throughout history," Strom wrote. "It should also inspire our senses of chivalry and of honor, for if anything is sacred, our girls and women are, and they must be protected from the degradation and degeneracy that is inherent in multiracialism. Girls and women of all ages will be presented here from time to time." Strom solicited the site's visitors to offer their own soft-core submissions.

Three years after Strom's marriage failed, Pierce welcomed his prodigal lackey back to the West Virginia compound.

Soon enough, Strom remarried, though his taste in women, or at least the women Pierce approved for him, had apparently changed. Where Kirsten Kaiser was meek, docile and obedient, Elisha is outspoken, assertive and combative. She is the closest thing to a feminist that exists within the white power movement. Unlike Kaiser, whose wardrobe was dictated by Strom, she wears whatever she wants, including tight jeans. She long ran her own Web site, "A Woman's Voice." Soon after Strom's remarriage, the pin-up shots of young girls on his Web site were removed and replaced with pictures of ancient sculptures.

With his new wife at his side, Strom pushed the Alliance to delve into new areas. Pierce soon approached Todd Blodgett, a Washington consultant who controlled shares of the white power record label Resistance Records, and offered to buy him out. Blodgett, who agreed to sell and also to broker shares held by others, now says that it was clear from his discussions with Pierce that the idea of getting into the white power music business originated with Strom, who saw a ripe moneymaking opportunity for the Alliance as well as a way to reach out to the next generation of racists.

The Alliance's investment in Resistance Records turned out well, at least initially. Resistance soon became a quite profitable and, as a result, the future of America's leading neo-Nazi organization had never seemed brighter. But it quickly darkened with Pierce's unexpected death in July 2002. With their famed founder gone, the Alliance's principals passed the torch to Erich Gliebe, a former boxer who had fought as "The Aryan Barbarian." Kevin Strom, despite his important ideas and his years in the trenches of the neo-Nazi movement, had been bypassed.

The Dalliance Ends

In the initial days after Gliebe took over, Blodgett said Gliebe and Strom seemingly got along. Although they were far from friends, Gliebe was smart enough to know that he needed Strom's help in leading the Alliance.

That's not to say that Strom's initial agreement to help Gliebe with the Alliance was based strictly on loyalty. Blodgett believes that part of Strom's motivation owed to a promise he said Gliebe made to the Alliance's board of directors that if they didn't have confidence in him after his first year, he would step down. That would have opened up the position for Strom to step in.

But despite his alleged promise and the board's rapidly deteriorating faith in his leadership abilities, Gliebe refused to step down. His egotism and financial mismanagement drove away dues-paying Alliance members in legions.

As prominent members such as David Pringle resigned and criticism mounted against Gliebe, Strom remained strangely quiet. The only hint of any disapproval prior to his coup attempt came in the form of a message he posted to Stormfront in 2004. Responding to a series of attacks on Gliebe, Strom replied: "The concerns that prompted this affair are most certainly not 'BS' ý and they cannot be refuted. Efforts are being made by responsible parties to set things right."

As time moved on, Gliebe also began demonstrating contempt for Strom. Shaun Walker, the group's chief operating officer and a man deeply loyal to Gliebe, was given the green light to dock Strom $1,000 for being late with getting out the National Vanguard magazine in 2004.

Then came the coup attempt. In April 2005, Strom launched a petition drive among Alliance members demanding that Gliebe step down. Gliebe and Walker immediately cast him out. The Gliebe-Strom era was over.

New Vanguard?

Ironically, just days after Strom was expelled, Gliebe stepped down from his chairman position and appointed Walker in his place. By that time, Strom was well on his way to launching National Vanguard. In a crafty move, two days before he was fired, Strom had legally transferred ownership of the Alliance's Web site, www.nationalvanguard.org, to Elisha Strom's publishing company. He immediately began luring Alliance defectors.

Strom isn't the only expelled Alliance member to start his own group. Former Alliance official Billy Roper launched White Revolution. But Roper's outfit has nowhere near matched the burgeoning popularity of National Vanguard.

Blodgett gives Strom roughly even odds for long-term success. "I don't know what [Strom's] chances are to succeed," he said. "He's not as personable [as Gliebe]." But still, Blodgett allowed, "I think if there's anybody in the movement who could make a go of it, he could do it."

Strom, the only member of Pierce's inner circle who was considered close to Pierce in intellectual ability, shares Pierce's ability to impress followers with sheer bombastic intellectualism. But unlike Pierce, the author of the highly influential Turner Diaries, Strom may have trouble earning the admiration of the white racialist movement's more hard-core, radical elements. Some have criticized Strom for being too effeminate and yielding to his strong-willed wife. His detractors have nicknamed him "weenie."

In contrast to Pierce, who more or less openly called for the extermination of Jews, Strom seems to be at least superficially taking a less militant approach with National Vanguard. When a church in Virginia was torched in July after it endorsed gay marriage, Strom wrote an e-mail to a newspaper condemning the attack: "The arson ... hurt the cause of those who, like National Vanguard, believe that we should lawfully, intelligently, and responsibly advocate a return to healthy values."

It's not clear whether this approach will prove to be an effective strategy for Strom and National Vanguard in the long run. Strom's emergence as a leader is certainly partly due to the disarray that is afflicting the neo-Nazi movement in general, and the National Alliance in particular. A measure of how tenuous Strom's hold on power may be is clearly visible at the new National Vanguard Web site. At the very top of Strom's site, spotlighted in a way that might befit a Caesar or a Stalin, is a portrait of Alliance founder William Luther Pierce. At least for the moment, Strom's legitimacy still rests on the reputations of other men.

A single dot does not constitute a trend.

And the "legal no-no" (&#65533;97.315, &#65533;97.317) does not apply to homebrewed amplifiers, which the item in question appears to be. Amateur-to-amateur sales are also exempt.

Hey, BITCH, only me and Ray Chason, Jr. KB3HWB get to dream of * Roger's dick. Got it? K?

Roger doesn't want to meet you, he wants to "meat" you. To get on Roger's good side, which is his backside, you must first take him out to dinner to ply him with food and romance.
Don't take Roger to a smorgasbord, however. Most smorgasbord tables and salad bars are far too elevated for him to reach without his platform shoes, and even with his Tom McCann "lifts" he has to grab the edge of the table with both hands to hoist himself up high enough so his thick bifocals will focus on the olives.
Roger can see what is being offered by standing on a chair, but he still has to stand on his little tipsy-toes to reach the edge of the salad bar and that embarrasses him in front of the customers who are of normal height.
The last time he was at a smorgasbord the waitress asked Roger's date, "Can I get your little boy a high chair?"

And after dinner? Don't take little Roger to a singles bar for drinks. Many singles bars do not offer kiddie chairs so that leaves Roger standing amongst the towering crowd. Roger kind of likes this aspect because it puts him in direct eye contact with the single guys' zippers. He is easy to lose in such a crowd but can be easily found by looking around for the single guys who recoil in shock when Roger leaves his business card and phone number on their zipper pulls.

And for Chrissakes don't let Roger drive, either! Not unless he has his kiddie seat in place, otherwise he can't see over the steering wheel.

And last, but far from the least, do NOT let Roger talk you into stopping off at the Shipwreck Lounge for "one last drink". See those "girls" in the Shipwreck? Well, they ain't "girls" even though they dress like it. And see those guys in their black leather pants? They ain't guys, either.
If Roger takes you to the Shipwreck, run, don't walk, to the nearest exit, call a cab, and go home!
Don't worry, Roger won't chase after you. He will be too occupied with the Lavender Lads to even notice your absence.

Roger will forget all about you after he puts some money in the juke box and plays his disco mantra, "Its Raining Men".

Didn't the FCC change that in the last year or two? Since it didn't successfully keep the amplifiers off the CB band anyway, I believe they dropped that restriction.

Since I have to head off to work shortly, I don't have time to look it up now but I do remember reading something on that.

It's so easy to look up facts nowadays, I'm surprised that you were unable to find this: "A 17-year-old named Haddaway had built his entire station from absolute scratch, including the making of his own vacuum tubes...." QST February 1921.

See? Fact, not an opinion attempted to be passed as a fact. You should try that sometime. But then that would be impossible for you, for you'd have to list references.

Jeffie, if it's all the same to you (and it won't be),
I'll just "see" some professional documents from RCA, GE,
Raytheon, Westinghouse, etc., on "constructing" tubes.
They've had a few years of experience in that, wouldn't you say? I'd have to travel a few thousand miles away to get most of that info and there's little return-on-investment of my time to do that in order to satisfy a league Believer. Not this week for me.

Frank Gilliland thoughtfully provided a link to an EXPERIMENTER'S website on the "constructing" of tubes.

Further, having been in correspondence with G0UPL in the UK, I have some further links (and some interesting downloads) on making one's own glow-discharge numeric indicator ("Nixie" tm of Burroughs Corp.) displays.

All that might be academically intersting to leaf through to some...who will probably never ever pull a good vacuum for any purpose (other than getting a vacuous response in newsgroupie-ism).

I really DON'T think it is interesting to me to know all about "constructing vacuum tubes" as given by some amateur radio membership organization publication.
Tubes (vacuum tubes, that is) can still be purchased where needed for replacement purposes. The cost is 5 to 20 times what it once was (depending on demand), but then there's not much of a demand for those things.

"Constructing" a vacuum tube innards is relatively easy. The truly difficult part is pulling a good vacuum on the bulb and getting rid of extraneous gasses within. Now, I've had some slight experience on "pulling a good vacuum" for testing purposes and that requires considerable work and expensive equipment. [Torricelli would be amazed at the processes used over a half-century ago in production vacuum tube work]

Better yet, Jeffie, why don't you get REALLY "build-from-scratch" and go mine natural quartz in Brazil, then bring it home to the islands and slice it up to the right crystal angle, grind it down to the right thickness, measure it to better than 10 PPM in frequency, mount it in your own holder, and use it for your super-spay-shull build-it-yourself super-duper QRP transmitter for use in the year 2006?

Gosh, I think re-visiting the 1920s in amateur radio is such great fun in building-it-oneself, don't you? :-)

I'll bet you even have a forge and an anvil so that you can make horseshoes for your land transport. Real do-it-yourself projects with a practical side!

Have you slaughtered and skinned animals, cured the hides, sewn the leather pieces together to make a saddle for that land transport? Does the ARRL have a publication covering that? Why not? The Army Signal Corps designed and had Motorola make a "horse mobile" two-way HF radio in 1943. It was called "the pogo stick." Of course the mounted cavalry was disbanded before production was finished, but that's another story entirely.

Start preparing for your regular work. Classes begin on 9 Jan 06, don't they?

Thank you ever so much and buy, buy,

LenAnderson@ieee.org

did you check the date?

are you aware of the current date?

can you in fact read what lens writes?

you tnagental responses are looking like stevie of number of years back, things have not turned out wel for him

He never said someone could not make a vacum tube, indeed I suspect that some my own gear could the job fair well with some adaption (a vacuam system able to do metal dosipiting on telscope mirror should be ale to manage it)

IARN/AARA/K1MAN OPERATIONS FOR 2006 AND BEYOND

INTERNATIONAL AMATEUR RADIO NETWORK (IARN)
EMERGENCY NCS INFORMATION I-VANS STILL NEEDED IN SEVERAL AREAS - ACT TODAY!

IARN, the International Amateur Radio Network, is now a;so activating in Mode 3 for Hurricane Beta. Traffic is being accepted at IARNtraffic@aol.com. Please advise IARN with regard to your amateur radio emergency traffic operations at 207 495 2215.
IARN is sponsored by AARA, the American Amateur Radio Association. JoinToday.

OFFICIAL IARN OPERATING FREQUENCIES:

During a world wide communications emergency, I A R N may use SSB on 14.275 MHz. as a primary control and logistics frequency; 14.127 MHz. LSB (Sel call KMAN) for AMTOR traffic; and 14.272 MHz. as a secondary SSB frequency, all three for emergency and some health and welfare traffic. Most health and welfare traffic should normally be routed by E-Mail to:

IARNtraffic@aol.com

Please use the IARN message format as detailed below.

IARN EMERGENCY ACTIVATION MODES:

IARN emergency activations are classified in five different modes:

Mode 1 Full activation, continuous on air traffic/bulletins, continuous NCS duty/bulletins.

Mode 2 Semi activation, intermittent on air traffic, continuous NCS duty.

Mode 3 Full alert, continuous monitoring. Fully activated for receiving health and welfare traffic at IARNtraffic@aol.com. (Check 14.265 and 14.300 if 14.275 and 14.272 are not activated.)

Mode 4 Semi alert, general monitoring only.

Mode 5 No activation.

IARN INFORMATION BULLETINS:

I A R N operates all information bulletins on 14.275 MHz., 3.975 MHz., and 3.890 MHz., all plus or minus QRM, 16 or less, or 24 hours per day where necessary, for the most efficient dissemination of information of direct interest to the Radio Amateur. Check www.K1MAN.com for the latest published transmitting schedules (if any). On air information bulletins might not be scheduled at all during emergency activation periods.

OFFICIAL IARN MESSAGE FORMAT:

Please use the IARN message format suggested below. You will then receive an E-Mail response with an alpha-numeric traffic designator (or official IARN traffic "number.") Use this IARN traffic designator (added to line 2 of the IARN message format) to speed up references this message or request at all times and to help to drastically increase IARN message handling efficiency. Try to use IARN and ARRL traffic message codes (listed below) where possible.

Date time group: (added by IARN)

I-VAN..........International Amateur Radio Network
low Cost Amateur Radio Emergency Communications Van

The International Amateur Radio Network Peace Corps Foundation is a 501(c)(3) non profit tax exempt public service organization organized by the American Amateur Radio Association, AARA. For help in financing your new I-VAN, contact us at 207 495 2215 today or write to IARN, Box 440, Belgrade Lakes, Maine 04918.

You and a friend, or you and your local radio club or church, or just you, can purchase a small and low cost second hand van. Build a double decker rack to sleep two and a small radio table for an HF SSB transceiver (minimum) and AMTOR (preferred) setup. A small porta-potty (available at Wal-Mart in the sporting goods section) and a small portable 110 volt AC/12 volt DC generator plus one or more storage batteries and your I-VAN is almost ready. Add a DC cooler for food, water, etc., sleeping bags, and some cooking items, etc. and you are now fully ready for emergency deployment. Remember spare gas and oil for the generator. You are a ham! Use your imagination and ingenuity.

Head toward a hurricane/disaster zone. At some point you will meet cars heading out as they evacuate. Many will have cel phones and many of those will be non functional or overloaded because of the very real communications emergency that you are there to assist with. Now you park in some public place and solicit OUTGOING TRAFFIC from anybody who is in need.

The messages are best sent out on 20 meters during a communications emergency, or back to IARN headquarters or to your home base by AMTOR (preferred), SSB voice, or even CW for handling by ordinary hard line telephones.

During non emergency times, set up in a public place and offer to send Valentine, Christmas, or whatever messages the same way. This is great public exposure and good PR for amateur radio.

If you affiliate with IARN through a free International Amateur Radio Club Charter, you can use IARN's tax exempt status to get local merchants to donate, tax deductible, to finance the purchase of your low cost I-VAN (with their logos on the side). This is a very simple project; keep it that way!

Call IARN today for more information about IARN's ongoing I-VAN program at 207 495 2215.

it does include changing the amplifier rules but it hasn't been implemented.

IIRC, those rules date back to 1978.

They're a result of widespread use of external "linear" amplifiers by cb and freeband users.

FCC thought that outlawing the manufacture and sale of such amplifiers would decrease their use, which is completely illegal. Of course no such effect occurred, and the manufacture, sale and use of such amplifiers by cb
and freeband users continues even today.

The only real effect those rules have is on amateurs, who could no longer buy amplifiers capable of operation on 10 and 12 meters unless modified, and who could no longer buy amplifiers suitable for use with HF QRP rigs at all. The rules also affect kits, leaving homebrew as the only option.

Amateurs were punished for what nonamateurs did.

One manufacturer found a way to produce a legal QRP-to-100W HF amplifier, however. The amplifer is designed so that it can only work with the rig for which it is designed, because it needs control information from the main rig's microprocessor control system. The controlling rig is designed so that it will not transmit outside the amateur bands above 25 MHz, and that feature is not defeatable by anything other than a rewrite of the firmware.

So both the rig and its amplifier (which is meant to be mounted inside the rig) are useless for cb and freeband use. FCC has accepted the design.

Yes, the reason and date are correct. There's an extensive discussion of the docket on the ARRL website.

Because the current rules have not stopped the illegal CB use, the FCC proposed to eliminate these restrictions but has not yet acted to do so. The use of these amplifiers is already prohibited by the CB regulations and the additional regulation had no impact since there was no significant level of enforcement.

Reminds me of a state that hired a consultant to evaluate what new laws were needed to reduce the number and severity of car/bicycle accidents. His conclusion was that the state needed to enforce the laws already on the books and that no new laws were needed.

the only p"problem" with your line of reasoning in this matter is that it is in fact logical, and that the Govt is involved to end the reg today would be an addistion in some eyes that the FCC made a mistakes in writing them and no crat wants to admit a mistake makking a mistake himself some day the same reason keep in place the silly about rnage of conatct (being 100 or 150 miles I don't recall) on a band that can support long range with breaking the other rules even I have borke that by accientedt near the last peak thinking i was tlaking to someone around springfeild (without checking it was ILLinois) til is became clear iit wasn't) thus breaking the rule

116. Mobile installation in Honda SUV / CRV

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.misc
Date: 2006-01-04 21:17:44 UTC
From: Brian Reay <see@website.invalid>
Message-ID: <YXWuf.46086$Dg6.657@newsfe3-gui.ntli.net>

Anyone done a mobile installation in a Honda SUV or, as it is in the UK, CRV, and can offer some tips?

I'm thinking of mounting the body of the radio under the driver's seat and the front panel under the normal Broadcast radio. Anyone have any alternate ideas / place?

For the antenna mount, I'm thinking of having the roof bars and bolting to that OR making a special bracket that bolts to the roof bar mounting point.

What about power cable routing?

All YOU know, Brainie, is that you try to lie and deceive in this forum and I won't let you get away with it. Real "issues" are not discussed nor "debated" in this "forum". With the lies and innuendo bestowed by you and your bretheren, it's nye-on impossible.

Oh no, Markie, I have >>NO<< illusions about having any "sqeaky appearance" in RRAP.

Indeed, when one wrestles with pigs, one must expect to get some pig#### on himself.

Thankfully I have a gas water heater and shower frequently.

Just how high is that horse of yours?

I am neither a dealer or a hamfest tire kicker. I am a collector of sorts. And as a result, I was suckered in by an older Yeasu FT-401 transceiver, "Mint, Restored. I have gone thru this rig and replaced all tubes that needed to replaced, and fitted a new T/R relay."

What I got was a filthy rig in better than average condition, but not mint. The CW filter is non-functioning, the finals were flat(his "new "tubes gave me 10w out on 80m), and the T/R relay is original, not a NOS replacement as he claimed. A bad solder joint in the mixer stage rendered it inoperable until I corrected it.

If you don't think Martin threatens negative feedback, look at his recent feedback to see how many negatives are posted as neutral, or even positve feedbacks. I'm on his "blocked bidders list" because I posted my complaints as negatives, and I can live with that. Ebay would be a safer place if everyone posted negatives that were deserved.

Roger sits in his little temple he has made with his pictures of himeself giving the full hillbilly treatment to every wino up and down the Ohio.Its like an list of important and not so important visitors. Then he has some pictures with his long hair and dressed up as this ugly shemale.

Not to mention full video of his antics as well.
Poor poor Roger his wife left him and Marie died probably from the stress of putting with her mentally challenged son.

Roger, did your illiterate mommy teach you to speak of yourself in the third person. I bet that is why you are so dysfunctional. You are so much fun to slap around because you are so ignorant. But that is West Virginia.

Top posting again, I see.

Getting lazy with all that alcohol you're consuming lately, no doubt.

My "point" is that you, Toiddie and Lennie are all products of the public education system of Illinois. That having been said, I am eternally glad that MY kids AREN'T.

I love hearing about that sort of thing. I recall an article reprinted from a later era describing how an old-timer used to build his own passive components. I actually built my own variable resistor from a test tube full of water and some copper wire from the instructions.

Hearing that people would roll (literally) their own capacitors from various conductors and dialectrics really impressed me.

If the argument is that it's easier to buy a ready-to-use rig, so be it. If the argument is that this has made do-it-yourself somehow obsolete or less valuable, I have to disagree.

QRP still has a lot of that same hobbyist appeal, even now that we have cheap, standard parts to work from, and a pile of modern tools to leverage them. To me, this only suggests that clever operators can design and build even more elegant solutions to the problem of sending an intelligible signal through the air. Doing more with less appeals to my hacker nature (I'm a software developer by trade).

I understand this sort of thing has limited appeal for some people, however. As people are fond of saying, there as many ways to enjoy the hobby as there are hobbyists. Heck, even I'm a little afraid of the high-voltage valve guys! This doesn't mean I don't think what they are doing is valuable or interesting.

Now, I _really_ need to work on getting my Basic Qualification so I can participate in some meaningful manner.

At least he sits in his own house, while you still live in a section 8 HUD low income apartment in the ghetto, cockgobbler. Poor Billy comes from a broken home and has drug addicted and alcoholic parents, his brother is a convicted felon, and his sister gives blacks blowjobs down at the truck stops.

K1MAN EDITORIAL - ED060106A - AN EDICT TO ALL WHO OPPOSE
K1MAN/IARN/AARA

>From your one true leader at www.K1MAN.com

AARA, IARN, and K1MAN 2006 AGENDA

1. Get ND8V off the air.

2. Get a court decision on scheduled K1MAN and W1AW amateur information bulletins.

3. Get Riley Hollingsworth out of the FCC and over to ARRL (as a W1AW paid control operator) where he really belongs.)

4. Get ARRL criminally prosecuted for deleting the Goldwater Law from their FCC Rule Book in 1990.

5. Ignore K3VR (poor little Brian).

Well it's 2006 and we have a busy slate this year here at AARA and IARN
Headquarters. Let's talk about this agenda in more detail:

1. Get ND8V off the air.

We hoped that ND8V would reform in 2005 but, as Dan says, you can't fix stupid! Mike thinks that the Goldewater Law (making intentional radio interference a felony - 2 years in federal prison and/or $10,000 file PER OCCURRENCE) has been repealed. How do you spell moron? Like this: M O R O N! Hey Mike, Jack Gerritson was just convicted under the Goldwater Law and faces 15 years in jail! There are enough Felony Complaint Affidavits on file with the Justice Department (NOT THE FCC!!!!!) against ND8V to put him in Leavenworth for the balance of his life (Mike is age 50).

Now we are going to promote as many FCAs against ND8V as posible. Our goal is 500 by December 31, 2006. To get a blank FCA form, send an SASE to K1MAN, Box 440, Belgrade Lakes, Maine 04918. When you hear ND8V intentionally interfering with another station as he does daily, fill out the official one page FCA form, have it notarized, and send it to: Justice Department, Washington, D.C. Fat Mikey is going down, just like Garretson! Isn't it great to live in America?

2. Get a court decision on scheduled K1MAN and W1AW amateur information bulletins.

As WB2OTK and K4NBC have observed, "If W1AW can schedule amateur information bulletins, K1MAN can as well." As Thomas Jefferson would have agreed, "This is self evident." But apparently not the "brain dead" FCC. Actually, not the whole FCC, just Riley Hollingsworth, who was sick on the day ther taught law at law school.

3. Get Riley Hollingsworth out of the FCC and over to ARRL (as a W1AW paid control operator) where he really belongs.

Actually, Hollingsworth will also be doing some serious jail time since he has encouraged numerous radio amateurs to "talk over" the K1MAN Bulletin Service, a clear criminal violation of the Goldwater Law.

4. Get ARRL criminally prosecuted for deleting the Goldwater Law from their FCC Rule Book in 1990.

This is a no brainer. The effect of deleting the Goldwater Law from the ARRL FCC Rule book has been to encourage hams to "talk over" the K1MAN bulletins; that's why such is a felony.

Hi all,

I need a couple of accessories to enable me to make some phase measurements with my HP network analyzer. I'd thought I could pick these up on ebay easily enough, but note the lack of availably with surprise and dismay.
I need to therefore contrive two precision parts:

Firstly, 50 ohm load that's essentially non-reactive up to 1.3Ghz.
Power handling only need be a few tens of miliwatts. N-type connection.

Secondly, a 50 ohm power splitter (one feed-in; three outputs) N-type connections, again flat up to 1.3Ghz. No switching needed, thankfully.

If I can't source these parts elsewhere, how feasible is it to make them up and can anyone point me to any designs on the web that might fit the bill?

I'm aware that the introduction of any stray reactances into the devices will render all subsequent measurements invalid so I need to get these parts right. At least 1.3Ghz capability should be achievable for a hobbyist with care.

Thanks,
P.

Hi Paul,

Take a look at Mini-circuits (www.mini-circuits.com). They seem to stock

You can make a pretty good 50 Ohm termination with a PCB-mounting SMA connector. Cut off the centre pin of the PCB-end of the connector leaving 0.5mm or less protruding (careful of your eyes, the pin can go shooting off pretty fast, it's hard metal), and then solder two 0.1% 100 Ohm 0603 resistors between the centre pin and the outer (ground) part of the connector. The resistors should be diametrically opposite.

I made one with 1% resistors and got the following:
s11 < -30dB up to 6GHx and s11 < -47dB up to 500MHz

It helps to tweak how flat you lie the resistors on the teflon at the back of the connector, but without a working VNA you just have to accept what you get.

If you want a termination with a N connector, then you could use a really good adapter with the SMA termination I mentioned above, or work out something similar with a N connector however I have never tried that since I mostly use SMA anyway.

I think a very accurate / flat power divider would be fairly hard to make well unless you can get boards made with microwave substrates. If you can work out your measurement setup such that the flatness etc of the divider is not so important, then that would help.

There's a guy in the UK selling a one input two output type power divider with N connectors and a 50 Ohm N termination on e-bay at the moment if that helps you.

Chris

Roger is it true that you have a cold chamber for Marie so you can keep her cold enough not to stink. That way you can thaw her out every once in a while so she can sleep in the same bed as you. That way you have some more of that West Virginia hillbilly lovin. White trash boy.

oohhh...you gonna make Curtains Boy mad.

Pussy Boy hates to be made fun of. Roger stands five foot five in his stocking feet and can barely see over the condiment table at the local smorgasboard.
See that salad bar? See those black olives? Grab one of those plastic spoons and smack that nasty nose that is stuck in the Spinach. Hit the nose hard!
What you will next see is Woger recoiling in pain as he withdraws his snot laden nose from the lettuce.
Roger dislikes smorgasbords because, quite simply, he is not tall enough to see what is on the table.
The Little Munchkin takes offense when the Wait Person offers him a kiddie seat.
Roger is fifty years old...but still five foot five...and fat.

Roger haunts, and prefers, The Shipwreck Lounge.

,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,

Wrong, Lloyd. I've never been to the Shipwreck Lounge, Fat Boy. I no longer suck cocks, either. I used to , but when I moved back home with Marie I had to stop.
When Mommie died she made me promise that I would not stick so much as a single dick in my mouth and I have kept my promise..with one exception. I did suck Lloyd off one afternoon, but he gave me a pizza in exchange.
It was worth it, too; Lloyd got sucked off and I got a whole plate full of mushrooms and sausage.
Those were the days. Now when I see a pizza I think of Lloyd's penis covered in mozzeralla cheese with a mushroom on top.
I can't help but salivating...mmmmm! Mushrooms and Dick! It is a glorious combination.

Layers of laws, but no enforcement. Why is it that I could walk into

The (thumping great) service manual that came with this VNA gives various levels of tests that can be performed oneself prior sending the thing away for calibration. The power splitter together with a few other basic items enables the analyzer to 'check itself' for fundamental operating fitness.
I'm eager to get measurin' stuff, but need to establish some basic, satisfactory level of accuracy first. Being just a hobbyist, I don't require any absolute standard, thankfully!!

only talking about power splitters after all, not broadband filters.
So why the low frequency cut-off? Are there some capacitantances utilized in these designs and if so, what are they doing there?

It's probably a lumped element Wilkinson power divider design and they work at a specific frequency range the optimum Z match is where the 1/4 wavelength is set.

If all you need is a resistive power divider, the frequency limits should be generous. If you want efficient power dividers (with little loss in the splitter itself) you use wideband transformers to get the power split.

Exactly.

I'll use factory-built gear, but I take comfort in knowing that if I am looking for a way to substitute a wireless headset for a Maxon ca-1481 headset.

I am a dispatcher for a taxi company. Because people are clumsy and because these headsets are not that tough we seem to go through quite a few of them. The headsets seem cheap enough but since I work nights there is never a spare around or anyone to get me one when it goes bad.
I recently aquired a bluetooth headset for my cell phone and it got me to thinking that there should be a simple wireless solution to this.
We have a mounting box with the electronics and push to talk mounted to the desk that I work at.
The connections are 2.5mm and 3.5m just like the headset. All I need is a way to connect a wireless system that is continuously transmitting like a cordless office phone or bluetooth headset.
I have considered running all audio through my laptop/bluetooth adapter in conjunction with the my bluetooth headset. But I think there should be a simpler way.
Any thoughts? Anyone?
Danny

they never came with antennas that i know of, you had to build them yourself. the plans for the asu including circuit board and parts list are in the manual, they are simple things that you should be able to find at any radio parts store... assuming you can find one of those today.

Without knowing which devices you're referring to, I would still guess that they are based on broadband transformers. "Broadband" does not mean DC to daylight. And yes, there might be some compensation caps involved too.

If you want better bandwidth, including DC, and loss is not a concern, then fully resistive dividers are what you want. An example of a two-port is here:

These are ferrite transformer hybrid splitters with fractional dB insertion loss beyond the 3dB split and typically 30dB isolation between output ports. If you want a DC splitter then they have those too- but you're not swift enough to see them. They are simply this. What do you think the loss and isolation is now?:

Yes.
I had one, my only reason for getting rid of it was the complexity of programming it.
I went to a standard 2m handheld.

Well it also depends on what you require as an individual, I am just about to purchase the Yaesu ft60, it is reasonable price, good rx extra coverage and the main plus for me is that it used AA batteries so I can buy a seperate case and use all my rechargable batteries, thus giving lot,s of cheap capacity as the spare lithium packs cost a fortune.

They did come with the needed switching diodes which were a weak point in the design and there was later a suggested replacement.

I've got one - defective - I think I popped the switching diodes by accidentally transmitting thru it. I know I've got the dox 'somewhere' - just gotta dig 'em out.

From memory, the four pin cable from the main unit sends a rotating DC bias to each of the switching diodes in the box. There's a diode at the antenna base too, by design. I haven't opened the box yet, but the diode at the antenna base is ITT BA 282 Cathode (bar) to coax shield.

If/when I find the dox, I'll get back to you. Let me know how you progress.

Damn, you, bertie and gopher face n8wgm can have a party at the Shipwreck, maybe you can invite Sgt. Randy YMCA of the Glen Dale PD, he's a big queer. He probably enjoys having Chief pig vomit give him the reach around.

They sure seem to be :
http://members.aol.com/homingin/DSEfix.html
The ones in the box switch one of the antennas at a time to the RDF, and the ones at the base of the antennas groung the out-of-use antennas.

Thanks Al, but i'm not too good at working out stuff like that, if it's all laid out in kit form i'm ok. and i thought that seeing these things are reasonably critical (antenna units) that if i tried another design i may be waisting my time and parts on something that isn't suited. Thanks for your input.

Track down an old Yaesu FT-51R. Compact enough to be small, yet big enough so you don't need a toothpick to push the buttons. Keypad is intuitive and easy to learn. Plenty of memory, tones, power levels, and the like. Rugged -- I ran over mine twice with my truck, it was buried in mud by Katrina, and it has been generally abused all its life, yet, it keeps on ticking.

It is a sad thing to watch, but it is also time that Mark be stopped. The first order of business is to write complaints to his satellite provider, and several of us have already done that.

From the Direcway web page: "If you suspect that the DIRECWAY service is being abused through illegal means or in violation of Internet ethics, please let us know at abuse@direcway.com. For a detailed look at what is acceptable use of the DIRECWAY service, please read our Subscriber Agreement."

In particular, readers should note the DIRECWAY provision which says in part that a customer is not allowed "... g) to bombard individuals or newsgroups with uninvited communications, data or information, or other similar activities, including but not limited to "spamming", "flaming" or denial or distributed denial of service attacks; "

Mark is in clear violation of the preceding provision, and if enough of us write to abuse@direcway.com, we should be able to put a stop to his nonsense. Once DIRECWAY receives enough email, they should be convinced that Mark is annoying too many people to be ignored.

After that, rrap may finally return to normal.

(Sorry, Mark, but you've been asking for it.)

There were several modes to the unit , as it was the filter in it was very bad.

APRSPoint 2.2 is released. New features include,

1. Added TNC data view and TNC data log,
2. Enabled auto connect for AGW packet engine,
3. Fixed a bug handling weather station data,
4. Ability to load a default map view at startup,
5. Restore TNC settings when program exits.

and many more. The holiday sale is also extended for 2 more days.
Visist http://www.aprspoint.com for details. Thanks.

Wow, 29 years bootlegging on ham and no FCC check? I think that's a new record!! There's been a couple of guys on a Militia/Patriot net every night on 3.8-0 mHz LSB for over 3 years now with phony callsigns who still ain't got caught or even raised a red flag with either FCC or OHS.
but if you went along for that long and got off with a slap on da

(Seems like this should be r.r.a.homebrew instead of the antennas group!)

Beware of the difference between a "power divider" and a "power splitter." (The terminology different folk use can be confusing, because there's not good consistency in the useage...) I gather, without reading every word of this thread, that you want to make network measurements, and the splitter is to provide levelling: either a reference channel or actual amplitude control of the exciting signal.

So for a two-way, you want simply an input connector and two output connectors, with a 50 ohm resistor from the input to each output. The trick is that you want as near perfect symmetry between the two channels as you can get. Ideally, each 50 ohm R will be in a coaxial environment where the output end is 50 ohms and the input end is 100 ohms, but you don't have to control that very accurately to get it to work well to 1.3GHz. With that arrangement, the source "sees" 50 ohms if each output is loaded with 50 ohms, and if you use one output channel to control the level, the level stays constant at the input connector (since that's what's being monitored) and that is an EFFECTIVE zero impedance point, much as the inverting input to an op amp is a virtual ground. The the second output port then shows an effective 50 ohms source impedance. You can show that monitoring the reference channel instead of actually using it to control the level is functionally the same for circuits which are not significantly level dependent.

For a three-way, you want 50 ohms to each output port as with the two-way, but now since the three outputs in parallel (each 50 ohms load plus 50 ohms series resistor) result in 33.3 ohms at the junction where they come together, you need 16.7 ohms in series from there to the input port, to provide a 50 ohm load for the source (assuming 50 ohm loads on each output). Note that 16.7=50/3. So you can make that splitter with 6 50 ohm resistors.

Being just resistive devices, the only thing that limits the frequency response is parasitic inductances and capacitances--not being able to make the environment "perfect". But that's only a problem on the high end, not the low end. DC is not a problem for these devices. However, they are much more lossy than a power divider, which ideally has no loss in the divider itself, at least with proper loads.

We had a need for some DC-6GHz splitters. The commercial ones we had were rated to 3GHz, and indeed they weren't all that wonderful much beyond that. A search for commercial ones that were rated to 6GHz came up empty. So I designed a 6GHz one, using 50 ohm 0805 SMT resistors, with some help from a mechanical engineer. The three output ports are in one plane, radial spokes from the central node where all four resistances come together. The input port is perpendicular to that at the center. The resistors are all soldered together at one point, zero lead length except for their terminations and the tiny ball of solder. To get good performance to 6GHz, there's a screw that adjusts the capacitance from ground to the central node. It's all housed in a hexagonal aluminum block, with SMAs radiating out. I was able to build a prototype that worked acceptably, using only PC mount SMAs soldered together. I'd have a lot of confidence, based on that, that I could make one that would work quite well to 1.3GHz even without much in the way of test equipment to check it.

And you should have no trouble at all making some very decent loads using the techniques others have mentioned. FWIW, I've had better luck using two 100 ohm SMTs radially opposed than using four 200 ohm SMTs with 90 degree spacing. I didn't investigate just why, but assumed it had to do with the parasitics inherent in the parts.

Cheers,
Tom

(I'm a bit surprised you need a three-way splitter. Are you measuring two DUT paths simultaneously??)

Gary,
I'm in the process of finishing a new display for my "Roanoke Doppler".
Do a search on that name and you'll get many hits. For just the antenna, the Homing In Web site has info on both main types in common use. I'm not sure what the Dick Smith does, but perhaps Homing-In talks about it.

Homing In is the place to start:
http://members.aol.com/homingin/index.html

It has antenna system (typically 1/4 wave whips for the Ham units) references:
Down a ways on the main page under Home Built:
http://members.aol.com/homingin/newdopant2.html

This specificlly addresses the Dick Smith unit:

You can always email K0OV.

The standard advise from K0OV is to NOT ground the unused antennas, but to leave them open which is in a non resonant state. This is so they have minimal effect on the active antenna and thus do not act like a parasitic element. I'm not sure why, but he recommends having NO amplitude (pattern) effects in your system.

So that you could WHAT...?!?! Complete a sentence? Get therapy?

The "avalance" has been yours, Markie.

Until today and with only one exception, I've been posting an average of LESS than 10-12 posts a day for wo weeks. In the last several days, that was less than five.

Before the Board of Licensure for Professional Engineers
State of Maine

In the matter of:

Brian L. Crow, K3VR, Complainant # E05 003

vs.

Glenn A. Baxter, P.E., K1MAN, Respondent

Registered Professional Engineer, By Examination, in Illinois

and

Registered Professional Engineer, by Reciprocity, in Maine

Amateur Radio Call Sign K1MAN

MOTION TO DISMISS

or

REQUEST TO TABLE

or

REQUEST FOR HEARING

and

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS UNDER FREEDOM OF INFORMATION ACT

Respondent, Glenn A. Baxter, P.E., K1MAN, hereby comes through this pleading and makes this sworn affidavit of his own personal knowledge.

INTRODUCTION

Complainant, Brian L. Crow, has filed a written "Complaint" with the Maine Board of Licensure for Professional Engineers against the Respondent, and following board procedures, its Complaince Officer will present the findings of his "investigation," if any, to the Board at its regular public meeting on January 19, 2006 at 9 A.M. Mr. Crow represented to Respondent that he (Crow) has also filed an identical "Complaint" with the Illinois Division of Professional Regulation.

Mr. Crow has also petitioned all State of Maine Representatives and Senators to withdraw their official recognition of Respondent dated 13 March 1991 as well as petitioning Vermont Academy to withdraw Respondent being honored as a Distinguished Alumnus of the Academy on 1 October 1993. Further, Mr. Crow published an "editorial" in a local Maine Newspaper calling for withdrawing the Maine Legislature's recognition of the Respondent and falsely representing that he (Crow) was writing as a resident of Manchester, Maine. "Manchester Newsletter" is the name of an anonymous and scurrilous newsletter about the Respondent and is referred to below with regard to retired CBS newsman, Walter Cronkite, KB2GSB.

The Maine Legislature voted as follows on 13 March 1991:

"Be it known to all that We, the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives join in recognizing Glenn Baxter, of Belgrade Lakes who, as a coordinator and ham radio operator for the International Amateur Radio Network and International Amateur Radio Network Peace Corps, has served humankind through his noble efforts to facilitate international communication for the disaster stricken areas of the world;

And be it ordered that this official expression of sentiment be sent forthwith on behalf of the Legislature and the people of the State of Maine."

Mr. Crow has also filed "Complaints" with the Maine Attorney General, the SEC, the FBI, the Federal Trade Commission, the FCC, etc., etc., ad infinitum.

FACTS

Complainant seeks to revoke the Professional Engineering licenses of Respondent which could naturally lead to either non renewal or revocation of Respondent's commercial and amateur radio FCC licenses where rather vague issues of "character" might play a deciding role in any such FCC action. Complainant offers to the Maine Board of Licensure for Professional Engineers evidence of an "FCC Notice of Apparent Liability" against Complainant, a Petition to Deny Renewal of Respondent's FCC amateur radio license (by Keith Lamonica, an attorney admitted to practice before the FCC), and a letter urging the FCC to not renew Respondent's FCC license by former CBS anchorman Walter Cronkite (a backer of ARRL, the American Radio Relay League), whose amateur radio call sign is KB2GSD.

Respondent is Executive Director of AARA, the American Amateur Radio Association, which directly competes with Complainant, Cronkite, and Lamonica backed ARRL, the American Radio Relay League, which is also an amateur radio "trade association." ARRL has a short wave "broadcast(1)" station with call sign W1AW which attempts to compete with Respondent's "broadcast(1)" station with call sign K1MAN. There is considerable professional jealousy between W1AW and K1MAN. Both

"broadcast(1)" stations are barred from commercial interests such as direct on air advertising, transmitting music, etc.

Respondent is also Manager of IARN, the International Amateur Radio Network, which directly competes with ARRL's amateur radio emergency communications organization known as ARES, the Amateur Radio Emergency Service.

Both AARA and IARN are divisions or the IARN Amateur Radio Peace Corps Foundation, Inc., a 501(c)(3) tax exempt Maine corporation.

The Complainant(s), de facto, being Crow, Cronkite, the FCC, and Lamonica would seem to prefer that AARA and K1MAN be eliminated from competing with ARRL and W1AW.

MOTIVATION OF COMPLAINANTS

Brian L. Crow

Mr. Crow represented to Respondent that he is a former NSA operative and has grants from the U.S. Department of Justice as well as the state of Pennsylvania, presumably to look into possible terrorist connections between Respondent and other factions world wide. IARN does, indeed, have operations world wide under the name and style of the Maine foundation and corporation IARN Amateur Radio Peace Corps Foundation, Inc. Respondent denies all of Mr. Crows allegations with regard to anything improper by Respondent or Respondent's many national and international operations, all humanitarian in nature. I am sure thet the NSA is capable of keeping "tabs" on IARN, AARA, K1MAN, and your Respondent.

Mr. Crow has essentially been "stalking" Respondent since 1992, presumably driven by his own jealousy and amusement and also to defraud the Justice Department and the state of Pennsylvania out of grant money coming from public taxes in the wake and huge frenzy following 911. Mr. Crow can be heard daily on amateur radio acting in a juvinile fashion (not illegal) but with no constructive sense of purpose (also not illegal). Mr. Crow sends harassing E-Mail to Respondent daily and appears to create anonymous anti Respondent web sites on a regular and continuing basis. All of Crow's allegations are false and/or greatly misleading, and Respondent intends to subpoena him before this Board.

Walter Cronkite, KB2GSB

Mr. Cronkite did a K1MAN station ID for Respondent years ago when his autobiography was about to come out, not then known to Respondent. Mr. Cronkite's ulterior motive was to promote his book by getting free publicity over K1MAN's international short wave programs. The backers of ARRL and W1AW were not too happy about Mr. Cronkite's thus implied support of IARN and amateur "broadcast"(1) station K1MAN. One anonymous radio amateur and ARRL supporter (presumably) even began publishing an anti Respondent newsletter (Manchester Newsletter) with the main and untrue theme being that Respondent was a convicted child molester and/or an "alleged child molester." Respondent met with the FBI regarding this vicious newsletter, published for many years and now defunct after Respondent brought suit against three suspected perpetrators, one being Chuck O'Neil, K1KW, who is part of the Lamonica petition. This newsletter (group) contacted Mr. Cronkite at CBS and threatened to also implicate him (Cronkite) in child molesting allegations. Cronkite then asked Respondent to cease using the ID, and Respondent agreed only if Mr. Cronkite would appear on Respondent's world wide short wave radio program and explain why he made this request. Cronkite declined and threatened to "go public" against Respondent which he subsequently did, his letter supplied to Crow, published all over the internet, and, in turn, supplied to the Maine Board of Licensure for Professional Engineers.

Respondent, not wanting to "cave in" to this criminal blackmail, tantamount to terrorism, continues to use the Cronkite ID, since pulling the ID would appear to be a (false) admission of guilt on several fronts. All of Cronkite's allegations are false, and Respondent intends to subpoena Mr. Cronkite before this Board.

Keith Lamonica, Esq., W7DXX

Mr. Lamonica is presumably being paid well by ARRL, Mr. Crow, or Mr. Cronkite, or all three. Perhaps Lamonica is just jealous and is working against Respondent "for free." All of Lamonica's allegations are false and/or misleading, and Respondent intends to subpoena him before this Board.

Mr. Lamonica has distorted facts and provided wholly false testimony in his petition, part of the instant "Complaint."

Regarding Rockwell Collins, Respondent legally acquired and used the Collins trade for many years after it was legally abandoned by Rockwell International after they bought out the Collins Radio Company and dropped using the Collins trade mark for the statutory two year abandonment period. Lamonica's version of this issue is false and misleading. The entire Lamonica petition is false and misleading. Respondent intends to subpoena Lamonica to appear before this Board.

FUNDAMENTAL ISSUES REGARDING THE FCC AND RESPONDENT

Respondent began transmitting world wide short wave programs in 1987. An FCC letter ruling in 1989 equated K1MAN programs with W1AW programs, both perfectly legal, of course..

In 1991 the International Amateur Radio Network was sending donated humanitarian supplies from Germany to Iran (in response to a major earthquake killing over 100,000 people and making over 100,000 people homeless) with the stipulation that IARN volunteers (from the Soviet Union and England) would supervise the distribution. The U.S. State Department objected to IARN's stipulations since they prefer to just send the relief supplies, no strings attached. IARN would never again get donated supplies from its valuable private sources if the supplies ever fell into non humanitarian hands (such as the military). The State Department has unlimited sources for their politically motivated relief.

Shortly thereafter, K1MAN received three Notices of Apparent Liability (totaling $3,600) from the FCC for doing exactly what was sanctioned by the FCC the previous year and is done daily by ARRL and W1AW. Respondent tried to take these conflicting FCC actions to court for resolution many times, without success, including a lawsuit in Federal District Court. See the attached Federal District Court ORDER.

Now the FCC has issued another "Notice of Apparent Liability," (the operative word here being "apparent!") this time for $21,000, as well as putting Respondent's amateur radio renewal application in "pending" status. Law permits K1MAN to continue operations until final disposition and all court appeals of the renewal application, of course.

The main issue is that scheduled W1AW and K1MAN short wave programs might cause incidental (not criminal) interference to ongoing communications either on the published frequency intentionally (to cause a conflict - a criminal act on the part of ARRL supporters) or unintentionally. The FCC has ruled that such K1MAN and W1AW programs are not less important than such existing communications. Conflicts must be resovled between the parties on a common sense basis per FCC rules. K1MAN has ALWAYS attempted to resolve any conflicts in good faith, and the other parties (Bermuda Net, Georgia SSB Net, ND8V and company, Polish Net, Salvation Army, Boy Scouts, etc.) basically say "Heck no; we will get the FCC to revoke your license instead."

The Commission (Riley Hollingsworth, K4ZDH) has actually encouraged radio amateurs to cause intrerference with K1MAN programs, such encouragement being a felony under Sections 333 and 501 of the 1934 Communications Act:

Section 333: "No person shall willfully or maliciously interfere with or cause interference to any radio communications or any station licensed or authorized by or under this Act operated by the United States Government."

Section 501: "Any person who willfully and knowingly does or causes or suffers to be done any act, matter or thing, in this Act prohibited or declared to be unlawful, or WHO WILLINGLY OR KNOWINGLY OMITS OR FAILS TO DO ANY ACT MATTER OR THING IN THIS ACT REQUIRED TO BE DONE, OR WILLINGLY OR KNOWINGLY CAUSES OR SUFFERS SUCH OMISSION OR FAILURE, shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished for such offense, for which no penalty (other than a forfeiture) is provided by this Act, by a fine of not more than $10,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years, or both."

In fact, Respondent first learned of this law in ARRL's 1989 FCC Rule Book. K1MAN began to publicize this criminal statute over the short wave programs, and ARRL then deleted the law from its 1990 and all subsequent FCC Rule Books, this act itself being a felony by ARRL.

FCC and Justice Department officials who have discouraged Respondent from reporting intentional criminal interference to K1MAN transmissions to the Judtice Department are also, themselves, in criminal violation from this federal statute.

Thus, the FCC Notice of Apparent Liability against Respondent is alleging a felony, which carries a two year jail sentence and/or $10,000 fine per occurrence. Similar actions against ARRL would be substantial, since W1AW has been doing the same thing as K1MAN for almost 100 years.

THE FCC

The FCC is probably "in bed" with ARRL (welcome to America!), which they can control, where they cannot "control" respondent since Respondent has no paid advertising or "controllable" commercial interests. The allegations in their recent $21,000 Notice of Apparent Liability are all false and/or misleading, with the same bogus allegations also being made in 1990 and never allowed by the FCC to go to court for resolution.

Respondent's attempts to bring the FCC false allegations before a court have not succeeded. Respondent even brought suit against the FCC in Federal District Court which was dismissed on sovereign immunity grounds. See attached ORDER.

All of the FCC's allegations are false or misleading, and Respondent intends to subpoena various officials of the Commission before this Board.

Respondent's amateur radio license renewal is currently "pending" in "legal limbo" while Respondent continues to legally operate station K1MAN until court action is taken but not expected by Respondent. The FCC is apparently watching this Board's actions with regard to the instant Crow complaint.

JURISDICTION

This Board is essentially being asked to litigate an FCC matter and it has no jurisdiction to do so. If the Board revoked Respondent's Professional Engineering License, the FCC could, in turn, revoke Respondent's amateur radio license, (on character qualification grounds) and vice versa, presumably. This whole charade is just a cute ARRL and FCC trick; again, welcome to America! Fortunately, we lave laws and administrative procedures here, unlike so many other less fortunate countries.

Wherefore,

Respondent moves this Board to Dismiss the Complaint.

or

In the alternative, Respondent moves the Board to table the Complaint until final disposition of Respondent's matters before the FCC.

or

In the alternative, Respondent requests a full hearing before this Board.

and

Respondent requests production of all documents and evidence in this matter that this Board may now have that has not already been supplied to the Respondent.

Respondent requests to inspect all documents, notes, minutes, etc. under the Freedom of Information Act regarding all previous matters, complaints, etc. made by Respondent to this Board in the past and specifically regarding fire hazzards and code violations at Ray Bouchard's two radio stations where Respondent was once employed. This employer is mentioned in the Lamonica petition to deny Respondent's FCC amateur radio license, said petition being a part of Mr. Crow's "Complaint."

(1) Broadcast is used in the generic sense here. Strict FCC legal definition of "broadcast" is "radio transmissions intended for reception by the general public," which is illegal under FCC rules and functionally impossible over amateur short wave radio since the public doesn't listen to amateur short wave radio because the subject matter of such transmissions must also be "Of direct interest to radio amateurs" under FCC rules.

He has recieved lots of awards including one from the state of Main itself. Walter Cronkite promoted K1MAN to before the bad pple got to him. It is a good thing the FCC cant put him off the air until they go to court which they are scared to do. And there are pple who are going to sindicate K1MAN's 20 meter show. N9OGL and Sirius radio are both going to put it on the air.

K1MAN is a great man. Are you on Sirius radio? Has your state priased you in a legistlature resolution? Has Walter Cronkite ever announced on your station? I bet not because you are just average.

K1MAN is a great man and I back him all the way.

why do you top post? you know it is a sign of net ignorince and yet you do it. I am not going to respond to top posts.

K1MAN would never top post because K1MAN is a great man.

Socks (whether puppets or not) don't need counselors. Frequent

Id' say, judging by that field notice that Mr. Baxter was definitely in the wrong (especially where the 75 minute infomercial about 'baxter and associates' was concerned).

I really hate to say this, but K1MAN appears (on the face of the facts) to have violated a number of the rules and is now subject to those rules.

let see how this plays out, shall we?

I recently purchased a VX-7R and am really happy with it... but do have two questions maybe someone can answer.

#1 - Is there a way to do a split tone for a repeater? IE.. A repeater that (for whatever reason) required one tone for transmit, and a different one to receive?

#2 - Is there anyway to increase the mic gain? It seems to be very quiet when I talk into it.

I top post because modern readers allow top post. Your 'net ettiquette' is/was totally arbitrary to begin with. Top posting allows the reader to get to the issue without having to scroll through 100+ lines of text that has already been beaten to death.

And finally, if you are responding to top posting you have already violated your own precept by your response.

Now, there is a large consensus that a certain individual in the State of Maine is in difficulty with the FCC.

Is "the state of Main" a new state? Where is it?

What is a "pple?"

Can you spell "can't?"

What is "sindicate?" Is that an act against God as in sinning?

My state has never priased me for anything. However, it would help to know what "priased" means.

Our state does not have a "legistlature" so maybe that is why I have never been "priased."

So if this is the quality of individual that thinks a nut-job like K1MAN is a great man, then I know I am on the right side.

This is a perfect example of why we need to do away with the public school system of "education."

No. You probably top post because that's the default setting of your news reader, and you're too damned lazy (or ignorant) to change it.

> get to the issue without having to scroll through 100+ lines of text

Your "logic" is utter backpedaling b.s. - long ago refuted by serious Usenet readers. If a third and fourth party decides to add to a top posted thread, it rapidly deterioriates into an unfollowable mess.
This is especially true when you top post to an already bottom posted thread as you just did. You clearly are a rank newbie who needs instruction.

Don't even presume to lecture someone else, oh Clueless One.

Anyone out there mounted an FT-857D in a Mazda B4000 pickup? I have a 1997 B4000, 5-speed, 4WD, and want to put my FT-857D in the truck.

Antennas are no problem -- I will use two stake hole mounts from GeoTool and mount two antennas in the rear stake holes -- VHF/UHF and ATAS-120. Coax will route inside the sides of the bed, under the cab, and into the cab through a hole I drilled in the cavity where the jump seats stow.

The body of the radio will mount on the floor under the driver's seat. Antenna cables will run under the carpet to the radio coming out through a small slit in the carpet. Power cable comes from the battery, over the wheel well, under the truck and up through a hole similar to the antenna cable, then under the carpet to the radio body.

Question is: Where to put the control head?

If I mount it on the floor between the gear shift and the front edge of the seat, I have to lean WAY over to operate the knobs. I could build some sort of platform that secures to the floor between the gear shift and the front edge of the seat, thereby elevating the control head so it's within easy reach.

Another thought I had was to remove the stock AM/FM radio -- which is a double-DIN size -- and replace it with a standard DIN-sized radio. This would leave a DIN-sized hole in the dash where I could put a metal plate painted flat black and mount the control head there, putting it generally in the same place as the car radio.

Any assistance will be appreciated.

This statemment is comical. Howard Stern, who if filthy rich, and his radio network, which was obscenely huge, could not win against the FCC.

K1MAN is a peon, compared to Stern. You are stupid, delusional, or both.

This is pretty much my comment on RM-11305 and RM-11306. Both parties, The ARRL and the Communications Think Tank Group are basically from understanding, and I might be wrong, trying to change it from mode to bandwidth so to allow new technologies on the band, or again maybe I wrong, that was lease my understanding.
The problem I see with this is amateurs should be allowed to experiment with new technologies regardless of how the spectrum is made up. One of the main problems I had with experimenting hadn't been band planning or signal size, but from amateur operators who threatened to complain about my experimentations on the VHF/UHF bands because they believe that it was illegal.
Back in the early to mid 90's I was very active in digital modes including Packet, SSTV, and other digital modes, and at that time I had began experimenting with different types of applications which were mostly for packet radio. When I told an amateur friend that I was going to do some experiment, an another group of amateurs "threatened" me including complaining to the FCC to "making me have an accident".
In doing so I didn't do any experimenting. I do believe that reinforcing the experimental parts of the VHF/UHF should be pushed and endorsed. Even if amateurs wanted to experiment in digital modes on HF they should be allowed as long as they don't cause malicious interference. No changes should be made, except the attitude adjustment of the amateur radio community towards other amateurs who wish to experiment in new modes and applications.

I have 97 saturn. I have the CD player with EQ. Is there RCA plugs in th back for the auxilary hook up (car was factory wired for a changer option)? Looking to hook up my iPod in a relatively cheap and quick way (fm transmitter doesn't work to well in chicago). Was thinking an RCA to 1/8" plug would work nicely but i don't know what the back looks like. Any help would be appreciated.l

Hitler was a great man too. Germany was starving after ww1 and he made it prosper. Of course at the hands of millions of people.
JFK was a great man. Of course he almost started ww3 and was hooked on meth.

Toad Dogshit admits he's queer for Roger Wiseman!

And Roger Wiseman is flattered!

Next round?

Roger will be giving Todd a call and asking Todd to go out for drinks at the Shipwreck Lounge. Roger will be on his best behavior, too. Roger won't touch Todd's cod until at least three drinks have been bought.
Be careful, Todd. Roger likes to drop money on the floor beside you so he can get a close up of your tool.

I would recognize his profile anywhere. Obviously, he was predestined to receive the NIM Busters' "Cocksucker of the Year" award. The mere existence of that award shows just how smart those NIM Busters regulars are, because they sensed the truth about Woger's lifelong dedication before the rest of us did.

Woger is truly the Mozart of fellatio.

But I do.

I respond to your comments. You respond in turn. I know that certain comments will elicit certain responses from you. It works.

There's an almost unlimited amount of bandwidth here, Brain.

If you need THAT much room, then perhaps you need to pare down your rhetoric a bit.

And my "arguments" are pretty well narrowed down to you and your Feeble Five bretheren. I can communicate effectively, if not outright get along with, everyone else here fairly well.

But then most of the rest of the folks here don't see fit to attack me or to lie in order to get a point across.

You and your "brothers" have yet to master that.

I hope you're not submitting these specific words to the FCC as a"comment", Toiddie...Get a 3rd grader to proof read it for ya first, OK...?!?!

Your "understanding" of effective expression and English composition are weak, to say the least. If you want to get your point accross, sharpen your mind before you sharpen the pencil.

> The problem I see with this is amateurs should be allowed to

You consider it to be a problem to let Amateurs experiment with new technologies?

I hope not, but that's EXACTLY what you said.

Trying to remotely control and telemeter that liquid oxygen cooled storage capacitor idea, Toiddie...?!?!

All kidding aside (yeah...right!)...Here's a simple plan for you that will leave the FCC reeling in respect for your "experimenting" and have them squelching your detractors, Toiddie:

(1) In a simple college ruled notebook, write down what it is you perceive as the problem. (poor data rates for example)

(2) Outline your intended plan to overcome the problem.

(3) Keep and maintain an ACCURATE logbook, if for no other operations for these. Make sure you document time, modes, power, and if you're playing with the encoding sequence, make sure that it's documented so the FCC can use it to decode any transmissions they intercept.

(4) Just DO IT and worry about it later.

And just remember...There's a lot of trailer park war heros out there right now who are kicking themselves for laughing at that Gates "nerd"...

> In doing so I didn't do any experimenting.

I see three probable responses here:

(1) Since they probably know you as one of the "locals", the "( )other group of amateurs" actually knew what your "experiments" were,
and that law enforcement involvement was probably prudent, for observation and public safety, if nothing else.

(2) This is a manifestation of a severe paranoia issue you haven't had addressed by your therapist yet. Tell her...tell her E V E R Y T H I N G.......

(3) Your "friend" wasn't much of a friend since he went straight to the other group and told them what you were up to and did so in such a way as to cause them to be alarmed.

Moral of the story: If you're going to do something someone else may have an opportunity to object to before you can do it, keep your mouth shut and do it quietly.

I bet that "someone needs an attitude adjustment" attitude of YOURS is what causes your fellow locals to "take up arms" against you, Toiddie.

Come to think of it, it works here, too!

Your remarks, "Raped and old friend" have yet to elicit a explanation from you.

Asking why you could post anything that despicable brings only silence from you.

Indeed. Mark showed you that.

Mark has asked why you need to comment on a person's sexual orientation in an amateur radio newsgroup. He has also asked you to eliminate your comments on people's sexual orientation in an amateur radio newsgroup.

Well I guess I'm not a serious USENET user. I'm only a Professional

That said, I prefer TOP POSTING for simplicity sake, for quick reading scrolling through 100+ lines of your antiquated arbitrary responses.

You could always cut the un-necessary info and bottom post. Only leave the relevant info to be answered intact. Why more people don't do this I have no idea.

386. Accessing UK Repeaters

Hi guys,

I've just bought a new Kenwood TH-F7E hand-held (first new radio for over 20 years!) and can't seem to access any repeaters with it. I gather this is because they don't use the old 1750hz tone system any longer and have moved on to newer technology. I'm very out of date with this stuff, to be honest, having last used repeaters (by whistling them up) back in the early 1980s when the scene was very much alive (as does not appear to be the case now). What do I have to program into this thing to get into today's UHF and VHF repeaters? I'm primarily interested in GB3OK, GB3KN and GB3CK.
Thanks,
P.

You need to set the CTCSS tone for the area you are in, for Kent it is 103.5Hz. You only need CTCSS on transmit, generally you can set it for tx, or tx & rx.

By the way, many (in fact I think most) repeaters (inc 'KN) also allow 1750Hz- maybe your deviation is set too high? There is an article on my website that you may find useful if you still have problems accessing a repeater.

Don't forget GB3IK (o/p 145.7625MHz in Strood), that is probably the most active in the Nth Kent area- it is also Echolinked.

You need to program up memeory channels with the repeater frequencies and the correct CTCSS.
I would recommend this instead of just turning on the ctcss as this would be audible if you forgot to turn it off.
I had one of those radios and it was easier to program all the memories using the computer cable and software.

What Mark "showed me" had nothing to do with bandwidth and

Your on-going defense of him shows me (and the rest of the NG) yours.

He has. And I answered him. His response was to go on the aforementioned tirade.

I've asked YOU why you insist on suggesting that others act one way and then do it yourself.

You've answered with YOUR silence.

You're here. What's YOUR excuse?

Where's YOUR "meaningful debate" or "thoughtful intercourse"...?!?!

Where are the answers to questions put ot you YEARS AGO on subjects you thought you'd never be challenged on, yet can't seem to get past...?!?!

Perhaps they won the lottery. Perhaps I'm not the only one that they have a "problem" with.

MOST LIKELY is that this NG has accomplished exactly SQUAT, even when there was "meaningful intercourse".

On the otherhand, one of my pieces in this forum was a featured article in Worldradio magazine (for which I was paid a fee, however I returned it uncashed). My comments are routinely quoted in "CQ" magazine. Myself and several other regular posters appear in various
"CQ" quotes on a semi-frequent basis.

And we have YET to see "N0IMD" in ANY such role. Not even a mention as a "slim" in any DX journal during "Restore Hope". Nor do we see KB9RQZ, N9OGL, Frankie of Silliland nor Lennie the Loser.

Toad shows his stupidity, since mobile homes aren't allowed in that neighborhood. But then Toad Dogshit lives in his parent's duplex basement, the duplex the Taylorville city council has deemed a public nuisance for the weeds and trash in the yard.

But at least it isn't like Assheil's broken roofed, broken down

I am looking for an Antenna and Manual for the TrueTime Model 505-106
GPS-TMD, GPS Synchronized Timing Module/Receiver. The Antenna employs a 15-pin DB connector on the end of its interconnecting cable.

Thanks for passing the word along the network.

GB3OK needs 103.5hz CTCSS continuous to access.

Just set up your radio (don't forget the narrow deviation) and key up, and it will work.

Or at least works for me in Rugby for OK anyway :)

Tune to freq req. Auto repeater shift should come in.

Press button 7 til you see "T" on the screen.

Press transmit and also the "Call Button" (Bottom right) Briefly (1750) Give a bit of waffle in case the logic is like the one up here.

Job Jobbed.

If that dont work then shout again and i'll help with CTCSS.

You propably need to use the CTCSS. The modern repeaters use this exclusively or with an option of the 1750Hz tone. CTCSS is a sub audible tone, one of a choice of several. The same tone is generally used for all of the repeaters in a geographical area. Many of the 1750Hz tone repeaters still in use, use a logic which not only needs the tone, but also need several seconds of speech to latch them open.

3Y0X NEWS (Update: PRESS RELEASE 2006-5). Ralph/K[illegible]IR and Bob/K4UEE, Peter I DXpedition co-leaders, sent out the following press release dated January 10th, 2006: "We are pleased to announce that the 3Y0X DXpedition has been given a substantial grant by the ARRL/Colvin Award. This is a prestigious award and is important to our overall DXpedition financing.

Our special thanks to the Awards Committee.
Our twenty-two-man team now includes Wayne, KU4V and Robert, SP5XVY.
Their special expertise rounds out the team.
Our sea container containing all of our equipment, and most of the team's personal gear is aboard the vessel DAP Mares which is now in the S. Shetland Islands. Our foodstuffs are also aboard after being purchased in Punta Arenas, Chile. The team will be reunited with their equipment and gear on or about February 2nd to begin the 4 day voyage to Peter I.
Remember these dates are target dates and weather dependent.
The team has been assigned the special Chilean Antarctic callsign of XR9A for use to/from Peter I. We hope to be QRV from Punta Arenas for a few days and then maritime mobile to and from Peter I. There is also a possibility that the team will also be QRV from the S. Shetlands for a few days after the Peter I DXpedition is complete.
Our website, www.peterone.com, will be updated regularly and should be checked often. The website should be considered the best source of updated and correct DXpedition news direct from the DXpedition leaders.
We are currently designing a special "souvenir " QSL card to commemorate your QSOs. Please QSL via N2OO.
Please visit our website often as we have worked hard to enable you to be a part of this incredible adventure. We are seeking financial support, so consider a donation please! Pay Pal is accepted!"

On the way to the Caribbean, Martti will stop over in the Azores to activate CU2A in the CQ 160-Meter CW Contest (January 28-29th). QSLs to their respective home callsigns.

DXCC NEWS.....
Bill Moore, NC1L, ARRL DXCC Branch Manager, informs OPDX that the following operations has been approved for DXCC credit:

D2DX - Angola, current operation as of December 15th, 2004
KH9/W0CN - Wake Island, September 17-28th, 2005

RECENT KP5 OPERATIONS - As of Monday, January 9th, Bill Moore, NC1L, ARRL DXCC Branch Manager, informed James, W0WOI: "We have heard absolutely nothing from them. We do need to see that they had permission to go there and we hope to hear from them soon."

FG, GUADELOUPE (Update). Jacques, F6HMJ, will be here from February 3rd to March 7th. He will use the callsign TO2FG from February 17th to March 3rd. Look for him to use the TO2ANT callsign during the 3rd Antarctic Actiivity Week (AAW - February 20-26th). During his stay he will try to be active from La Desirade Island. Activity will be on 80-10 meters on CW, SSB and RTTY. QSL via F6HMJ.

FT5W & FT5X, CROZET AND KERGUELEN ISLANDS. Gildas, TU5KG, is heading back to the Austral Sea (in Southern Indian Ocean) on a fishing boat. He is expected to be around the Kerguelen Island (FT5X) area between January 15th and February 3rd. After that, the boat is going to travel around the Crozet Island area until early March before heading back around Kerguelen area again until the end of March. Gildas is expected to operate as FT5XP from Kerguelen and FT5WK (probably) from Crozet.

GJ2/MJ0, JERSEY. Rich, K2WR, will be active as GJ2A during the CQ WW 160M CW Contest (January 28-29th) as a Single-Op entry. QSL via K2WR (for USA) and GJ3DVC (for non-USA). Before the contest look for activity on CW and SSB by Rich as MJ0AWR. Send E-mail for skeds to: k2wr@njdxa.org

HB0, LEICHTENSTEIN (Topband Activity). If you still need HB0 on topband look for the following operators to be active between January 25th and February 2nd: Danny/N4EXA (HB0/T93M), Boris (HB0/T93Y), Mario/DJ2MX (HB0/T94DX), Braco/OE1EMS (HB0/T94JJ) and Ivek (HB0/T96Q). The group will be active during the CQ WW DX 160m CW Contest (January 28-29th) using the callsign HB0/T94DX. Before and after the contest they will operate with 3 stations on all HF bands but will focus on 160 and 80 meters. They will use vertical, dipole's, loop's (K9AY; maybe beverage RX) on the low bands. The QTH will be the same as the recent HB0/DL2OBO operation.

HC2, ECUADOR. Luis, EA7OC, will be active from here between February 10-27th. He has all the correct papers but doesn't know what his callsign will be until he arrives in Guayaquil. It will probably be HC2/EA7OC. His activity will be mainly from Guayaquil, but he hopes to be active from other cities in the Guayas Province. QSL via EA7OC, directly or via the EA Bureau.

HS0, THAILAND (Topband Activity). Ian, HS0ZGL, announced that he will be active in the CQ WW 160M CW Contest (January 28-29th) as a Single-Op/ Low-Power entry. The Thai band is only between 1.800-1.825 MHz. QSL via HS0ZGL.

IOTA NEWS.....
SA-064. (Correction!) In last week's OPDX.742, we had the wrong IOTA listed (SA-046) for Marco's, CE6TBN/7, activity this past weekend from Las Huichas Island (DICE ICE-705). QSL via CE6TBN.

KP3, PUERTO RICO. Brooke, N2BA, will be active as KP3/N2BA in the ARRL DX CW Contest (February 18-19th) as Single-Op/All-Band/Low-Power entry. QSL via WA3RHW. Look for his XYL Eve, N2GSG, before and after the contest.

MJ, JERSEY. Operators Jim/N1NK, Craig/K3PLV, Pete/K8PT and Tom/W8JWN will be active here signing MJ/homecall from March 15-18th. Bands and modes of activity were not provided. QSL via their home cllsigns.

OH0, ALAND ISLAND. Operators OH2NAK, OH3BHL, OH6GAZ, OH6HJE, OH6HZH, OH6KTS, OH6OKSA, OH9MDV and OH9MM will be active as OH0Z in the CQ WW WPX RTTY Contest (February 11-12th) as a Multi-2 entry. QSL via W0MM. Depending on the conditions, they may try Multi/Multi.

P4, ARUBA. Paolo, I2UIY, will be active as P40G during the CQ WW RTTY WPX Contest (February 11-12th) and the ARRL DX CW Contest (February 18-19th). Operation class is to be determined (TBD). QSL via I2EOW.

PACIFIC 2006 DXPEDITION TOUR. Members of the Central German Contest Group will be heading to the Pacific between January 14th and March 3rd, and plan to activate several different island. Operators mentioned are Wolfgang (Wulf)/DL1AWI, Matthias (Mat)/DL5XU and Erik/DL9AWI. Their planned scheduled is:
January 15-28th - From Ua Pou Island (OC-027) (Marquesa Islands, FO-023)
February 1-14th - From Raivavae (OC-114) (Austral Islands, FO-122)
After February 14th - They will travel to the Auckland (OC-036), New Zealand, and spend the rest of the time there.
Callsigns will be announced later, but they will be active as ZL/homecall/m from New Zealand. They will try to run two stations using a FT-847, FT-890 or IC-706 MKII, w/Amp 800w into Antenna tuners, vertical antennas as well as three fiberglass rods and plenty of wire for beverage antennas. Activity will have an emphasis on the lower bands, especially 160m. Their Web site will be updated frequently at: http://www.radioklub.de/cgcg
QSL cards for these activities all go via DL3APO.

PJ2, NETHERLAND ANTILLES. Members of the Caribbean Contesting Consortium (CCC) will activate Signal Point Station on Curacao during the last few weeks in January. Look for Joe/W9JUV and Bill/W9VA to be active from Signal Point Station between January 19-27th. QSL via their home callsign. Also, look for Jeff, K8ND, to be operating from the Signal Point Station between January 23-31st. He activity will include the CQWW 160 Meter CW Contest (January 28-29th) as PJ2T and as a Single-Op entry. Before and after the contest Jeff will be focusing on 80 and 40 meters and testing receiving antennas on 160 meters. QSL PJ2/K8ND via LoTW or his home callsign. QSL PJ2T via LoTW or N9AG as always. Visit the CCC Web site at: http://www.pj2t.org
LAST MINUTE ADDITION: Members of the Caribbean Contesting Consortium (CCC) will activate Signal Point Station on Curacao during the ARRL DX SSB Contest (March 4-5th) as a Multi-2 entry. Operators mentioned are: W9JUV, NW0L, W0CG, K8ND, WB9Z, KB0US, KB0UT and KB0VVT. QSL via N9AG.

QSL INFO AND NEWS.....
LOTW WAS OFF-LINE THIS PAST WEEKEND. Wayne Mills, N7NG/1, ARRL Manager of the Membership Services Department, announced in the middle of last week: "The LoTW system will be off-line for maintenance this coming weekend. It will be shut down at 8:00 AM EST (1300Z) on Saturday, January 14TH, and will return to service at 8:00 AM (1300Z) on Monday, January 16TH."

3C2MV BUREAU QSLS. Gerry, VE6LB/VA6XDX, reports that all the bureau cards for 3C2MV have been processed and sent to the VE outgoing bureau. He states, "Thanks to RAC and Nenad, VE3EXY, for handling these bureau cards as well as Rich, VE6AX, for helping with the processing. All special PX cards for VE6JO have been cleared as well. Regular VE6JO and UA6U/VE6JO cards were processed as well but the older logs were not clear on already sent cards. If you don't get you cards for any VE6JO operation please resubmit to VE6LB at the QRZ.com address."

Tom, DL2OBO, reports that the log and pictures for his recent HB0 operation is now online at: http://www.hosenose.com/dl2obo

KG4SB QSL INFO. Jose Castillo, N4BAA, reports that he now has a QSL Manager to assist him with QSLs. QSLs can go to Jose or via Rod, EA7JX, for all 2006 KG4SB contacts. Either QSL route will be good for ALL QSOs!

Alfredo, IK7JWX, informs OPDX that he is the QSL Manager for the Sazan Island (EU-169) ZA0IS and ZA0/IK7JWX activity between December 18-23rd "ONLY" (via the bureau, direct, or E-mail at: ik7jwx@ari.it). SPECIAL EVENT. Due to a peace treaty signing during the Second World War, Finland had to rent Porkkala Cape to the Soviet Union for 50 years as a military base. That period started in the autumn of 1944, and the Finnish people living in that area had only 9 days time to move away before Soviet troups came in. During that time the whole area with a distance of only 30 kilometers to Helsinki was totally closed to the Finnish people and army. However, due to good relations in the international political climate that area was returned to Finland only after 11 years on the 26th of January 1956, which was a great relief to Finnish people. To celebrate the 50th anniversary of this release, the a local Finnish radio amateur club station, OH2ET, will be on the air January 26th. Activity will be on SSB, CW and RTTY on mainly 80-20 meters.

SU, EGYPT (Topband Activity). Hans, SM0CFO, is now active as SU9HP and has been listening for North America stations on 160 meters. Look for him between 1945-2300z. Hans is using an ICOM IC-736 "barefoot", 100 watts to a dipole. Hans is spending his winter in Egypt and will return to Sweden sometime in April.

TZ, MALI. Paul, ON7ASL, will be active as TZ6PVI from Bamako. His activity will be mostly on 40 meters in the evening. QSL via his home callsign: Paul van Impe, Maleizenstraat 44, B-3020 Herent, BELGIUM, or QSL direct via ON4LN: Eric Lauwers, Benediktijnenlaan 25, B-3010 KESSEL-LO, VBT, BELGIUM.

V2, ANTIGUA. John/G4RCG and Bruce/KI7VR will be active as V25G and V26VR, respectively, between January 18th and February 1st. They will be active on all bands operating mainly on CW with a special emphasis on 160, 80, 40 and 30 meters. Look for V25G to participate in the CQ 160M CW Contest (January 28-29th) as a Single-Op/Low-Power entry. QSL both callsigns via G4OOC.

VU4 PRESENTATION. Charles Harpole, K4VUD, now back in Florida for a couple of months, is scheduled to present an illustrated talk about the VU4 2004 DXpedition at the Miami Hamfest February 4-5th. Charles states, "I will have some different photos compared to my presentations at Visalia, W9DXCC and etc."

ZP0, PARAGUAY. Tomas, ZP5AZL, will be active as ZP0R during the ARRL DX SSB Contest (March 4-5th). Operation class is unknown. QSL via W3HNK.

Oh, what fun it is to peruse these many posts. Or, rather, how depressing it is. You RRAP goons should look at yourselves. Two goons using a nearly identical screen name are turning rrap upside down. Mark..you are stupid. You may indeed be Dyslexic, but you are at the same time a Class A Ignoramus. And the clown from the UK? Stupid as well, Ignoramus to boot.

The victim du jour seems to be K4YZ and the brain dead groupies are doing as a pack of mindless dogs oft do.they pile on their victim en masse.

For filth-minded Roger, "en masse" means piling on, but not in the homosexual sense you are used to.

Todd? You are excused. Why? Because you are such a blithering idiot that nobody takes you seriously. Exchanging barbs with you is akin to slapping the Class Idiot around the shower room as he scrambles to find his underwear. The bullies like you, Todd, because it makes them feel "tough" to berate you. Not that you don't deserve it, mind you.

Then there is Lloyd Davies. Lloyd doesn't post here and is a victim of misrepresentation and accusation by one of the most infamous of stalkers east of the Mississippi. Most of us know who that is and most of us have killfiled the low-life clown.

Carry on, boys. To date you have collectively succeeded in taking RRAP from a collegiate level group of friends to a low-end elementary education level of enemies.

Aren't you proud of yourselves?

No, I can always make fun of your simple-mindedness, your victim mentality or you lengthy run of spam posts to the newsgroup.

I don't have any need to "disort" your words. You're doing a fine job of that all by yourself.

Yep, "exchances" are that you're right.

exchances

I don't want to read the "exchances " of another?

Don't flatter yourself. Before we can exchange "exchances" you are going to have to learn how to spell it. Perhaps then I'll stoop to your level.

Well, here is some real and factual news for you, Markie.
1. I am NOT Steve, though in your own world of idiocy you will not believe me.
2. I really, really cannot understand you. You make no sense.
3. I poke no fun at your alleged Dyslexia.

Mark...you have haunted these groups for so long that most folks (or,
"floks") have killfiled you. Does that tell you anything?

Oh, for Christ's sake, don't flatter yourself. Nobody hereabouts is afraid of anything you have to say. Most of it is second-grade gibberish anyway and your comments don't weigh in with any more weight than Roger Wiseman's filth. In short? Nobody cares!
Afraid of you? You have to be kidding! You cannot construct a cohesive sentence, much less have anything to offer that would put users of this group in fear of what you may say.
Oh, Hey! Let me remind you for the third time...I am NOT Steve.

No, I am not Steve. No, I am not Wiseman.
Steve is not an issue. Wiseman, however, is on the downhill slide and has Classic, Markie...Just classic.

I know you're too stupid to see what you just wrote, but you just implicated yourself and your buddies "BB", "fnk" (I assume you meant disgraced ex-Marine Frankie of Silliland) and Lennie as liars.

WHEN will you EVER learn that your failure to grasp proper English comprehension and composition makes you look even MORE idiotic as the days go by...?!?!?

Forget it, Arf. Everything that is "wrong" in the world is "my" fault.

This is typical "victim" mode for Markie. He cannot, under any circumstances, envision ANYthing being "wrong" as a result of his own misdoings.

Any 3rd grader with an old VIC-20 can do better than he can.

ARRL PRESIDENT QUITS - "IF YOU CAN'T TAKE THE HEAT, GET OUT OF THE KITCHEN" SAYS K1MAN

Quoting President Harry Truman, Glenn Baxter, Executive Director of AARA,
the American Amateur Radio Associaation, bids Jim Haynie "Good Luck in The Contest." According to this week's ARRL Letter:

"The election of a new ARRL president will highlight the annual meeting of
the ARRL Board of Directors. When the Board convenes Friday and Saturday, January 20 and 21, in Windsor, Connecticut, Jim Haynie, W5JBP, will wield the gavel for the last time as the League's president. Haynie, who lives in Dallas, Texas, has made it known over the past few months that he will not be a candidate for a fourth two-year term. He says that while it's been a great honor to serve as the ARRL's president for the past six years, he feels it's time for him to step aside.

"It's a time-consuming job. It tends to wear on you after a while," Haynie conceded this week. "I've racked up hundreds of thousands of miles traveling--not only here in the United States but all over the world representing the ARRL and Amateur Radio."

Haynie says he's thoroughly enjoyed his tenure in the League's top office--a strictly volunteer position--but he believes someone with fresh ideas and a different vision from his now should take over the reins. The ARRL Board customarily elects a president from among its own ranks or elevates one
of
the League's vice presidents, although it's not required to. When he was elected, Haynie was the ARRL West Gulf Division Director.

Among the successes of his six years as ARRL president, Haynie cites the

ARRL Education and Technology Program--often better known as "The Big Project." Haynie kicked off the initiative to put Amateur Radio stations and a curriculum into schools across the US shortly after he took office in 2000. The program now boasts upward of 180 participating schools.

He says he's also proud that he's been able to contribute to enhancing the visibility of Amateur Radio at the FCC, in "official Washington" and on Capitol Hill. "I enjoyed that work," said Haynie, who testified before the House Subcommittee on Telecommunications and the Internet on behalf of the Spectrum Protection Act in 2003. Last year, he submitted written testimony to the House Government Reform Committee on the successful efforts of Amateur Radio operators who provided communications during the Hurricane Katrina response.

"It's paid off in the long run," Haynie said of his regular visits to Washington to advance Amateur Radio's agenda. "Amateur Radio needs to learn how to sell itself, not just from the League's standpoint," he said. "The president can only do so much." He encouraged all radio amateurs, whether or not they're ARRL members, to promote Amateur Radio and its value to the community.

Once he steps down, Haynie says he's looking forward to "maybe chasing some DX or maybe running a few contests." But he says he'll also make himself available to the Board to handle any necessary duty.

Among other items on its agenda, the ARRL Board is expected to discuss the process of developing effective band plans to support rule changes the League recently requested in a Petition for Rule Making RM-11306. The petition asks the FCC to regulate the amateur bands by necessary bandwidth rather than by mode. The Commission will accept public comments on the petition until February 6.

The Board also plans to review and discuss Article 11 of its Articles of Association, which defines eligibility to hold League office. It also will hear reports from officers and consider recommendations from various committees."

FCC TO OFFER K1MAN CALL FOR SALE AT STARTING BIDS 0F $1,000,000? JAIL TIME FOR FCC "SPECIAL COUNSEL" RILEY HOLLINGSWORTH?

See AARA NEWS

>From ARRL web site:

FCC zips through vanity application backlog (Jan 12, 2006) -- Once the FCC resumed processing Amateur Radio vanity call sign applications earlier this month, its Wireless Telecommunications Bureau (WTB) blazed through the backlog. A total of 990 vanity applications piled up in the queue after the FCC suspended vanity processing September 23. An initial batch of 121 grants Friday, January 6, was followed by 195 more the next day. Apparently confident by then that the system was working okay, the FCC let loose the remaining 674 vanity grants Tuesday, January 10. During the vanity hiatus, applications appeared with a "Y--application has problems" flag in the Universal Licensing System (ULS), prompting some concern on the part of those who checked their applications' status. The WTB reportedly applied the "Y" status to prevent the system from running the entire backlog at once. The WTB halted vanity processing last fall after realizing that filing deadline extensions for licensees in certain states affected by hurricanes Katrina and Rita applied to Amateur Radio's two-year "grace period" and could impact the vanity system. FCC spokesman Tracy Simmons told ARRL today that the WTB now is processing current vanity call sign receipts. It typically takes approximately three weeks from the time a vanity application is submitted until a call sign is issued.--some information from Fred Maia, W5YI

Are you sure?

You've been investigated for other moral's charges...This isn't a stretch.

OK Mark: I'm going to give you what you want and publicly apologize for whatever you think I've done. Let's let bygones be bygones, and let's declare a truce between the two of us so that the rest of the newsgroup doesn't continue to suffer. I'm sure that Dave will become part of the truce if you will simply agree to stop, but Dave has to speak for himself of course.

If you will keep your attack posts off the newsgroups, I will agree to observe a truce from my end, even though you are basically a damned, motherfucking, retarded, lunatic, faggot idiot.

Deal?

508. New use for radio.

Hi All;

I found this forum while looking for AM radio schematics, and chips. I use radio for an entirely new purpose. I randomly tune an AM radio electronically to generate a random source of "raw" audio. I send the "raw audio" to an echo chamber via speaker, and record the resulting audio with a mic in the chamber. Spirits, and other entities use the audio bits in the chamber to form their voices and messages, which can easily be distinguished from broadcast fragments. Most of the time the voices are distorted, but there are many that most people can hear, and understand. I have a site for sharing information, http://franksumption.tripod.com .

There should be at least a few here who have seen the moive White Noise, well that's what I do, but in a more advanced form. I've been doing this for six years, and I haven't been eaten, possessed, or scared to death. It's hard to get people interested in this becuase of Hollywood scare movies, and the skeptic/debunkers out there. Most miss the point that the quest for this device started with Edison, a well respected inventor.

The tuners I use, so far, are removed from older digital car stereos, and are voltage tunable. I make my own random voltage generator to make the tuning voltage. Then I record on standard cassette. The older tuners are getting harder to find, and the new tuners are tuned digitally, using an internal serial bus(I2C bus), not compatible with my system, so I'm trying to develop my own AM receiver. The goal being to produce the system on a single printed board.

Frank

Too bad you (might have) missed the apperance of Micael Schemer of the Skeptic Society with George Norey. Old George was astounded when he found that Schermer didn't believe in the supernatural, and even more so when he found he didn't even belive in ghosts. George is probably still reeling from his three hour interview with Schermer.

What does my doing here have to do with your obvious uneventful life, pizza boy?

Behold he shall ride upon a hard dick and his name shall be Lloyd Autistic Davies.

And it came to pass that the king of knob jobs in Alabama, (as Lloyd is known) was gone for a long time, and some of the people celebrated and some speculated that he had died, some speculated that he was ill, some speculated that he was in Maryland at Ray Chason's

apartment, and some even thought that the king of knob jobs in Alabama had been made a sex slave by Ray Chason and his butt buddies. It was then the people started to rejoice.

And when the niggers and crackheads heard the murmuring and rumours of the people they assured them that the king of knob jobs in Alabama was just busy sucking on one of his nigger neighbors' big black dicks and would address the people as soon as he could swallow that big load of nigger jizz. The neighbors in his hud apartment complex also knew that the project was the sucking of nigger dicks and telling lies and more lies, but they did not tell the people this for they did not desire to have a vice squad nightmare in the city of Deliverance Extras. Alabama liked to hear about the fat retarded one who proclaimed he was the king of knob jobs in Alabama.

And the niggers and crackheads reassured the people that everything was all right, and told them to prepare pyres and to cook meat, and to ice down beer and nehi soda, and to go out and buy potato chips and other unhealthy snacks from the traders who had immigrated to the kingdom from Vietnam and the land of Gaza. And so the went down to these little stores owned and bought these things. And they went home and warmed up their TV's, for the sabbath approached and the sabbath would bring more action from the mediocre football team at U of Alabama, and the sabbath would bring plenty of exciting nob gobbling action and goo gobbling from the king of knob jobs in Alabama.

The king of knob jobs in Alabama in reality is a ghastly pale porker who stands only 5'6" and weighs an unhealthy 290 Lbs. His skin is as white as copying paper due to his night job of delivering pizzas to the ghetto neighborhood where he dwells in a filthy, roach infested

HUD hovel. He doesn't venture outside during the daylight hours, instead preferring to play with Star Trek and Dalek dolls, post lies and filth on the internet and jack off to thoughts of his unrequited love interest Roger Wiseman and dream of finally actually getting some pussy. Not stick pussy, which his homosexual lover Steve Holsten feeds him several times a year when Lloyd goes for his visits, usually around Thanksgiving.

Lately, the king of knob jobs in Alabama has been consumed with posting pictures of someone he says is Roger Wiseman. In fact, the obviously botched purple rendering of somebody else has been cut and pasted, photoshopped and distributed all over the internet by the king of knob jobs in Alabama and his homosexual fantasy lover Ray Chason who is the king of knob jobs in Maryland. Chason who is also a porker has set up a blog of Roger's ex-wife "Regina" telling even more lies. Roger wasn't ever married to anyone named Regina. Of course Chason and Lloyd refuse to let truth get in the way of their lies, like their butt buddy friends who post lies, lies and more lies about anybody who reveals the truth about this band of homosexual predators.

Lloyd thinks that everyone who post anything about him is Roger, or as Lloyd says...Woger.

Now what kind of "Man" would talk like that? Right, only a fucking queer! I have never met

Roger, but have talked with him many times on 20 meters, something Lloyd can't do, as he only has a learners license for the Amateur Radio Bands. Roger doesn't have any speech impediment, but Lloydie's girly high pitched voice with his prominent lisp has been heard on his shitty "shows."

Lloyd recently posted some stupid baby queer shit on our message boards about his supposed

"Army of Daleks" at his command. Shit, someone needs to put this mental retard away and throw the key away. What a big fat retarded overgrown baby!

And Wussman lives in his mommy's old house and lived with her from t he ages of 30 till 48 when he finally poked his malformed head out of his obese ass and said here I am. Poor Wussman, still keeping your Mommy in that cold room for later action. Do you still hide behind the curtains like you did when you were paid a visit.

I've never lived in a HUD apartment nor on food stamps nor drank bud lite.
But you seem to know much about hte lifestyle.

Graduate of the McDonalds burger flipping program, Bwhahahahahah.

<AB8MQ>, according to "Not Roger", who speaks in the third person and who speaks for Roger, maintains that Roger attends a "real" college and is but steps away from earning his Master's Degree. What Not Roger fails to mention (in the third person) is that Master Wiseman is attending Devry Institute via mail. Devry is, of course, renowned for turning out short order cooks, Port-a-Potty Sanitation Specialists, Loss Prevention Specialists, and other highly regarded graduates who are much sought after.
Master Wiseman has a degree in Stalking 101 and 102, and is currently working towards an advanced degree in same. He plans to write a dissertation on Being an Anonymous Net Cop Without Losing Your ISP.

Usenet Posters Education Levels?

Dave Heil. College graduate and Ambassador.

Steve Robeson. College attendee and Registered Nurse.

Mark Morgan. Grade School dropout and bathroom attendee.

Todd. Home Schooled Basement Dweller, no grade known.

Stagger Lee. Education unknown, but clearly holds an advanced degree.

Len Anderson. Blowhard, no known degree.

Arf! Arf! College attendee, no known degree.

Roger Wiseman. Sociopath. Malcontent, alleged Air Force veteran, no degree.

Lloyd Davies. High School graduate, district manager.

Any others?

Sorry for the mistake. My Other Half is an RN and I assumed you had the same, or near same, credentials.
It was an honest mistake.

I wonder if others will wish to contest this?
Next thing up will be for Len to "challenge" me to post my XYL's

I was hoping for a raise to go with it!

"Near" is right. Under Tennessee regulations the only things I can NOT do as an LPN is (1) adminster chemotherapy (2) initiate whole blood transfusions, (3) administer ANY (regardless of route) experimental drugs, and (4) perform any task that is specifically restricted to the Registered Nurse or higher licensed person.

Why not?

Three suggestions I might make;

- Be sure that the input/output levels and impedance are those of the headphone circuit. I would surmise that most designs you come across would be made for lower signal levels than those found at the audio o/p.

- Delve into the bandwidth requirement for CW listening and dont discount the brains ability to do better extracting the signal from a wider bandwidth. ie you might think that it is worthwhile using (say) a 50Hz wide filter for CW but you'll find it harder to decode in your head than using something wider.

- If you want to experiment with what b/w to use, record some CW on your computer and use an audio processing program to build some LPF and HPF filters. Audacity is a possibility. You could of course simply make an adjustable hardware filter instead!

Well I have so much experience I am still picking the dirt out of my fingernails! <grin>

If you are comparing how "smart" (or not) people are you'd have to include years working/learning in a technical environment. I have come across some real dumb engineers and some real smart tradesmen/self learners in my life.

Have to stop talking or my head will self inflate..... <woops!>

I have read the many articles on american morse, and going back to 1994 asking about american morse..
I am learning american morse using a handkey and moving at a medium speed <hi>.
If anyone is interested in getting on american morse<no license needed>, or does not own a key or antenna restricted etc., or just plainly wants to get into communicating again and use your keyboard if you want.
Go to for international code

cwcom...morsecodeonweb.homestead.com or just search on the web for that and follow the instructions and communication worldwide.

AMERICAN MORSE

Go to /MORSE KOB...SEARCH ON THE WEB AND DOWNLOAD.

*NOTICE*******
THE server must be changed to < mtc-kob.dyndns.org> for the american morse..

dont forget to put your call in the options<your initials>, and on the keyboard put keyer/space.

SEE you there

Thanks for suggestions, Bob. the design in the manual includes a potentiometer for adusting bw. How effective it is, I don't know. I guess I will breadboard it and see what transpires. 73.

Before the Board of Licensure for Professional Engineers
State of Maine

In the matter of:

Brian L. Crow, Complainant

vs.

Glenn A. Baxter, P.E., Respondent

and

Registered Professional Engineer, by Reciprocity, in Maine

and

Amateur Radio Call Sign K1MAN

and

Executive Director of the Fire Hazard Reduction Institute (Box 440, Belgrade Lakes, Maine 04918 tel. 1-800-262-9543)

and

Certified Fire Safety Advisor

SECOND MOTION TO DISMISS,

or

SECOND REQUEST FOR HEARING

Respondent, Glenn A. Baxter, P.E., hereby comes through this pleading and makes this sworn affidavit of his own personal knowledge.

INTRODUCTION

The original Brian Crow "Complaint" has essentially been dismissed by the Board with the focus now being on general discharge issues with a former employer, Ray Bouchard, and a Complaint made by Respondent to the Board against the Professional Engineer whose P.E. stamp was on Bouchard's new building plans which are in clear fire code violation according to a representation made to Respondent by the Augusta Code Enforcement Officer. This latter Complaint was dismissed by the Board on the curious grounds that said engineer "was not involved," an issue now being formally investigated by the Fire Hazard Reduction Institute, Glenn A. Baxter, P.E., Executive Director.

1. Respondent is currently d/b/a as Executive Director of the Fire Hazard Reduction Institute and is a Certified Fire Safety Advisor with hundreds of inspections and fire safety installations already made throughout Maine and the primary source of professional income since FHRI's inception shortly after Respondent was "fired" from Ray Bouchard's Light of Life Ministries and Christian radio stations in Augusta, Maine.

2. Respondent was hired by Mr. Bouchard in 2003 to be his "Chief Engineer" in the radio sense of the term "engineer" on the strength of Respondent's First Class Commercial Radiotelephone(1) and Amateur Extra Class FCC licenses, 16 years of experience in designing and operating a multi transmitter short wave station heard world wide (with an ID announcer being former CBS Newsman Walter Cronkite, who is also a licensed amateur radio operator), many years of professional experience in electronics repair and engineering modifications to Collins high frequency equipment, the design for in house manufacturing of electro-mechanical filters (equivalent to Collins mechanical filters) which were the very "heart" of 750 low frequency receivers custom made for our U.S. submarine fleet, and design and installation of many radio tower and antenna installations.

Respondent has a B.S. Degree in Industrial Engineering (January 1968) from the University of Rhode Island and is a Registered Professional Engineer by examination in that specialty in Illinois, and by reciprocity in Maine.

Respondent has completed significant course work in electrical engineering and has published several articles in the area of physics, chemistry, and the theory of relativity, as well as teaching high school physics, chemistry, and advanced math.

3. Unknown to the Respondent, Mr. Bouchard did not have adequate finances to do most of the projects worked on, and the Station Manager advised Respondent of this fact in detail after the time of hiring. Apparently, Mr. Bouchard really hired Respondent to train a high school junior for six months in electronics and engineering so that this person could assume the job of permanent Chief Engineer at minimum wage or less, since common practice at the station was to work full time and be paid for far less time than actually worked.

For example, Mr. Bouchard constructed the whole station himself, and there were no wiring diagrams or schematics of any of the maze of wire interconnects present in his broadcast station. Respondent strongly recommended making such diagrams and schematics, and Mr.

Bouchard insisted that Respondent do this work on Respondent's "own time," which Respondent declined under these circumstances. Lack of these diagrams and schematics would naturally create a "night mare" for Respondent when there was an equipment failure, as actually happened and has become a subject of the current Complaint against the Respondent.

4. Respondent never received a written job description until a few days before being "fired." The paper signed by Respondent at the time of hiring gives an incorrect impression that there ever was a written job description. The actual job description was verbal and changed on a continuing basis and included:

o Training and supervising the high school junior

o Organizing the relocation of the FM transmitter site

o Design and construction of the new transmitter site

o Starting and running an electronics school

o Negotiating with Salvation Army and private owners regarding proposed translator sites

o Repairs to station equipment

o Negotiation for a cooperative venture in training recent jail released persons.

o Erecting the first translator tower

o Negotiating the price of custom designed antennas

o Negotiating the price for purchase of station equipment

o Salvaging donated towers and equipment.

o Trouble shooting a recently installed repeater

o Selling unwanted equipment on E-Bay

o Consulting with professional consultants

o Making transmitter compliance measurements

When the owner of the FM transmitter location asked "Where is Glenn?", Mr. Bouchard said "He was let go because he wasn't following his job description." Respondent demanded in writing a retraction, and never got one from Mr. Bouchard.

5. Respondent had a computer in his engineering office (found out later to be illegally occupied per the REAL Code Enforcement Officer - Respondent was introduced to a phony "Code Enforcement Officer" minutes before being "fired(2)" -) with all work done for 2003 on a single disk. This disk was loaded into the central office computer as a back up and so some printing could be done on the central office printer. After being "fired," Mr. Bouchard found this computer file and jumped to the false conclusion that Respondent did non job related work on company time. Respondent never did any such thing, this being a very serious allegation and being a part of the current "Complaint".

6. Respondent wore many hats and relied on different credentials at different times. For example, during the tower erection, Respondent relied on previous tower erection experience with the guy anchoring scheme being standard amateur radio practice and right out of the ARRL antenna handbook(3). The design of the tower system was not a Professional Engineering design, although a progress report was written in a document signed by the Respondent who happens to be a Professional Engineer as opposed to "as a Professional Engineer."

7. Note there is nothing in the above list of job descriptions regarding contact with the FCC or obtaining a required construction permit from the FCC. When Respondent realized that there were serious FCC violations being made by Mr. Bouchard, I brought this to the attention of the station Manager who advised me to protect my personal commercial FCC license which I did by reporting the violations to the FCC immediately, both to mitigate the damages for my employer and to eliminate the danger, as Chief Engineer, and the legal FCC interpretation of this, to my FCC commercial license.

8. At no time did I ever disclose confidential information to anyone in violation of Professional Engineering ethics as apparently alleged by Mr. Bouchard.

9. Although apparently dismissed by the Board, Respondent hereby addresses the "Nazi" comment. Respondent is a world wide short wave celebrity with a daily radio program often containing robust editorials. Respondent often publishes editorials on the internet. One amateur radio data base at www.QRZ.com decided, for "hobby politics," reasons to de-list Respondent's radio call sign K1MAN. About 1000 persons posted comments, many to the effect that Respondent does not deserve to have a listing on www.QRZ.com which uses public FCC data as its basis. Making an editorial point, Respondent compared a list of commenter's call signs with being tantamount to membership in the "American Amateur Nazi Party." There is no such animal, of course. "Nazi" was later changed to "Nerd." One on the list was apparently a P.E. in California, something unknown to the Respondent and not really relevant to this current "Complaint."

8. As a Professional Engineer, I notified the owner and three other Managers of serious fire hazards at the station shortly after the AM transmitter caught fire under the stairs of the only exit to the "fire death trap" old building. That old building, curiously, met the code, but the new building did not meet code according to the REAL Code Enforcement Officer who, somewhat embarrassed, dismissed it as being only 16% or so out of compliance. I notified this Code Officer in writing of my objections, and he "ducked" his mail several times until I served him with written notice at his home address. This is when I fully realized the common and life threatening "slack" involved in these fire safety matters, an issue at the very heart of professional engineering licensing, namely protection of public safety.

It is my legal position that immediate protection of the lives of the public required addressing these concerns to more than just the owners and Station Manager. The concerns were immediate, time sensitive, and this was no time for "secrets" or confidentiality, in my Professional Engineering opinion. Protection of life was my paramount and immediate concern. I genuinely felt the threat of criminal prosecution for criminal negligence should another fire break out and someone should die in Bouchard's fire traps due to inaction.

I realized that a serious entity needed to be created for public fire safety, and this is when I started the Fire Hazard Reduction Institute with my opening salvo being a formal complaint against the Professional Engineer whose P.E. stamp I saw on the new Bouchard building plans when I first visited the Code Enforcement Officer's office. He, by the way, is also a licensed ham radio operator. His alleged representation to the Complaint Officer of this P.E. Board that he advised me that the new Bouchard building met code is simply not true! He agreed with me that the building was out of code by about 16% but that he had issued a "waiver." This, plus Mr. Bouchard introducing me to a phony Code Officer just before I was "fired" (a crime I reported to the Augusta Police) was the real driving force behind the newly created Fire Hazard Reduction Institute and also started me on a new and exciting professional career as a Certified Fire Safety Advisor.

The Fire Hazard Reduction Institute has uncovered other evidence and testimony about more fire safety code violation issues in Maine in addition to this Board choosing to dismiss out of hand Respondent's formal Complaint. Even new Board member William A. Lotz, P.E. stated during the 19 January 2006 Board meeting that he has personally observed numerous situations that are in FLAGRANT fire code violation here in Maine.

I feel that if I didn't do everything in my power to bring these life threatening violations to light, I would not be living up to my ethical responsibility as a Licensed Professional Engineer, if not also being criminally negligent, should anyone ever be killed in one of Mr. Bouchard's or someone else's fire traps. I don't feel that (or it is not my legal position that) Professional Engineering client confidentiality applies here since I did file a formal Complaint (available to the PUBLIC) with this Board AFTER being "fired" by Mr. Bouchard with my genuine concerns being consistent with being denied my statutory right to cross examine and subpoena witnesses in my "test case" unemployment claim hearing where Mrs. Bouchard even perjured herself; this also being consistent with my Complaint to the Maine Overseers of the Bar regarding an illegal and totally false ex-parte letter (de facto to the Hearing Officer - a clear violation of Maine bar rules) being filed by Bouchard's attorney, Robert Stolt, also being dismissed out of hand (by the Maine Overseers of the Bar).

To get this (affront to justice) officially in before of the Overseers' supervisory authority, the Maine Supreme Judicial Court, Respondent brought a civil action in Superior Court against Mr. Stolt which was dismissed (surprise, surprise!) and then appealed to the Maine Supreme Judicial Court, also dismissed on the de facto bogus grounds that Mr. Stolt's ex-parte letter was privileged (it was, of course, that wasn't the point; it clearly voilated bar rules, and the Overseers didn't do their job to discipline Maine licensed Attorney Robert Stolt; point made to the honorable Maine Supreme Court justices, QED I think!)

Indeed, since this Board voted in a public meeting attended by the Complainant's apparent representative, Ralph Myra, K1IV, (and thus now probably reported on world wide amateur radio short wave as well as over the world wide internet) to fine me $1,500 (via a Board proposed consent agreement) for making an alleged false formal Complaint about the Maine Professional Engineer who wrongly approved the out of code Bouchard building plans, I am hereby publishing this reply document on the internet as well (to protect my professional reputation) at also world wide www.K1MAN.com. (and also in the public interest of exposing these very dangerous and - life threatening to the public - and commonly found conditions now in Maine - and most other states - and illustrated - for Maine - above).

Wherefore, Respondent respectfully declines to sign the proposed consent agreement and pay the proposed $1,500 fine,

and

Respondent moves the Board to Dismiss this Complaint

or

Respondent requests a full hearing,

and

Respondent requests this Board to reopen the Respondent's Complaint about the Bouchard unsafe and dangerous to the public fire traps (in my Professional Engineering opinion).

Respectfully submitted,

(signed) Glenn A. Baxter, P.E.
Certified Fire Safety Advisor

(1) Now known as a General Radiotelephone License

(2) Respondent had just written an engineering report outlining very serious fire hazards in both the old and new buildings at the station.

(3) The guy anchoring scheme is known to amateur radio operators as a "dead man." The expanding bolt installation was on the advice of the supplier.

Sworn before me,

K1MAN BULLETIN - B060121B -

GLENN A. BAXTER, P.E., K1MAN, BEFORE THE MAINE BOARD OF LICENSURE FOR PROFESSIONAL ENGINEERS

Dateline, 19 January 2006, Augusta, Maine.

The Maine Board of Licensure for Professional Engineers met today to discuss a "Complaint" against Glenn A. Baxter, P.E., K1MAN, brought by Brian Crow, K3VR. Crow's apparent "representative," Ralph Myra, K1IV, attended this important board meeting and took copious notes.

Mr. Baxter also attended as well as a number of other engineers, observers, board members, and their attorney from the Maine Office of the Attorney General. Mr. Baxter could only observe and was not allowed to speak at this stage of the standard Maine Rules of Administrative Procedure.

The Complaint Officer, Stephen W. Cole, P.E., presented the 18 inch thick file in this case to the Board and there was robust discussion and debate among board members for about 90 minutes. The Assistant Attorney General stated that she had spent many months and countless hours on this "Complaint" by Mr. Crow, and the Complaint Officer indicated that he had done the same. One board member, William A. Lotz, P.E., (all board members are licensed Professional Engineers) stated that this case reminded him of the Ken Starr investigation of President Clinton where the net result was to find some presidential semen on Monica Lewinsky's dress.

"The board was presented with reams of incorrect and false evidence," according to Mr. Baxter, "most notably, false and misleading testimony by the Code Enforcement Officer in Augusta, Maine who has been under investigation by the Fire Hazard Reduction Institute, a bona fide safety organization where I serve as its Executive Director. Based on this false and misleading evidence, the Board wrongly concluded that our 2003 Complaint to the Board about the Professional Engineer who approved the out of code building plans for Ray Bouchard's new building at Light of Life Ministries and Christian radio stations was improperly made, and the Board voted to offer to settle the matter by asking us to sign a consent agreement admitting "improper action" and to pay a $1,500 fine. The alleged improper action was filing the Complaint after being told by the Code Enforcement Officer that the Bouchard fire trap met state fire codes. Exactly the reverse was the case. The building did not, in fact, meet state fire codes; it is a fire trap in our Professional Engineering opinion," Mr. Baxter went on to say in an interview. "The Code Enforcement Officer admitted to me that the building DID NOT meet the code and that he had issued a 'waiver.' Our formal Complaint against the Professional Engineer who approved the out of code building plans is entirely appropriate. Assistant Attorney General Judith Peters now agrees with me on this very important point," Mr. Baxter went on to say.

After Ralph Myra left the meeting, the Assistant Attorney General and the Board's Executive Director, Warren Foster, P.E., granted a Baxter Motion for Discovery and he (Baxter) will be allowed to inspect and copy the entire files in both cases including hundreds of E-Mails.

Mr. Baxter has filed (by FAX) the attached reply affidavit with the Board and the Maine Assistant Attorney General, Judith Peters. "Ms. Peters called me right back," Mr. Baxter said, "and it looks like we will be able to get the entire and bogus Crow "Complaint" dismissed. She wants to meet with Stephen W. Cole, P.E. (the Complaint Officer), and me in about two weeks to discuss these new facts which have just been brought to light and for possible final adjudication at the next Board meeting in six months.

If we do go to a full hearing before the Board, Ms. Peters confirmed that I will be allowed to subpoena whatever witnesses that I want to. After such a hearing, where Ms. Peters, an attorney, would be the Hearing Officer, the case (by Maine law) would go to trial in District Court." Again, Mr. Baxter would be allowed to subpoena whatever witnesses he wanted to.

"I am so pleased that the Administrative legal system and court system here in Maine are finally showing some robust signs of integrity; it is so great to be an American; it is so great to live in Maine. Let them eat Crow," Mr. Baxter said, apparently referring to the Complainant, Brian L. Crow, K3VR.

This question does not fit perfectly into any rec.radio.amateur newsgroup so I'll cross-post it to three groups and hope someone can help me.

The question involves the dangers of RF energy from HF, VHF, and UHF rigs around automobile electronics.

I am installing a Yaesu FT-857D in a 1997 Mazda B4000 truck -- 4.0L V6, 4WD, 5-speed, with extended cab.

The control head for the 857 is separated and mounted on the plastic bezel around the gear shift lever. The rig is mounted on the floor under the driver's seat.

Underneath the truck, on the rocker panel just beneath the seatbelt anchor point, is a factory-made hole in the floor. This hole is closed with a removable rubber plug. I ran the radio's power lead through this rubber plug, along the frame, into the engine compartment where I attached the positive lead to the battery and the negative lead to chassis ground.

I planned to run the antenna leads out through the same hole then run them along the frame into the sidewall of the bed to the rear of the truck where I will mount a VHF/UHF antenna in one rear stake hole and an ATAS-120 in the other rear stake hole, using the GeoTools mount:
http://www.geotool.com/antmount.htm

I took the truck in for service last week and the service advisor gave me a long lecture about keeping the coax away from the air bag and away from the seatbelt retractor. He told me the retractor has a small explosive charge in it that can be set off by radiation from coax. Ditto for the airbag.

The route I planned for the coax takes it right next to the seatbelt retractor and I am now re-thinking my installation. I could route the coax from underneath the driver's seat directly to the back of the cab and drill a hole in the floorboard, centered on the cab at the back wall of the cab, and run the coax out of that hole. This would get a foot or more separation between the coax and the retractor.

I plan to ground the hell out of this installation.
-- The power lead is grounded to the frame in the engine compartment.
-- I have a 10 gauge pigtail -- one end will be bolted under one of the bolts that attaches the seat frame to the floorboard and the other end will be bolted to the 857 chassis.
-- The antenna mounts bolt directly onto the chassis; I will sand off the paint and use star washers to get good contacts at these mounting points.

Also, I will use double-shielded RG-8X for the coax.

I see a lot of trucks like mine (the B4000 is the same truck as the Ford Ranger) with CB installations -- I have never stopped anyone and asked but it seems to me the normal CB installation is nowhere near as good as mine and they don't seem to have problems. Of course, I'm running 100 watts and they are running only 5 (right???).

Has anyone out there had experience with HF mobile installations in the Mazda or Ranger pickups?

Thanks for your assistance.

You ought to think the hell out of your grounding plans first.

Remember, "grounding" simply provides a current path that did not exist before. This can be good or it can be bad. Know what current is flowing and where and why. "Grounding" stuff willy-nilly is not good engineering. Make the current go where you want it to go or not go.

The latest version is 1.50, the correct callsign of the author is UA9OSV. If you want it, register it: http://www.dxsoft.com/.
UA9OSV didn't decide to make this free software, so don't pirate it.

If you don't want to pay EUR 35 for this, use one of the free alternative programs, or just learn CW! CWget is working well compared to other CW decoding software, but it's something between terrible and completely unusuable compared to a human CW operator.

It sounds to me like the only issue you might have is the coax running near that seatbelt retractor. The thing that puzzles me is this guy telling you there is a small explosive charge in the seatbelt retractor. I never heard of such thing in my 30+ years of doing radio installations. I would like to hear from anyone else here who has! I sure have no idea what the purpose of this charge would be.

They are the latest things, called "pre-tensioners" they fire along with the airbags. I would think that routing the coax as far away as possible and making sure the radio and the antenna base (and antenna end of coax shield) are securely grounded would be sufficient.

He should carefully check all options to see if their is a way to avoid most of the wiring loom in the vehicle.

The use of the stake mounts, concerns me because they might not ensure mettalic grounding of the antenna. I would make sure the antenna is grounded to the truck bed and the truck bed to the vehicle frame by short <1/8 wavelength wires.

The Ten Commandments of Electrical/Electronic Safety

I. Beware of the lightning that lurketh in seemingly uncharged capacitors lest it cause thee to bounce upon thy buttocks in an unseamanlike manner and cause thy hair to stand on end, therby exceeding regulation length.

II. Cause thou the switch that supplieth large quantities of juice to be opened and thusly tagged, that thy days may be long in this earthly vale.

III. Prove to thyself that all circuits that radiateth and upon which thou worketh are grounded and thusly tagged, lest they lift thee to radio frequency potential and causeth thee to radiate with the angels.

IV. Tarry thou not amongst those fools that engage in intentional shocks, for they are not long of this world and are surely unbelievers.

V. Take care thou useth the proper method when thou taketh the measure of high voltage so thou dost not incinerate both thee and thy test equipment. For verily, though thou hast no NSN (National Stock Number) and can be easily surveyed, the test equipment has one, and as a consequence, bringeth much woe to thy supply officer.

VI. Take care thou tamperest not with interlocks and safety devices, for this incurreth the wrath of thy department head and bringeth the fury of thy Commanding Officer on thy head.

VII. Work thou not on energized equipment without proper procedures, for if thou dost so, thy shipmates will surely be buying beers for thy widow and consoling her in ways not generally acceptable to thee.

VIII. Verily, verily, I say unto thee, never service equiment alone, for electrical cooking is a slow process, and thou might sizzle in thine own fat upon a hot circuit for hours on end before thy maker sees fit to end thy misery and drag thee into his fold.

IX. Trifle thee not with radioactive tubes and substances lest thou commence to glow in the dark like a lightning bug and thy wife be frustrated and have no further use for thee except thy wages .

X. Commit thou to memory all the words of the prophets which are written down in the 300th chapter of thy bible which is the 'Naval Ship's Technical Manual' and giveth out with the straight dope and counseleth thee when thou hast suffered a ream job by thy division LPO (Leading Petty Officer).

I use the through hole in the floor of my Ranger [Ford] as you describe.

Coax should have no rf current on the outside of the cable assuming a good ground at the antenna.

Nonsense.

Current on the outside of the coax is caused by imbalance in the antenna. A good ground will not get rid of it, in fact it may well be the cause if the ground has a different impedance than the antenna.

Bill, the discussion is about a MOBILE installation. The antenna is end fed against ground, not a balanced dipole type.

What bands and power are you running? 40 through 0.7 meters at full
IC-706 MK IIg output [100 watts on HF, reduced on VHF/UHF]

Where is your antenna mounted? OHF on the bed wall near the tail gate.
VHF/UHF on the cab window.

Ever had any malfunctions caused by RF? NOPE!!

Thanks. Your installation is almost identical to mine:
-- FT-857, 100 watts on HF, 25 or so on VHF/UHF
-- Antennas mounted on the rear corners of the bed, in the rear stake holes.

I'm using double-braid RG-8X.

I'm well aware of that. A 1:1 choke type balun at the antenna feed point will make it a balanced system and the RF on the coax problem will vanish.

I give up!! Obviously my 52 years of mobile installations were all wrong!

A vertical fed against ground is by definition a perfect match for coax.
There is no need to make it a 'balanced system'. If rf exists on the coax there is a poor ground in the system that should be addressed and solved.

More likely you have had one year of experience 52 times.

Consider an eight foot center loaded whip on 80 meters. The feedpoint impedance of the whip is going to be very small - an ohm or two. Worked against an automobile chassis which, capacity coupled to the earth, will have an impedance of somewhere between 10-36 ohms, you will have major imbalance. No amount of "grounding" will improve the imbalance. In fact, just the opposite. The closer you come to the theoretical perfect 36 ohm ground, the worse the imbalance gets.

Now whether this is a problem in a particular installation is a different question, but the imbalance is there. The coax will have a large differential current flowing on the outside as a direct result of that imbalance. Some authors will tell you how important it is to ground the chassis of your transceiver to get rid of this current. Do that if you want, but I think it's better to keep that current away from your transceiver in the first place. A current-type choke at the whip's base will prevent that current from flowing and will keep it in the antenna and in the car's body where it belongs instead of on the outside of the coax. Done properly, your transceiver's chassis should have no RF on it to need grounding in the first place.

I don't understand this at all. What does antenna feedpoint impedance have to do with imbalance?

I know of two causes of current on the outside of a coax cable, conduction and mutual coupling, and I think I understand the mechanisms quite well. But neither has anything to do with the antenna feedpoint impedance. Can you explain what the mechanism is for an impedance mismatch to cause a current on the outside of the coax?

Bill, could you explain what you mean here? Where is the second equal-magnitude/opposite-phase current flowing?
Through the vehicle chassis? Through the ground under the chassis? Since the vehicle's counterpoise currents are necessary for resonance, what good does it do to choke the coax currents when the coax braid is connected to the vehicle chassis at both ends?

The impedance mismatch I was talking about is between the halves of the antenna, not between the antenna and the coax. A mobile antenna with a typical center loaded whip operating on a relatively low frequency such as 80 or 40 meters is severely unbalanced in that respect. That does not mean it won't work or is inefficient or anything of the like. Only that it is unbalanced, much like a non-resonant long wire worked against ground.

The coax braid may be connected to the chassis at the antenna end, but not at the transceiver end, and the result is often a "hot" chassis. Some "experts" advise to ground the chassis with a short, heavy conductor to cure the problem, but I feel it's better to keep such currents off the coax to begin with.

That does not mean such methods don't work or are inefficient. I have operated both ways and both ways work. I just prefer not trying to "ground" current which should not be there in the first place.

It's not every day I post a followup to my own message, but it seems appropriate here.

If you would like to experiment with this, try operating 17 meter mobile. If your installation is like mine, the length of coax will be very close to 1/4 wave on 17 (about 13 feet) and the transceiver's chassis will be "hot" for RF. We all know about a 1/4 wave conductor grounded at one and what happens at the other end.

I believe - correct me if I'm wrong - that current on the outside of coax is not subject to the velocity factor issue because what's inside the coax is not involved. It's just like a piece of wire in this respect.

It would be interesting to try it with a 26 foot coax but I haven't gotten around to it yet. Most likely it would only be effective on the one band anyway, since 17 isn't harmonically related to any other HF band.

Wouldn't you still get RF burns if you touch the floating

Thanks to the Northern Ohio Amateur Radio Society, Northern Ohio DX Association, Ohio/Penn PacketCluster Network, AB5K & the AR TelNet Clusters Network, K1XN & GoList, NG3K, W3UR & The Daily DX, N4AA & QRZ DX, KP4RV, K7BV, K8PT, K8YSE, W8QZA, NS0B, W&#65533;MM, Associazione Carabinieri Radioamatori, DJ3FK, DK7PE, DL1EK & The DX News Letter, DL6KAC, F5NQL & UFT, G3XAQ, GM4FDM, HA0HW, I1JQJ/IK1ADH & 425 DX News, JI6KVR & JA-IOTA Islands News, PA3GVI, PF5X, PS7DX, PY5EG, VA3RJ & ICPO, VK6JB and ZS5BBO for the following DX information.

DXCC COUNTRY/ENTITY REPORT:
"Sorry NO report this week due to ISP problems!"

* PLEASE NOTE: The report "could" contain "Pirate/SLIM" operations or more likely a "BUSTED CALLSIGN". As always, you never know - "Work First Worry Later" (WFWL).

3V8, TUNISIA. Frank, DJ3FK, informs OPDX that the Lufthansa Amateur Radio Club (LARC) will be active as 3V8DLH from January 24-31st. Activity will be on 160-6 meters on CW, SSB and Digital modes. There will be eight operators. QSL Manager is DJ3FK. Rudi, DK7PE, mentioned on the "Topband Reflector" that their 160/80/40m antenna will be a V160E TITANEX vertical. He also mentions that he will try to show up during the CQ WW 160 Contest for some hours hoping to give some stations a new one on 160m.
More info is availale at: http://www.dj3fk.com

5X, UGANDA. Operator Shabu, 5X1RI, in Kampala, has been active and will be here until February 2nd. Activity will be on 40/20/15 meters CW/SSB. It is suggested to look for him daily on 7004 kHz starting around 2230z. QSL via WD4ELG.

9G, GHANA. Alan, G3XAQ, will be active as 9G5XA from Accra, January 27th to February 6th. Activity will be on HF CW. He will be using 100 watts and a doublet antenna. QSL via G3SWH.

AH7, HAWAII. Bill, W8QZA, will be operating from KH6SQ's QTH for the ARRL DX CW Contest (February 18-19th) as AH7ZA. He will be operating

QRP on all bands. QSL via W8QZA. This is the first time that AH7ZA has been used in a contest, so it will not be in the master file.

ANTARCTIC NEWS.....
3RD AAW NEWS. Look for the following two French stations to be active during the 3rd Antarctic Activity Week (AAW) to take place February 20-26th. These two callsigns will end with the suffix TAF (Which means "Terres Australes Francaises" for the "French Australes Territories" in the French language):
WAP-042 - Look for TM8TAF to be activated by a joint effort by the Clipperton DX Club and the Bordeaux DX Group, February 13-23rd. Activity will be on CW, SSB, FM and the Digital modes on HF and VHF. QSL via Laurent, F8BBL; the bureau is preferred.

WAP-043 - Look for TM0TAF to be activated by the members of the Provins ARS (F6KOP), from February 11-25th. Activity will be on all modes, HF and VHF. QSL via Thierry, F4TTR.

AX, AUSTRALIA. Thursday, January 26th, is "Australia Day". Look for Australian amateurs to use the AX prefix for 24 hours from 1301z Wednesday, January 25th, until 1259z Thursday, January 26th. The West Coast will start and finish 3 hours later than the East Coast as it runs from midnight to midnight in each state of Australia. Some VK9's will start up to 3 hours earlier, and others will finish up to 3 hours after Western Australia does.
John, VK6JB, states, "Its a bit of a dogs breakfast but just keep listening and you will hear them come up." The AX prefix is usable by all VK amateurs during this period. John, VK6JB, states, that he will be working 40 meters SSB between 7040 and 7090 kHz. Many other operators will be on other bands working, so listen for your chance to get a special AX prefix card. John adds, "Please remember that there are QRP operators who want a chance to get a card as well, so make sure you give them a go."

EA8, CANARY ISLANDS. Operator Leppala, OH2BYS, will be active as EA8/OH4NL in the ARRL DX CW Contest (February 18-19th) as a Single-Op/Single-Band (20m or possibly 15/40m)/High-Power entry. QSL via OH2BYS.

FJ, ST. MARTIN. Ron, SM7DKF, will be active from St. Barthelemy (IOTA NA-146, DIFO FJ-001), May 10-20th. His callsign was not provided. Activity will be on all HF bands. QSL direct to his home callsign or LoTW.

FS & PJ7, ST. MARTIN AND ST MAARTEN ISLANDS. Operators David/K3LP and Clint/W3ARS will arrive on St. Martin on February 15th and will depart on February 22nd. Both will use the following callsigns:
FS/K3LP St. Martin, PJ7/K3LP St. Maarten
FS/W3ARS St. Martin, PJ7/W3ARS St. Maarten
Look for David to be active in the ARRL DX CW Contest (February 18-19th) as FS/K3LP and as a Single-Op/All-Band/Low-Power entry. Look for Clint to be active on 6 meters and the WARC bands. QSL via the operators' home callsign (QRZ.com).

HB0, LIECHTENSTEIN. Members of the Bosnia and Herzegovina Contest Club (BHCC) will be active as HB0/homecall from here January 25th through February 1st. Operators mentioned are: Mario/T94DX (aka DJ2MX), Braco/T94JJ (aka OE1EMS), Danny/T93M, Ivek/T96Q and Boris/T93Y. The group's main activity is participation in the CQ WW 160m Contest as HB0/T94DX as a Multi-Single entry. However, look for them before and after the contest on CW, SSB and RTTY on 160-10 meters. They plan to have three stations active with vertical and wire antennas. QSLs for HB0/T94DX, HB0/T94JJ and HB0/T93M are via DJ2MX, by the DL Bureau or direct to: Mario Lovric, Kampenwandstrasse 13, D-81671 Munich, Germany. QSL HB0/T96Q and HB0/T93Y via T93Y, by the T9 Bureau or direct to: Boris Knezovic, P.O. Box 59, BA-71000 Sarajevo, Bosnia and Herzegovina. More detailed information is available, including the online logs, at: http://www.t93y.com/hb0

HI, DOMINICAN REPUBLIC. Dennis, K7BV, will operate in the ARRL DX CW Contest from the HI3CCP Santiago mountaintop QTH (See the following Web page at: http://www.lomadeltoro.com/). Dennis will sign HI3TEJ during the contest. Look for H3I/K7BV to be used outside the contest. QSL HI3/K7BV to his CBA. QSL HI3TEJ via ON4IQ.

IOTA NEWS.....
AF-032. 5H1C DXPEDITION UPDATE. As this was being written, John/F5VHQ and Pascal/F5JSD were flying to Dar Es Salaam. Once there they will meet with Joseph, 5H3WJN, and then pick up their licence. They will meet with the 2nd part of the crew on Tuesday, January 24th, and also meet with the Director of the local aircraft-taxi company to carry them to Zanzibar Island. Their first QSOs are expected on Tuesday the 24th in the afternoon. Visit the following Web page for more updates/details at: http://5h1c.free.fr/home_uk.html

NA-093. Look for a group of Cubans to activate Cayo Jutias Island starting around 1700z, January 23rd through January 28th. The group will be operating from a lighthouse (CUB-022) on that island. Activity will be on 40/20/17/15 meters. Their callsigns are: CO3JN/1 (PSK31), CO2WL/1 (SSB), CO3LF/1 (SSB), CO3CJ/1 (SSB), CO3VK/1 (SSB) and CO3ET/1 (CW). On Saturday, January 28th, they will use the different callsign, T41JM, to celebrate the Cuban holiday "Jose Marti Day". QSL via IZ8EBI. More info is available at: http://xoomer.virgilio.it/iz8_ebi/

NA-112. Dennis, WA2USA, will be active as WA2USA/4 from Bogue Banks, Emerald Isle (USI NC-010S, Carteret county) located in Onslow Bay, Maine, February 12-19th. He is also expected to enter the ARRL DX CW Contest (February 18-19th) as a Single-Operator/ All-Band entry. Activity before and after the contest will be on 30 and 17 meters. QSL via his home callsign, direct or by the bureau.

NA-124. Operators Ray/N6VR, Norm/N6JV, Marco/XE2TG, Gerardo/XE2Q, Bernado/XE2HWB and Hector/XE2K plan to be active on one of the islands in the Baja California Sur State South East Group (Espiritu Santo, Ballena or Cerralvo), February 3-5th. They will use the callsign, XF1K, on 80-10 meters CW and SSB. They are also expected to have 3 stations operating simultaniously.

Watch the usual IOTA frequencies (+/- QRM) for activity. QSL via N6AWD (QRZ.com).

SA-024. Rick/PY2EL and Wal/PY2WC will be active from Comprida Island (DIB 21 for the Brazilian Islands Award), January 26-30th.
Both will sign homecall/p. Activity will be on all HF bands, also 6 meters and 144/432 MHz, mostly on CW, SSB and digital (PSK31/RTTY). QSL via the bureau.

J3, GRENADA. Bill, VE3EBN, will be active as J37LR from February 1st to April 5th. Activity will be on 40-10 meters, on CW, SSB, RTTY and PSK. QSL via the info on QRZ.com.

J43, GREECE. Petros/SV3FUO and Nikos/SV3BSF will be active as J43BSF from Greece during the CQ WW WPX RTTY Contest (February 11-12th) as a Multi-Single/High-Power entry. QSL via SV1CIB.

J49, CRETE. Look for Tomas, LY1DF, to be active as J49W during the CQ 160
Meters CW Contest (January 28-29th) as a Single-Op entry. QSL via LY1DF.
See last year's contest photos from Mt. Pentelli at:
http://www.qrz.lt/foto/main.php?g2_view=core:ShowItem&g2_itemId=3908

KH0, MARIANA ISLANDS. Hide, JM1LJS, plans to be active as KH2VL/KH0 from Saipan (IOTA OC-086), January 27-29th. No bands/modes of activity were provided. QSL via JM1LJS (QRZ.com).

KP2, U.S. VIRGIN ISLANDS. John, WZ8D, is expected to be active as WZ8D/KP2 during the CQ WW 160 CW Contest (January 28-29th). QSL via WZ8D direct (SASE please).

M, ENGLAND. Laci, HA0HW, will be in here on business between January 29th and February 9th. He will try to operate as M/HA0HW, if time permits.
QSL via HA Bureau or via QRZ.com address.

MJ, JERSEY (OOOPPPSS!). In OPDX.743, there was a premature/incorrect announcement on the activity by operators Jim/N1NK, Craig/K3PLV, Pete/K8PT and Tom/W8JWN expected to take place March 15-18th. Pete, K8PT, informed OPDX that the correct information is forthcoming when it's ready to be released.

OH0, ALAND ISLANDS. Operator Leppala, OH2BYS, will be active as OH0L during the CQ WW 160 Meters CW Contest (January 28-29th). QSL via OH2BYS.

P4, ARUBA. Flo, F5CWU, will be active as P40CW from March 1-8th. He will also be in the ARRL DX SSB Contest (March 4-5th) as a Single-Op/All-Band entry. QSL via F5CWU.

P4, ARUBA. Operator John, KK9A, will be active as P40A during the ARRL DX SSB Contest (March 4-5th) as a Single-Op/All-Band/Low-Power entry. QSL via WD9DZV.

PA, THE NETHERLANDS (Experiment from PA!). On Thursday, January 26th (2300z) through Friday, January 27th (0530z), Peter/PA8A and Rob/PA3GVI will be active with a very special antenna system on SSB and CW. This experiment will take place on 7 MHz and the antenna exists of a 2x4 stacked dipole system between 2x 400 foot towers (Antenna-gain is +/- 22 dB and radiation angle 7 degrees). This antenna is fixed on South/Central America, and can be slewed towards the South Pacific and the USA slightly. They invite all operators to make a contact, and if possible, an audio-recording of the operation (especially from the aboved mentioned areas). Recordings (not bigger then 1 Mb) can be sent to: pa3gvi@hetnet.nl
Look for them on +/- 7055/SSB and +/- 7010/CW. The transceiver will be an IC-7800 with 150 watt. Coverage and received sound files will be available (after the experiment) on: http:/www.sitekreator.com/pa3gvi

PT7, BRAZIL. Joska, HA9RT, will once again be in Brazil soon. He will operate as HA9RT/PT7 between February 6-20th from Fortaleza. He prefers operating on CW but will be active on 40-10 meters. If he can, Joska will try to hang up a long wire to use on the lower bands. QSL via the HA Bureau or via the QRZ.com address.

QSL INFO AND NEWS.....
Effective immediately, the QSL Manager for Sultan Al Kuwari, A71CT, is Francisco, EA7FTR. QSLs for A71CT should be sent to EA7FTR either through the bureau or direct to: Francisco Lianez Suero, Asturias 23, Aljaraque, Huelva 21110, Spain.

SEND NO MONEY! Ed, PS7DX, informs OPDX readers to please send no money to PS7AA or PS7DX because somebody is opening his letters. Send only IRC's.

THESE MANAGERS/STATIONS REQUEST TO QSL DIRECT NO MULTIPLE REQUESTS:
AP2JZB, EP3SMH, FR5FD, TA2ZV, VK9NS, XW2A/XW0X, ZB2FK

Christian, XE1/DL6KAC, informs that he has been notified QSL cards for his XE1/DL6KAC operation is piling-up in Germany. He requests, "Please be patient as I will not be able to respond to these QSL cards until I return to Germany. This return is scheduled for March 2006. Then the cards need to be printed so that I hope to mail out the first cards around May 2006. Please note the increase in German postage (e.g. 2 USD are no longer sufficient to cover over-seas postage). As noted earlier in the bulletins, German postage has increased prices from 1.55 EURO to 1.70 EURO. 1 IRC is still sufficient."

Laurent, W0MM, reports that as of January 15th, he is the QSL Manager for Mike, YN4MG (WK6O). Mike is a missionary who spends most of his time in YN-land when he is not in southern California. Laurent states that he should receive his new cards from the printer (LZ1JZ) within a month.

S65, SINGAPORE. Enno, 9V1CW (PF5X), informs OPDX that the Singapore Amateur Radio Transmitting Society (SARTS) has been issued the special callsign S65X for use in contests. This was established with kind cooperation of Singapore's IDA communication authority. Look for this special callsign to be first aired during the PACC Contest, February 11-12th. If time permits, they will try to make some QSOs with stations outside the PACC Contest during that weekend. Later in the year, they will try and air this call in some international contests as well. QSL Manager is PA0KHS: Henk van Hensbergen, Smaragdstraat 53, 6534 WN Nijmegen, The Netherlands.

SPECIAL EVENT. Scott/NE1RD and Dave/KZ1O will activate the special event callsign, K1P, from Deer Isle (IOTA NA-055, USI ME-014S, Hancock county, Maine), April 10-17th. Activity is to celebrate Patriots Day. Many do not know that Maine was part of Massachusetts until 1820, and split as part of the Missouri Compromise. Join them from the Maine sea coast celebrating Patriots Day and New England's tradition of the sea, April 10-17th. Look for activity on all bands. QSL via NE1RD (QRZ.com).

SPECIAL EVENT. Members of the City of Provins ARS (F6KOP) will enter the French HF Championship as TM0C, both modes CW (January 28-29th) and SSB (February 25-26th). Precontest activities on all modes and bands HF/VHF is possible between January 26th and February 2nd (and possibly later in February). QSL both contest activities via F6KOP.

SPECIAL EVENT. To celebrate the 80th anniversary of the Lvovs Shortwave Club (LKK)(since 1926), Wojtek, SP8MI, will be active as SN80LKK between May 1-31st. QSL via SP8MI by the Bureau or direct (SASE 1 IRC - new). Please No e-QSL. More details are available at: http://www.qrz.com/sn80lkk http://www.qrz.ru/sn80lkk

SPECIAL EVENT. February 2nd will mark the 70th anniversary of the end of the collaboration between the Regal Italian Government and the Titano Mount (San Marino Republic). This began on June 1st, 1921, when upon request from the San Marino Government, 20 Carabinieri officers were moved from the region of Ancona in the Republic in order to guarantee the security, awaiting for a local Police force to be established. Members of the Association C.O.T.A. (Carabinieri On The Air) and the ARRSM Association, will celebrate this anniversary with the activation of T7COTA (operated by COTA members) and T70A (by ARRSM members). The stations will be active between February 3-5th on HF bands CW/SSB. QSL T7COTA via IZ8DDG, by the bureau or direct to: Orlando Balisciano Villa Bisignano, 5 Traversa, 21 80147 Napoli, Italy. QSL T70A via direct.

SPECIAL EVENT. Members of the Highway Amateur Radio Club will be operating a special event station using the callsign ZS5A1GP for the weekend of the A1 Grand Prix, (and on other special occasions during 2006). The A1 Grand Prix event will be held on the Durban beachfront in the vicinity of the Suncoast Casino, January 27-29th. The station will be operational on the HF bands, also on the local UHF and VHF repeaters and via the IRLP node 8300. A special QSL card will be sent to each station who makes contact with the station during 2006. If you want one of these limited edition cards for the shack wall, listen for ZS5A1GP via IRLP on their VHF/UHF repeaters or on HF (CW/SSB). QSL ZS5A1GP via: Highway Amateur Radio Club, PO Box 779, New Germany, 3620, South Africa. Further details and a picture of the QSL card can be found on the HARC Web site at: http://www.harc.org.za ADDED NOTE: Their repeater team is working on an VHF repeater which they hope to have linked to the UHF network to provide handheld UHF and VHF access to the IRLP from the race track. The VHF repeater will operate on 145.7625/145.1625 Mhz with a 107.2Hz CTCSS tone and the existing UHF repeater is on 439.275/431.675 MHz with a 136.5Hz CTCSS tone.

THE 2006 WRTC REFEREES HAVE CHOSEN. The following 47 individuals have been selected to referee the 2006 World Radiosport Team Championship to be held in July. The referees are: DJ2YA, DJ6QT, DK2OY, DL6LAU, EY8MM, G3LZQ, G3XTT, G4BWP, G5LP, GM4AFF, HA3NU, I4UFH, IV3TAN, JH4RHF, JK3GAD, K1CC, K1KI, K2LE, K2SX, K3NA, K8NZ, K9JF, KC1F, KC7V, N2AA, N2GA, N3AD, N6CW, NF4A, OH2KI, PY2YP, PY8AZT, S50R, S56A, SM3CER, SM3DMP, TG9AJR, UA3AB, UA6HZ, VE3DZ, VE7AHA, VE7SV, W0GJ, W4OI, W6OAT, W6UM and WX0B. For the complete press release and details on how the individuals were selected by the 2006 WRTC Committee, please visit the 2006 WRTC Web page at: http://www.wrtc2006.com/

TI8, COSTA RICA. Operators Carlos/TI2KAC, Ed/K4UN, Will/K4WPM, Rob/W4BW and Keith/W4KTR will be active as TI8M during the ARRL DX SSB Contest (March 4-5th) as a Multi-2 entry. QSL via TI2KAC (Check TI8M on QRZ.com for info). Operators will be active before the contest on 160-10 meters on SSB and perhaps CW and the Digital modes.

TY, BENIN. Operators Ronald/PA3EWP, Andrea/IK1PMR, Claudia/K2LEO and Tom/GM4FDM will be active from Cotonou between March 15-20th. Tom, GM4FDM, states that the team has to pick up their licence upon arrival. They requested the following callsigns: TY5WP, TY1MR, TY2LEO and TY4TW. Activity will be on 160-10 meters and on all modes. They hope to be active either as a team or as individuals in the BARTG RTTY Contest during the first weekend. PLEASE NOTE: Pay attention to the individual's QSL routes. Further details can be found on their Web page at: http://www.ik1pmr.com/dx-peditions/ty/index.php?topic=About%20Benin

V3, BELIZE. Operators Alan/NS0B and John/WC0W will be active in the ARRL DX CW Contest (February 18-19th), using either V31TP or V31EV as the callsign. They will also be there for a couple of days on either side of the contest, probably Wednesday through Monday. Activity will be on 160-10 meters; no WARC bands (no antennas for them).

VQ9, CHAGOS ISLANDS. Larry, VQ9LA, in Diego Garcia (AF-006), announced that he will be active in the CQ WW 160 CW Contest (January 28-29th). QSL via the VQ9LA info on QRZ.com.

VU4, ANDAMAN ISLANDS. Last week the first group to announce publicly they have intentions to operate from the Andaman Islands is Sigi, DL7DF, and a team of operators. Operators mentioned so far include Manfred/DK1BT, Sigi/DL7DF, Leszek/SP3DOI, Jurek/SP3GEM and SP3CCY. The team plans to head there early before the NIAR Hamfest (April 15th) to set up three transceivers, with two linears, using a Titanex V80DX low band vertical, a five band Hexbeam, a Cushcraft R7 and verticals for 30/40 meters. Most of Sigi's team is very well known for their low band activity. It was also mentioned that others may join the team. It is suggested to watch Sigi's Web page for updates at: http://www.dl7df.com/

ZD8, ASCENSION ISLAND. Jim, N6TJ, will be active as ZD8Z in the CQ WPX SSB Contest (March 25-26th) as a Single-Op/All-Band entry. QSL via VE3HO.

ZK1, SOUTH COOK ISLANDS. Olav, LA9VFA, will be active as ZK1VFA from Raratonga (OC-013), now through January 28th. Activity will be SSB and the digital modes. QSL via his home callsign.

ZL, NEW ZEALAND. Operators ZL2BSJ, ZL1AZE and possibly others will be active as ZL6QH during the CQWW 160m CW DX Contest as a Multi-Op entry.
QSL via the Bureau or ZL2AOH. PLEASE NOTE: Due to the presence of a local GPS differential correction system on 1818 kHz, the team will be unable to copy weak signals between 1816 and 1820 kHz.

ZP0, PARAGUAY. Operator Dale, N3BNA, will be active as ZP0R during the ARRL DX CW Contest (February 18-19th) as Single-Op entry. QSL via W3HNK.

If the transceiver chassis really is "floating", the answer is no.

Guess I don't understand what you mean by an impedance mismatch between halves of an antenna. Can you elaborate a bit, and how it causes current to get to the outside of the coax?

There's no reason a non-resonant long wire worked against ground should produce more current on the outside of a coax feedline than a resonant one. The conducted current on the outside of the coax is determined by the relative impedances to ground of the two available paths at the shield connection at the end of the coax. In the case of a grounded antenna, the ground system is one of the paths. The other is the outside of the coax. If the ground system is any good, its impedance is much lower than the outside of the coax, so very little current flows on the coax. Changing the "antenna" makes very little difference to the relationship between those paths, so it has very little effect on the current conducted to the outside of the feedline. You can find a more detailed explanation at http://eznec.com/Amateur/Articles/Baluns.pdf.

Unless you're using the shield strictly for electric field shielding at very low (like audio) frequencies, you should always connect the shield at both ends, with low inductance connections. Think of a rig with an SO-239 connector. There's current coming out of the center pin, and there's an equal amount flowing in the opposite direction on the inside of the shell part of the connector. And inside a coax, there are equal and opposite currents on the outside of the center conductor and the inside of the shield. If you connect a coax to the rig via a properly installed PL-259, all the current on the inside of the SO-239 shell ends up inside the coax shield, and all the current from the SO-239 center pin ends up on the coax center conductor. Both sets of conditions are satisfied, and there's no current left over to flow on the outside of the coax or the outside of the rig. But what happens if you cut the shield at the rig? Then the current on the inside of the SO-239 shell has nowhere to go but over the edge and over the outside of the rig. And the current on the inside of the coax shield flows over the edge of the coax and along its outside. Somehow there'll be a path between the two, by conduction or coupling -- otherwise the rig would see an infinite impedance and no current would flow at all. But you probably won't like the path the current takes. It'll cause radiation from whatever it flows on, and because of the path impedance, RF voltage drops will be created between the coax shield and the rig, and anything else in the path. You might be able to alter its path with "ground" wires and such, but you'll have a lot of trouble controlling it, and it'll always be flowing somewhere besides where it should be -- on the inside of the coax.

I just bought 75 LM3820 AM radio chips from B.G Micro at 12 cents each. The chips have some wierd Delco number on them, but they are the LM3820's. You have to buy them by the tube , 25 per tube for 3 bucks! It looks like by using other oscillator configurations, you can cover some short wave. I don't know how high the oscillator will run yet, but I had it up to 5 mhz last night using a ferrite antenna core for the coil core from a newer pocket radio. It had 30 turns of #28 for the primary, and 6 turns of #24 hook up wire of the secondary. With an MVAM108 diode, I could tune from about 2.5 mhz to 5 mhz. I'm in the process of making a couple other coils, one for AM starting with 60 turns, and another for short wave coverage up to 10mhz on a smaller core starting with 70 turns (cuz that's what fit on the core). The coils I'm using are larger, and will probably need shielding. Aluminum shields kill the oscillation, but brass works ok. I'll be using an FET detector satge, and I'll add a BFO for sSSB, and CW, and LM386, to start with, for audio.

I tried using a Red AM oscillator can, but it doesn't have enough range. I'm using varactor diodes for tuning. A black IF can with the capacitor removed has almost enough coverage.

I'm using the diagram from App note AN-147 as a guide to connetions of the chip. I do have the data sheet as well.

Thanks to all who replied -- I certainly appreciate everyone taking time to help me. Of course, as usually happens with newsgroups, the thread wandered somewhat from the original question -- which was how to route my coax and mount my rig so as to avoid firing the seat belt retractor.

I have solved the problem -- the dealer had a tech bulletin that told me to keep coax 12 inches from the retractor and to ground everything -- so -- I drilled a 1-inch diameter hole in the floor board under the driver's seat and installed a plastic plug in the hole. I drilled two 1/4-inch diameter holes in the plug through which I routed the coax -- one cable for HF, one for VHF/UHF. Grounded the negative power lead to the chassis in the engine compartment; grounded the rig (which is under the driver's seat) to the frame by loosening a seat mounting bolt and grounding one end of a pigtail to that bolt and the other end of the pigtail goes to the rig's chassis.

The stake hole mounts have mounting bolts in their bottoms. Remove the tail light assembly; drill a 5/8-inch hole in the bottom of the bracket in the stake hole; grind off the paint from around the hole with a Dremel tool; put star lock washers on the bolt that comes out the bottom of the stake hole mount and tighten the living shit out of the mounting bolt, thereby grounding the antenna mount to the chassis sheet metal. There are already factory-installed ground jumpers connecting the sheet metal to the frame.

Fired it up at full power and nothing bad happened; SWR looks good; ATAS-tunes normally; made a few contacts on HF, VHF, and UHF.

I'll post photos, etc., to my web site in a few days when I get it all cleaned up.

There a BIG different between me and Stern, first off you've never heard my bulletin because if you did you wouldn't of said what said

Internet, however the internet and radio are two different mediums and unlike radio and television the internet is not really bounded by (radio and television) are. As a matter of fact last year (2005) the US court of Appeal ruled twice that community standards do not apply to the internet, because the internet is international. Secondly I don't have a billion dollar contract with Sirus radio.

Actually, some of those sites are doing well, One now have over 40 members, thanks in part to Hongfire shuting down one of their Image logged by the search engines, but here's some advice don't except to be hit by a bunch of people after putting a website up, it isn't going to happen. It takes time, some times months and some times years.

You'd be somewhat better off running the power-ground wire all the way back to the battery, and connecting directly to the battery's negative post. Include a fuse in this line just before it connects to the battery negative.

Avoid using the body frame for high-current power supply ground return. It's too easy for noise from other portions of the electronics to get into your power, due to the non-zero resistance of the shared ground path.

Clamping a couple of RF-suppression ferrites onto each coax at various points along their runs might also help block, or dissipate, any RF which does try to come back along the coax.

Adding a corrosion-preventive antioxidant paste or cream between the chassis, washer, and bolt is a good idea, also. It'll help make sure that infiltration of oxygen and moisture does not cause this critical grounding junction to go high-Z in the future.

There are numerous such pastes/products on the market. The one I used is a copper-loaded grease marketed by Butternut, under the cutesie name "Butter-it's-not". You might be able to find an equally usable copper-grease at a good auto-supply store.

Thanks. I'll do all of that. I can pick up ferrites at Radio Shack and should be able to find the anti-oxidant paste at local auto parts place. In fact, local auto parts has big ferrites -- they sell them as noise suppressors for audio installations.

I took my guy to the movies last night to see Brokeback Mountain.
You know what? IT ISN'T ABOUT COWBOYS AT ALL! I WAS RIPPED OFF!

It is about sheepherders so there was no reason for those dudes to get into a sleeping bag together when they had all those sheep outside. Real sheepherders would have done like Todd and me do when we're in sheep country.

I could have worded that better. I meant that the coax is connected to the transceiver chassis but the transceiver's chassis is not connected to the car's chassis directly. I see why some folks took it to mean the coax braid at the transceiver isn't connected to anything.

Sorry for the confusion.

Why would that be the best arrangement? No steady state power comes from the battery. If you want the least voltage drop, you take a pair of wires back to the alternator, where the power originates. The only advantage of the battery connection might be lower alternator rectifier noise in the power, but that is pretty easy to filter out right at the alternator, before it gets out in the wiring harness and into the antenna.

HUH???? I've designed enough communication site power installations to know that the battery powers the equipment and the function of the alternator in a vehicle or the rectifier (power supply, in ham language) in a fixed intsallation is to recharge the battery "on the fly", so to speak. The current capacity of the battery is much greater than that os the charging device.

Any design that puts the load on the charging device rather than on the battery would be rejected out of hand. At best. both of them would be connectable (through switches or circuit breakers) to the load bus, with separate metering for the battery, the charger, and the load.

In your scheme the equipment would get no power when the alternator is not operating, or more clearly, if the equipment DOES get power, the power must be coming from the battery.

Think about it.

I've never heard of anyone hooking up auxiliary loads right at the alternator. I can imagine somebody hooking a secondary-battery feed at this point (in an RV, perhaps) but I don't think I've ever seen radios hooked up there.

I rather strongly suspect that you'd find the amount of "alternator whine" in the audio to be significant greater if you hook up the radio right at the alternator.

Every mobile-ham-radio installation guide I've ever read (including the owners' manuals) seems to recommend running heavy wires back to the battery.

I have yet to see "any" manual which suggests going to the "Alternator" for voltage to run a radio, be it Ham, CB, or Two Way or even just electronics books which may touch the subject of wiring radios or anything else for that matter - into vehicles. I don't know where this guy read his information, I'd love to know where the idea came from. My gosh, the whine is bad enough sometimes at the battery, let alone the Alternator - the mother of it. Most suggestions are to fuse both the positive and negative leads on the radio (going to the battery) - although you can get away often - with grounding the negative and fusing the positive to the battery (for best results) OR to some point to feed the 12 volts if the current supply is ample - ie the cigarette lighter or some other place people tend to use. "I" don't suggest that, but people do use them..... Of course - the latter would be for smaller hand held CBs or the like. Anything larger, you're pretty much left with only the Battery.

I don't recommend fusing only the hot side. Fuse both. It's safer.

Fusing the ground wire protects you against wiring faults. Consider what would happen if you don't do this, and your radio's chassis is grounded to the vehicle frame, and if the main grounding strap from the alternator to the battery comes loose at the battery end. Your rig's chassis, and its ground wire could end up being a major part of the ground-return current from the alternator to the battery. The ground wire may not be able to handle that much current, and might overheat or catch fire. If it's properly fused, the fuse will blow.

I'm with you - I was just alluding to - in some cases, like CBs, people get away with fusing only one lead. My personal opinion - fusing both sides is the only way to go and most manuals I've read "do" suggest "both leads fused".

I am using a Yaesu FT-857D. The power cord that comes with the radio is approx 8 feet long. At one end is the plug that matches the power jack on the radio. At the other end are TWO inline fuse connectors -- one in the red lead, one in the black lead -- with approx 10 inches of wire coming out of each fuse holder, bare at the end, to connect to the battery (or some other source of power). The inline fuse holders take standard automotive blade fuses. So -- it looks as though Yaesu intends for both positive and negative leads to be fused.

I think John is right, however I would never do it that way. The extra millivolts you pick up are going to be smothered in alternator noise and if large enough, might actually be too high for the radio. Radios are typically designed to run from 13.8 volts maximum, whereas alternators often put out more than that.

The additional few watts you get from your transmitter will not be noticeable in normal operation anyway.

If you connect the radio's negative lead (unfused) to the car's chassis you should be ok. A problem can occur if you connect the radio's unfused negative lead directly to the battery terminal, as is often advised.

If the car's ground wire from the battery to the car's chassis ever comes loose and you go to start the car, all the starter current will try to flow through your radio's negative lead and through your coax to where the coax is grounded at the antenna feed point. I have seen pictures of what this several hundred amps does to a radio and it's not pretty.

Most radios today are supplied with a power cord having a fuse in each lead for good reason. Don't defeat their purpose.

Rather like those good old days when you, Roger, and your daddy's "friends" used to sit around the collapsing porch and drink home-brewed beer and make you take your dirty underwear off for them. Remember that? You were the first boy in West Virginia to give Lap Dances to your step daddy's pals.

Why bother with old fashioned radio equipment when ISS is regularly on both Echolink and IRLP? While it's true that anyone with a 2M HT pretty much has all the equipment needed for an on-the-air contact, the time and footprint restrictions are too severe to make that a mode which is even practical for more than one trial contact. Tried it once and didn't particularly like it (144.49 MHz / 145.80 MHz).

Nope, I say the VoIP Echolink or IRLP method is much more reliable.

See http://www.rac.ca/ariss/oindex.htm for info on Echolink conference schedules. Apparently, the astronauts haven't gotten the message yet that "Echolink isn't real ham radio."

I want to put some solar panels on my RV to charge the house/radio batteries. Does anyone have a recommendation for a charge controller brand/model that won't generate RFI to the HF radio?

Thanks.

I guess it must be using a switch mode regulator...? Linear regulators tend to be less efficient/more lossy.

My initial workaround/though would be to use a shottkey blocking diode and dump the controller altogether. If the batteries are wet NiCd's they wont care too much about over voltage, just watch for boil off. You may also be able to devise an extra bank of diodes that switch in and out depending on solar panel output, but only switch it every few minutes. You will of course lose some efficiency.

Actually you do when the input is on 70 centimeters and the output is on 2 meters. That's what "crossband" means.

Becasue I LIKE "old fashioned radio equipment".

I like Amateur Radio because I LIKE radios.

Anyone can turn the computer on and "chat" with someone on the far side of the planet.

It takes a bit of skill to do it without wires.

I've worked MIR twice on that pair and had a blast.

I guess it's easy to "not like" if you don't have the requisite skills or capable staion to do it with.

> Nope, I say the VoIP Echolink or IRLP method is much more reliable.

Perhaps it is. And if that's what spins your propeller, mor power to you. But making a "contact" via Echolink is no more challenging that turning the light on when you enter a room.

Some can say that about FM, or SSB, or CW, or any other mode.
However anyone can turn the computer on and work Echolink. There's no skill in that.

Sorry, I thought we were talking about a vehicle electrical system. In a vehicle, the battery serves essentially one purpose, to start the engine. After that, everything runs from the alternator, which also recharges the battery over a period of time.

> The current capacity of the > battery is much greater than that os the charging device.

Are we talking about a transmitter that draws more current than an alternator can supply? If so, I think it is a poor arrangement. I wouldn't connect a transmitter that exceeded the output capability of the alternator, even if it meant I had to upgrade the alternator t oavoid it. I also wouldn't install a tranceiver in a vehicle without adding an RFI filter to the alternator. If it is too noisy to be connected as the power source, then it is too noisy to have connected to the wiring harness, in such proximity of a receiving antenna.

> Any design that puts the load on the charging device rather than on > the battery would be rejected out of hand.

Not by me, it wouldn't.

> At best. both of them > would be connectable (through switches or circuit breakers) to the

> the load.

In the automobiles I have experience with, the alternator connects directly to the power distribution bus with one branch of that bus going to the battery, as the recharge path. The battery also has a heavy connection directly to the starter relay, to start the engine, independent of that distribution system. Connecting a big load, whether headlights or transmitter directly to the battery will lower the battery voltage slightly, so that it does not recharge fully. All loads should branch from the alternator output, where the voltage is regulated, including the battery charging branch.

> In your scheme the equipment would get no power when the alternator > is not operating, or more clearly, if the equipment DOES get power, > the power must be coming from the battery.
> Think about it.

I'm thinking about it. You are saying that the transmitter draws more current than an alternator can deliver, with the engine running, but you intend to operate it without the engine running. I hope you pack jumper cables. ;-)

The LM3820's I bought cheap do work just fine. I didn't realize the scope probe was loading down the oscillator, keeping it from going above 5MHZm when that dawned on me, and I switched the probe to X10, I had the chip running at 13 mhz just with junk box coils.
So I have a cheap ass AM/SW radio for use with my ghost receivers. I'm using one yellow IF can, and two ceramic 455 khz filters in the IF chain. I used an FET detector, and there's enough audio straight out of the detector that I connected it to the line input of boom as a quickie audio amp.

The connections in the LM3820 data sheet seem incorrect, and would not work. I used the pin out I found in an app guide AN-174 (I think) for the LM1868. I'll check Monday when I get to work to make sure that app giude is correct. The other app guide was for an AM/FM system using the LM1868, and the LM3820 as the AM receiver. I used just a six foot wire for an antenna, instead of the tuned input as shown in the guides, and it works ok. I can e-mail a schematic of my conncetions if anyone interested.

Yes, Lloydie, Your brother and sister have confirmed your behavior.

..Roger has been banned from the Glen Dale and Wheeling movie theatres. Why? He spent seven dollars to see Brokeback Mountain and sat through six showings while never leaving the theater. Roger did take a break and cruised the men's room during intermission, but the theater security guards made him leave and return to his seat.
After 18 hours of this the guards made Roger leave because he was becoming overly excited at the pup tent scene. There was concern on their part that Roger would repeat a forgotten Pee Wee Herman scene of years back.
Roger had to be escorted from the theatre but vowed to return the next day with his ACLU representative.

Roger cannot wait until BrokeBack Mountain comes out on DVD so he and the Lavender Lads can watch it in the privacy of his Glen Dale home. There is sure to be a rollicking good time on Glen Haven Av. when that comes to pass.

Really? Then you should have an alternator which could supply the starter motor too, with that thinking.

The battery is there as a power source for intermittent loads. Use it.

Have you ever driven a car with a totally dead battery, after starting it with jumper cables and running entirely off the alternator? I have and it's not good. The battery is there for more than just starting the car. It also stores and smoothes the output from the alternator, much like a giant filter capacitor. Don't be afraid to use it as such.

Well done Frank!

Re the CRO loading. I quite often use the loosest coupling I can when aligning things, even to the point of touching the probe to an insulated part of the board or attaching a small "antenna" to the probe tip. Whether this works well depends on the frequency of course!

I described the separate wiring that allows large current draw from the battery, intermittently, for starting.

Of course, you can use the battery in ways the auto manufacturer did not intend. If you want to run a radio for long periods with the motor off, you can expect the battery life to be shortened, though.
Auto batteries are not deep cycle designs.

Agreed. But I prefer to design and install my own alternator RFI

All I have to say is it's ALL WRONG, but coming from a bunch of retard NAZI's from the south it's no suprise.

Birthdate: April 1, 1979

I was born on July 5, 1968...so it's WAY OFF in '79 I was the fifth grade, It was also in 1979 I started writing science fiction.

Birthplace: Bum-Fuck Iceland.

Again not true, I was born In Taylorville, Illinois. Where they came up with Iceland I don't really fucking know...I'm fourth generation Irish in this country....my family can trace their family roots as far back as 300-400 AD. I'm a member of the Ui Neil Dynasty, one of the oldest noble families in europe. my family ruled ireland to about 1600 to 1700 AD when they last their lands to the british. My family came to america in 1895 original from indiana they moved to Illinois in the early 1900's Education: Nimbuster University, Flunked his GED 121 times straight.

Not true, I went to Taylorville High School (1984-1987) then went to the SSU (now called the University of Illinois Springfield, and I'm currently attending LLCC (Lincoln Land Community College) where I'm going into web designing and graphic art. I'm thinking of going to the film school in Chicago and become a producer/director.

Occupation: Chronic Masturbator.

Nope, Student and part owner (with Jesse K9GO) of "Dogs on the Square" I think their mistaking me with Roger Wiseman

Accomplishments: Only known person to be hung up on by Hal twice in one show.

who's Hal?? I don't call any shows

Awards: Third Place Nimbuster Cocksucker of the Year 2006. Third place Nimbuster of the Year 2006. Secret member of the Johnny Cochran fan club.

Third place huh?? well I guess that's ok compare to the other two morons who won first and second place. NIM voting process has VERY LOW standards after all look at the scum that hangs out there.

The difference is the IR drop of the branch circuit from the power bus to the battery positive, including the fuse link in the harness.

Loading the battery for long periods when the alternator is running is likely (if the regulation point is at the power bus, not at the positive battery ternminal) to result in an under charged battery.

If the regulation point is the battery positive terminal, then the voltage at the distribution bus point will be pushed up to compensate for the unexpected IR drop in the battery branch, and will shorten the life of headlight and other bulbs. (The charging systen is designed so that the battery is normally recharged at a rather modest rate, not at the full alternator output capability.) This is a reason why the regulation point is usually at the distribution bus, not at the battery terminal.

Depends on whether the battery is fully charged or not. Immediately after starting the engine, the voltage difference will be at its greatest. After a few minutes running, the difference will be very small, unless a large current drain is occurring.

In other words, there is no single answer.

I made contacts through AMSAT way back in the early 70's when the OSCAR series of the 60's was being continued. It boiled down to being a novelty activity for hams, but one which only imitated what communications engineers and other professionals had pioneered long before hams used a satellite. In fact, most OSCAR satellites were stuffed into the unused space in government launch vehicles and were essentially CARE packages from those who were doing the real pioneering work.

I see. And I suppose that, when you decide to cross a river, you eschew the nearby bridges in favor of swimming across instead. Do you also use a horse instead of choosing to own a car?

> Some can say that about FM, or SSB, or CW, or any other mode.

Anyone can turn on a transceiver and push a button. There's no real skill in that either.

But there is skill in figuring out optimal voice sampling and compression techniques, combining them with the optimal IP protocol (UDP/IP), and then writing and installing VoIP software to accomplish that end, followed by setting up servers and repeaters to support it. In fact, I submit that the hams who embraced the Internet and developed those methods are among the most technically skilled members of the amateur community.

If all you do is push a button, then you're an appliance operator in my estimation.

Hello All,

At Friday 3 februari 2006 will be SUITSAT launched - from out of the ISS Space Station into space.
In the Space Suit is a a transceiver which send voice greetings in various languages.
Also SSTV pictures (mode: robot 36) will be send down to earth.
For those who received the SUISAT signals can request a special certificate!

Probably you can receive Suit Sat with a simple GP vertical.
Better is an yagi (or trie both to switch).
I hope amateurs will report here how strong they receive the suitsat signals (and what antenna you have used).

More info you can see on amsat or:
http://pd0rkc.ontwikkel.nl

Please publish this message on websites (unique event!).

The battery is not there to filter RFI - it's there to smooth out any ripples in the rectified but unfiltered alternator output in the AF range. AFAIK no automotive alternator has any internal filtering, and the battery is the best way to provide that filtering as compared to conventional lumped-constant LC filters.

* PLEASE NOTE: The report "could" contain "Pirate/SLIM" operations or more likely a "BUSTED CALLSIGN". As always, you never know - "Work First Worry Later" (WFWL).

4L, GEORGIA. David, 4L1DA, will be active in the CQ WW RTTY WPX Contest (February 11-12th) as a Single-Op/Single-Band (20m) entry. QSL via W7LPF.

8N, JAPAN (Special Event). To celebrate the ARISS contact with the Yoneda-nishi Elementary School in Takasago, Japan, look for special event station 8N3Y to be aired February 1-28th. QSL via JARL bureau.

9A, CROATIA. Chris, HA5X, will try to be active as 9A8XA between June 7-20th. His main QTH will be Mlini, near Dubrovnik, but he is expected to occasionally do some IOTA/IOCA activity depending on the weather, mood and family. QSL via HA5X.

ANTARCTIC NEWS.....
ANTARCTIC SPECIAL EVENT. To celebrate the 10th anniversary of the Ukrainian Antarctic station, the "Academic Vernadsky Base" (WAP UKR-01), several special callsigns have been issued by the Ukrainian authorities to some of the operators who were active in the past years from the Ukrainian Base. Look for activity between February 3-12th, by the following operators: EM10KY by UT1KY - QSL via IK1QFM
EM10UA by UT7UA - QSL via home callsign
EM10LV by UR8LV - QSL via home callsign
EM10HO by UX2HO - QSL via home callsign
EM10KGG by UR5KGG - QSL via home callsign
EM10KY is actually referenced for the WAP as WAP-33; the other stations will be referenced shortly, and they will be valid for the WAP Awards, including the brand new WAP A.S.E.A. of the ARI Cassino.

3RD AAW NEWS. The Worldwide Antarctic Program (WAP) 3rd Antarctic Activity Week (AAW) will take place between February 20-26th. The annual event is to promote world-wide interest in the Antarctic and to protect this continent. The following stations have announced they will be operating from various Antarctic bases, as well as special event stations, in this year's AAW:
4O3ANT (WAP-22) II8ANT (WAP-18) IU0ANT (WAP-19) TM7ANT (WAP-34)
AT3ANT (WAP-21) IO2MET (WAP-23) TM0TAF (WAP-43) TM8ANT (WAP-14)
II0ANT (WAP-16) IO6ANT (WAP-28) TM1ANT (WAP-37) TM8TAF (WAP-42)
II1ANT (WAP-32) IO8ANT (WAP-13) TM2ANT (WAP-40) TM9ANT (WAP-39)
II2ANT (WAP-30) IO0ANT (WAP-35) TM3ANT (WAP-38) TM0ANT (WAP-08)
II4ANT (WAP-17) IR0ANT (WAP-10) TM4ANT (WAP-41) TO2ANT (WAP-26)
II5ANT (WAP-25) IR1ANT (WAP-02) TM5ANT (WAP-29) UE6ANT (WAP-24)
II7ANT (WAP-12) IR8ANT (WAP-05) TM6ANT (WAP-31)

Please listen to operator's instructions for QSLing. More information is available on the AAW at: http://www.ddxc.net/wap
Also, look at the ARI Cassino new WAP "Antarctic Special Event Award" (ASEA) at: http://digilander.libero.it/aricassino Stations listed above and other special event stations qualify for the ASEA.

CN, MOROCCO. Jim, W7EJ, will be active as CN2R between March 16-29th. He will be active in the CQ WW WPX SSB Contest (March 25-26th) as Single-Op/ Single-Band (80m) entry. His activity outside the contest will be on the WARC bands and 6 meters EME. QSL via W7EJ.

E2, THAILAND. Operator Tony, E21IZC, to be active from Thailand in the CQ WPX SSB Contest (March 25-26th) as a Single-Op/All-Band entry. QSL via E21IZC (QRZ.com).

FO & FO/M, FRENCH POLYNESIA AND MARQUESAS ISLANDS. By the time you read this, Ely, HA9RE, is expected to be active from Nuku Hiva, Marquesas Islands

(OC-027 and DIFO FO-023), between January 28th and February 18th. His callsign for this operation will be FO/HA9G. He will also be active for about ten days from Ahe Atoll, Tuamutu Archipelago (OC-131 and DIFO FO-028), French Polynesia, starting February 20th. Activity is planned for 160-10 meters CW, SSB and RTTY. QSL via HA8IB: Szabo Karoly, Aradi u. 42, H-5525 Fuzesgyarmat, Hungary.

FT5W, CROZET ISLAND (Update). Gildas, TU5KG, who is now back in the Austral Sea (in Southern Indian Ocean) on a fishing boat, has received the callsign FT5WL for his upcoming Crozet activity. Start looking for him possibly after February 3rd. He is expected to travel around the Crozet Island area until early March before heading back around Kerguelen area again until the end of March.

HAM IN SPACE NEWS. Congratulations to International Space Station (ISS) Commander Bill McArthur, KC5ACR, for achieving "Worked All States" (WAS) and "Worked All Continents" (WAC)from NA1SS. He contines to work on his DXCC as well. On Sunday afternoon, January 29th, just as this was being written, your editor heard Bill state he now has 95 countries. ADDED NOTE: Your editor would like to thank Bill for the QSO on Tuesday morning, January 24th.
PLEASE NOTE: An interesting event will be taking place this week. OPDX readers may want to drag out the old 2 meter HT for this event. Bill McArthur and his crewmate, Valery Tokarev, are scheduled to do a space walk on February 3rd and will release "SuitSat-1". As the "ARRL Letter" states, "--quite possibly the most unusual Earth satellite ever. SuitSat consists of a surplus Russian Orlan space suit converted into a transmit-only satellite with an FM downlink frequency of 145.990 MHz. Using the callsign RS0RS, it will transmit voice messages, telemetry and an SSTV image on a nine-minute cycle as it orbits Earth. The batteries powering the satellite are expected to last about a week, and SuitSat's free-floating, decaying orbit should cause it to re-enter Earth's atmosphere after some six weeks in space. The SuitSat signal should be strong enough to hear using a VHF transceiver or scanner and a simple antenna." For more details on this event and pictures of SuitSat, please visit the following Web pages (Plenty of interesting reading!):

HB0, LIECHTENSTEIN. Kasimir, DL2SBY, will be active again as HB0/DL2SBY from February 25th through March 4th. Activity will be on 160-10 meters, CW, SSB, RTTY and PSK31.

IOTA NEWS.....
EU-125. Operators Jef/ON4ACA, Francis/ON6LY, Marcel/ON6UQ and possibly others will be active from Roemoe Island (DIA NS-001 for the Danish Islands Award) from July 29th to August 5th. They will be signing OZ/homecall and hope to have a Danish callsign for the IOTA Contest (July 29-30th). QSL via their home callsigns.

More information is forthcoming.

NA-062. Operator Jeff, VA3QSL, will be active as VA3QSL/W4 from Key West (USI FL-040S, Monroe county, Florida), February 13-16th.
His activity will be near the IOTA frequencies on 20-10 meters SSB. QSL via his home callsign, direct with SASE/SAE + postage, or through the bureau.

NA-178. Rick/K6VVA and Mike/K9AJ will be active as homecall/6 from SouthEast Farallon Island, February 14-16th. Activity will be on 40-10 meters CW/SSB. QSL via N6AWD, by the bureau or direct to: Fred Stenger, 6000 Hesketh Dr., Bakersfield, CA, 93309 USA. Visit their Web page at:
http://www.k6vva.com/iota/na178

SA-070. Operators Mario/CE6NE and Marco/CE6TBN will be active as CE5S from Santa Maria Island (DICE reference ICE-502 for the Chilian Islands Award), February 8-10th. Activity will be on 40/20/17/15 meters SSB with some CW. QSL via CE6NE: Mario Aranguiz, P.O. Box 866, Temuco, Chile. More information is available at:
http://www.ce6ne.cl/stamaria.htm
ADDED NOTE: This operation also counts for Isla Santa Maria Lighthouse (WLOTA LH-0543).

J7, DOMINICA. Operators George/K5KG (J75KG), Ron/KK9K (J79RV), Jim/WI9WI (J79WI), John/W4IX (J79) and Charles/K1XX (J79) will be active from February 11-21st. The group plans to be active as J7OJ in ARRL DX CW Contest (February 18-19th) as a Multi-? entry. QSL J7OJ and J75KG via KU9C. QSL all others via their home callsigns.

JW, SVALBARD. Mathias, JW5NM, will be active from Spitsbergen Island (EU-026 and WLOTA LH-0125) in the ARRL DX CW Contest (February 18-19th) as a Single-Op entry. QSL via the information at QRZ.com.

JW, SVALBARD. Francois, F8DVD, is getting ready for his 10th DXpedition to the Arctic. Look for him between March 24-31st, to be active as JW/F8DVD from the Longyearbyen ARC, located on the Spitsbergen Island, 78° North, and about a thousand kilometers far from the geographic North Pole (EU-026, WAZ 40 and Grid Square JQ78TF). His activity will be on all HF bands both CW and SSB. Francois will also enter the CQ WPX SSB Contest (March 25-26th) as a Single-Op/Single-Band (20m)/High-Power entry. His equipment consists of an ICOM 751 and a 500 watts PA, into a 5 elements yagi on a 30 meters high tower. QSL via his home callsign, through the French REF-Union Bureau or direct, w/SAE + 1 IRC (or 1 USD for EU, and 2 USD for elsewhere) to:
Francois Bergez, 6, Rue de la Liberte, F-71000 MACON, France.

NP2/WP2, U.S. VIRGIN ISLANDS. Tony, N2TK, will be at the Windwood, WP2Z, contest station on St. Croix from February 22nd through March 8th. He will be active in the ARRL DX SSB Contest (March 4-5th). QSLs for WP2Z go to KU9C. Tony mentioned that he will probably also make some contacts during the previous weekend on the CQWW 160M SSB Contest (February 25-26th).

Before and after the contests he will use the N2TK/NP2 callsign. QSL this call to his home callsign. Tony mentions that this may be the last contest from Windwood as it is to be sold by the end of March.

OM, SLOVAK REPUBLIC. Members of the LBCC will be active as OM7M in the ARRL DX CW Contest (February 18-19th) as a Multi-2 entry. QSL via OM3PA.

PJ4, NETHERLANDS ANTILLES. Operators John/K4BAI and Jeff/KU8E will be active from Bonaire (SA-006) as PJ4/homecall from February 14-21st. They will be operating the in the ARRL DX CW Contest (February 18-19th) as PJ4R. Please QSL PJ4R via K4BAI.

PY0S, ST. PETER AND ST PAUL ROCKS. Joca, PY0S/PS7JN, is now active from the scientific Brasilian base on St. Peter and St. Paul Rocks until the end of the first week in February. The base is composed of a small house that does not support more than 4 people. Joca's friend Renner, PY7RP, was informed that due to a big storm on the rocks this past weekend, Joca's PC has gotten wet and stopped working. During the day, the sea waves often collide with the rocks making a big spray of salt water all over the rocks. Fortunately, Joca's radio was in a safe place during the storm (under the radio table), and it seems the radio has not suffered any kind of damage. Joca will keep working on SSB with just 100w using a 160m dipole tuned for on all other bands. However, he is now logging on paper and there will be no more digital mode activity until he repairs his PC. INTERESTING NOTE: Joca has made a QSO with the International Space Station (ISS) on Saturday, using a portable VHF radio with just some watts of power.

QSL INFO AND NEWS.....
QSL BUREAU ACTIVITY ON A DECLINE? Jay Slough, K4ZLE, W8 Incoming QSL Bureau Manager, provided OPDX with his annual report on the ARRL's 8th Area Bureau (2005) activities. The ARRL Central 8th Area Incoming QSL Bureau received approximately 110,905 QSL cards in 2005 for redistribution. This is down almost 20% compared to 138,236 handled in 2004. They handled 154,054 cards in 2003. From these numbers and trends, you can see that LoTW and decreasing sunspots are affecting QSL volumes. (Could it also be a decreasing population of active DXers?) The monthly breakout is as follows:
Jan. • 6,361 May • 16,102 Sep. • 4,676
Feb. • 8,083 Jun. • 5,417 Oct. • 4,387
Mar. • 10,401 Jul. • 11,321 Nov. • 18,773
Apr. • 8,947 Aug. • 10,891 Dec. • 5,5466
PLEASE NOTE: It would be interesting to hear from other area QSL Bureaus to see if they are experiencing the same decline. QSL Bureau Managers are welcome to send a small report to OPDX.

Phil, G3SWH, is pleased to announce that he has taken over the QSLing duties for 9G5XA and 3C5XA effective immediately. He has copies of all the past logs and is awaiting delivery of cards from the operator, G3XAQ. Direct requests with SAE and adequate return postage is preferred, but E-mail and bureau requests will also be processed, but please be aware that the bureau system takes a very long time! Phil's E-mail address is: phil@g3swh.demon.co.uk 7Q7RM LOG CLOSING. Allan, G0IAS, QSL Manager for Ron MacFarlane, 7Q7RM, who died last year, has announced that he will permanently close the logs on Ron's many years of operation from Malawi later this year. If you need a card, it is suggested that you contact him soon.

QSL HS0ZDJ via W2YR. John, W2YR, was operating as HS0ZDJ in the CQ WW 160 Meters Contest this past weekend from Pattaya Beach, Thailand, about 180 km south of Bangkok as Single-Operator/High-Power entry. ADDED NOTE: Permission was applied for and was received from Thailand's National Telecommunications Commission (NTC) on Monday, January 23rd, for operations on 160 meters during the CQ Worldwide 160 Meters CW Contest last weekend (January 28-29th) with a frequency allocation of 1800-1825 kHz. Several Thailand-based stations were expected to be active during this contest, including RAST club station HS0AC (QRZ.com address) and HS0ZGL (QSL via G3TMA).

Logs for Gildas, TU5KG, last activity from Gabon as TR8CR are now available at: http://LesNouvellesDX.free.fr

SA3/SM3, SWEDEN. Operators Ulf/SM3RAB and Tomas/SM3WMU will be active as SM3D in the ARRL DX CW Contest (February 18-19th) as a Multi-Single/High-Power entry. Both operators will also be active as SA3D in the ARRL DX SSB Contest (March 4-5th) as a Multi-Single entry. QSL both activities via SM3WMU; bureau is preferred.

SPECIAL EVENT. Pete Rayer, ISWL Life Vice President, wants to remind everyone that the International Shortwave League (ISWL) continues with their 60th (Diamond) Anniversary celebrations throughout the year. If you missed the "GB6SWL" activity this past weekend, look for it to be active again on February 4-5th and 11-12th. Herbie, G6XOU, will be the main operator from Walton on the Naze, Essex. Other February GB6SWL activities are scheduled as follows:
February 18-19th - Dick, M5DIK, will be the main operator from Watford, Hertfordshire.

February 25-26th - Phil, G4DMS, will be the main operator from Towcester, Northamptonshire.

Also look for GB60SWL to be active on Sunday, February 12th, from the Harwell ARS Rally at Didcot, Oxfordshire. For more details, including the QSL information and Awards, please visit: http://www.iswl.org.uk

TI, COSTA RICA. Operators Mike/W9RE, Mark/N5OT, Mike/NT6X and Hal/N4GG will be active as TI5N for ARRL DX CW Contest (February 18-19th) as a Multi-2 entry. QSL via W3HNK. The team will also be active as TI5/homecall on all bands from February 14-25th. QSL via the operator's home callsign.

V3, BELIZE (IOTA Op). Gerd/DJ4KW and Gisela/DK9GG currently in Belize as V31YN and V31GW, respectively, will activate Southwater Caye (NA-180), February 1-8th as V31YN/P and V31GW/P. Activity will be on 40 meters and higher on CW and RTTY. QSL via their home callsigns.

V4, ST. KITTS AND NEVIS. Operatots Bob/AA1M and Mike/W1USN will be active as V44/homecall from the island of St. Kitts between March 2-10th. Activity will be on all bands 80-10 meters CW, SSB and PSK31. All QSLs go to their home callsigns.

WP3, PUERTO RICO. Alfredo, WP3C, will be active in the CQ WW RTTY WPX Contest (February 11-12th) as a Single-Op/All-Band/Low-Power entry. His activity will also count for the WLOTA as LH-2802. QSL via W3HNK.

YI, IRAQ (Remote Station). Brad, K6WR, informs OPDX the W7DXX InterNet Remote Base Group now has an InterNet Remote Base system operating in Baghdad, Iraq, under the callsign YI9DXX. It is active on 75 meters in the DX window about 23 kHz and on 20 meters with 13-16 kHz. For more details on the operation, please visit: http://www.w7dxx.com

ZK1, SOUTH COOK ISLANDS. Jim, W1EMT, has comfirmed dates to be here between April 29th through May 20th. No other details were provided.

I knew that - what is the quantitative difference between the voltage at the alternator and the voltage at the battery?

How am I to know either the branch wiring resistance between the alternator and the battery in your car, or the current you intend to draw from the battery while the alternator is running? Some have been talking about drawing more current than the alternator can supply.

The battery is definitely a part of any alternator filter. But putting a good high frequency capacitor right on the alternator output terminal to the case, and an inductor rated for full alternator output current between the alternator and distribution system (to which the battery is connected) and a second RF bypass at the distribution branching point, back to the alternator case, to block any RF leakage exiting the transceiver supply leads from getting out into the wiring harness, provides a huge reduction of rectifier recovery generated RF (through both the transceiver power leads and from direct radiation from the wiring harness) and 3 phase rectification generated ripple.

That is my run on sentence for today.

The battery is the low frequency part of the output capacitor in this pi filter.

It just seems strange to me to invest all that money in a powerful transceiver and a custom installation and skip these three vital parts.

I apologize for giving you that false impression.
This group appears loaded with those, and has no need for another.
I was being a person who had an opinion for some particular and stated reasons, and was challenging this group to show me my mistakes.

No joy, so far.

What I have gotten is lots of "Thats not the way we do it.", "That's not the way the experts say to do it." "You are wrong." and "I know more than you do."

But back to your question, I assumed that you are qualified to measure the wiring resistance between your alternator and battery and also calculate (or read the manual for) the supply current of your radio, and know ohm's law. So you should be able to tell me the difference in the voltage between your alternator and battery. You might also estimate what the ampacity of that branch wire (with fusible link) is, based on the wire gauge of the link. If that current is anything near your radio's draw, you might worry about operating your radio through that link, especially right after starting the engine, when the battery is recharging through it, also. Replacing that piece of wire is an onerous task in many cars.

So nice for you!

Well, that is one hypothetical problem with my suggestion that doesn't apply to those 3 or 4 vehicles. Perhaps car makers have had to reduce alternator noise (e.g. use soft recovery diode bridges) to serve the built in receivers and all the other electronics.

At some place there is a receiver and a transmitter operating on different bands in order to operate the ISS crossband repeater.

YOU may not have it at your "station"...However it's still required. You're simply acting as the remote operator of someone else's Amateur station.

Which does not speak to your station NOW. Since you do not include a callsign, all I can do is "assume" that this is a bit of blustery buffoonery by Lennie the Licenseless or someone like him

Nope. But then neither of them is "radio". I am a licensed Amateur RADIO operator because I enjoy operating RADIOS.

If I were an Olympic swimmer I just might cross that river IN it rather than over it, and if I were Amish, I'd use that horse to get around rather than a car.

OK.

Just turn on a radio and push a button. Any button.

Talk to anyone without selecting the right frequency, split, mode, antenna, etc etc etc ...?!?!

Or does it take a bit of knowledge and skill to get that radio working into a proper antenna, on the proper frequency to actually make that contact...?!?!

Did you make your alleged OSCAR contacts by just "pushing a button", or did you have to know a bit about Kleperian tables, AOS/LOS schedules, polarization techniques, Doppler effect...?!?!

I have never seen it recommended to connect a radio to anywhere but at the battery terminals. Even if the radio were to be connected to a junction box designed for this purpose some distance from the battery you never want the alternator to connect to that same junction. Having anything connected to the wire carrying alternator current will induce noise into that power line due to the resistance of the alternator charging wire.

Most wires coming from the alternator to the battery are rather small,
#10 or #8 wire at best. There is significant voltage drop in that

wire. The noise from the alternator is not just from the average current causing a voltage drop but from the peak current which is much higher.

Every time you turn on the headlights the noise will get worse if the radio is connected directly to the alternator because of additional voltage drop on that line.
If there should be a break in the alternator wire to the battery the surge from the alternator will most likely damage the radio.

The alternator regulator most likely would not be able to handle the rapidly changing load of an SSB radio smoothly causing additional spikes as it tries to regulate.

Need more reasons? :>)

A more common problem I'd be concerned about would be "load dump", which occurs when a high-amperage load on the car's electrical bus stops drawing current abruptly - for example, if the headlights are switched off while the engine's running. It's common for this to result in a large voltage spike out of the alternator, before the regulator has time to reduce the alternator output. Spikes of several dozen volts are common - my recollection is that auto-electronics manufacturers engineer their devices to be able to stand 50 volts at their power-supply terminals for a brief moment.

I would expect that the magnitude of this spike would be significantly greater at the alternator terminals, than it is at the battery, due to the series resistance and series inductance of the battery-to-alternator cable, and the battery's low impedance. It's possible that a load (e.g. radio) which could survive a load-dump spike if wired to the battery, could be damaged by a higher-amplitude spike from the same load-dump event which might occur right at the alternator.

It seems clear that the standard, recommended practice is to wire radios to the battery. It also seems that the original poster is not satisfied with the justification for this practice (either by convention, recommendation of authority, or theoretical arguments posed to far), and that he has some arguments from first principles which he feels justify a different approach (wiring to the alternator).

In the end, for the original poster to be satisfied (either that standard practice is the best practice, or that his alternate suggestion of wiring directly across the alternator is actually superior) I suspect that he's going to have to fall back on that old mainstay of scientific discovery - he's going to have to experiment.

He'll have to wire several different radios, of various makes and models, up to [1] a double-fused heavy-gauge feed from the battery posts, and [2] an equivalent feed brought back to alternator and its ground. He can then determine whether his alternate approach actually delivers more useful current to the radio, whether the transmitter powers are actually higher, whether there is indeed more alternator whine or RFI on the transmitted signal or the received audio, and whether the radios show any differential in their ability to survive a few months of usage and load-dump spikes without losing their Magic Blue Smoke.

Actual results (either way) trump speculative arguments.

I know of a guy who had an HF radio fry when the voltage to it exceeded 16 VDC - not once, but twice - doing some major damage (a few parts and lots of dollars). He didn't know what caused it the first time to protect it before the second. He thought it was just a fluke (the first time). The point is, anything beyond the rated 13.8 was running a risk - even if accidental. And as argued in previous posts, the whine coming straight from the mother of it - has to be a bear.

I would like to know - where this idea hails from - to begin with, how long "John" has been doing it, how many radios and/or alternators fried from it.

Also, I don't think any or all of us are saying we're all right and you - "John" - are all wrong. It just seems NONE OF US - have ever heard of this being done. WHERE - what book, teacher, etc - got you on the track of doing it this way???? We just all (except you) seem to be in agreement with the way "we" were taught. Maybe you could think of it as say - John Glenn explaining flying a rocket to a cave man. The concept new - unheard of. Not that it hasn't been done - you've said so yourself, ya got to be a good "salesman" to get it across to the masses who've yet to see. You have to know - anything "new" - be it a new drug to fight disease, technique to do surgery quicker and less painless - or Electronics techniques or measurements - will meet resistance until proven.

Maybe - if any of you out there have access to a junk car that runs yet, and you're not afraid to experiment, can grab some junk (but working CBs/2 way radios) - give it a whirl and report back with your own test results. As Dave Platt said in the post above - "Actual results (either way) trump speculative arguments."
I don't have a junk car to try it with..... Maybe I'll go to a junk yard and try to pick one up cheap..... try it a few times. I'd love to see how this works - maybe I can become a believer.

Sure it is.

At some point in time there HAS to be a crossband operating Amateur Radio station to make this work. The ISS repeater is listening on 70 centimeters. It's retransmitting on 2 meters. THAT is crossband operation.

SOMEone had to take the time to set up the gear, put the antennas up, etc etc etc to make it work. There are terrestrial Amateur RADIO stations that are operating in that configuration.

The "slughtist"...?!?!?

More made up words, Markie.

GET A DICTIONARY!

And as for the "disagreeing", I wasn't the one who initiated that exchange. All I wanted to know was who in our "circle" were set up to work ISS.

How's that?

Since you snipped the relevent parts of the paragraphs, all is left is something for you to try and snipe at.

Didn't work.

No fight, Markie. Someone without the cajones to identify him/herself throws in some slap-in-the-face comments to a straight forward, no "insults" post.

I appreciate that some people like using VoIP over real radios.
I've never once said "that's not real Ham Radio". However "Larry" here wanted to dig in and try to impress us with how "modern" his way is over direct contact communication with the ISS via Amateur Radio.
That's MY prefered way of communicating, and if he cares to have his preferences respected, he didn't need to dive in like he did. And in the long run, "my" way still requires a bit more skill and technique than Larry putting a sound card in his pooter.

His comments have Lennism written all over them. That's not to say that Lennie wrote them, it's just the same "ideal". That YOU were so quick to jump in and "defend" them only reinforces that concept.

It might well have been the load dump phenomenon Dave described. The cause of load dump is that at any given time, the alternator contains quite a bit of energy. If a good part of the load is abruptly removed from the alternator, the energy is "dumped" into whatever is left connected to it. The result can be several tens of volts or more, with the capability of supplying a lot of current. A common cause of load dump is loose battery terminals, and this might be what happened to the fellow with the blown rigs. The safest thing is to connect the rig directly to the battery posts, not the connectors or connecting wires. Long ago I bought and built a Heathkit SSB mobile rig, and I recall drilling holes in the ends of the battery posts and (gently) driving in some special terminals that came with the mobile supply.

I'll join the chorus in recommending against connecting a rig anywhere but at the battery, and add my recommendation that the connection be made directly to the posts. As several others have said, the battery does much more than start the car. Without it you've got a very nasty supply with the potential to do serious damage.

An additional reason to connect to a point with the lowest Thev. equiv. resistance (battery terminals) has to do with turning off inductive loads. A student of mine told me he once measured just over -100 volts on the line to a windshield wiper motor when the motor was turned off at just the right time. (Storage scopes are desirable.) That system was not put into production.

Another story has to do with the turret motor in a tank. When the turret stopped rotating the resultant voltage spike would destroy all of the tank's electronics. (Talk about concentrating one's mind!) The temporary solution - since the problem was discovered late - was to buy huge zener diodes from Delco Radio (as it was then called) and place them across the 28 volt line.

My INITIAL question was about operating the CROSSBAND REPEATER in the first place, and nothing you have posted here changes any of that.

Your "uplink" frequencies are accurate ONLY for direct voice contacts with the crew or packet uplinks to the NA1SS autobot...NOT the repeater.

If you wish to work the CROSSBAND REPEATER you must have the requisite equipment (unless, of course, you're just going to use someone ELSE'S equipment by using Echolink.....But you are STILL operating CROSSBAND)

You ARE "bloviating".

I've pointed out in each and every post where I was discussing the crossband REPEATER and you keep trying to discuss something else.

The ONLY Amateur Radio voice repeater on the ISS is the CROSSBAND one.

And a "####ing contest" certainly WAS your objective when you found it necessary to "answer" an inquiry with answers that were, in their very nature, confrontational and NOT within the parameters of the

Thank you for discussing principles and effects.

Agreed, that the alternator does not produce pure DC, so the voltage will not be quite as quiet as it is at the other end of the several feet of wire that connects to the battery positive. (But to paraphrase Ceeil Moore's question to me, earlier) Do you have any idea, quantitively how much voltage you are talking about? THe ripple current in the output of the alternator sjhould be a few percent of the DC, at most, with some high frequency pings caused by rectifier reverse recovery. Adding a rather small PI filter is very effective at reducing all this no a much lower value. And the small charging branch to the battery cuts the other way, also. If you draw significant current from the battery, the battery's voltage is held lower than the alternator voltage by the IR drop of that wire. And that drop lowers the charge state of the battery.

Now, you may just have hit upon the one factor that trumps every other minor effect. Unfortunately, the most common cause of load dump voltage damage to automotive electronics is caused by a loose battery terminal. So, till you solve that problem, you are not gaining much insurance by moving your connections to the battery terminal.

> The alternator regulator most likely would not be able to handle the > rapidly changing load of an SSB radio smoothly causing additional

Is any radio not equiped with input bypass capacitors? I am skeptical. If this were the case, the radio would not tolerate feet of wire in the power circuit. Do you have a schematic of any DC powered radio that does not show some storage at the DC power input?

Again, we are not talking about powering from an alternator with no battery attached (except for a terminal comng off the battery), only moving the power point to the other end of the battery charging branch wire (that 2 or 3 feet of 10 gauge wire you mentioned earlier (with, possibly a fuse link section in it) so that the average current arrives from the alternator, and only a stabilizing effect on the ripple arrives from the battery through that wire.

> Need more reasons? :>)

Who knows? If you got 'em, I am happy to think about 'em.

I want to thank you, again, for taking time to think (in print) about what is going on in this system and what can go wrong. This has been helpful.

This is an effect that is well worth discussing and understanding, thoroughly.
The load dump (with battery connected) would be a very slight thing, if the alternator could react instantaneously to load changes. But like any feedback control system, it has a maximum frequency that it can react. The electronic excitation regulator is quite fast at detecting the slight rise in system voltage following a load reduction (headlights turned off), but the magnetic field around the rotor takes more time to decay after the excitation regulator decides to cut its current. During that time, the alternator ramps its output current down from what the load curent was before the dump to what it is after the dump. So there is a few 10s of milliseconds when the battery has to absorb the extra current. And that pushes the voltage across it up.
The opposite effect occurs (and worse because ocold filaments draw almost 10 times the normal current) when the headlights are first turned on. There is also a wiring system inductive effect that adds an additional but very brief (microseconds) peak to each of those excursions.

I want to understand why the recommended way is best, all things considered. I see some positives and some negatives, and judged, on balance that the "normal" way was not necessarily the best way. But, the load dump factor may outweigh all the others, if it causes damage. I'm not so sure it does, but this diuscussion is helping me weigh it.

All the principles involved should include only known science. As long as I don't miss anything, the probvlem should be solvable without reinventing electrical principles by experiment. But a few accurate measurements of the voltage spikes at both the battery terminals and DC bus distribution point are probably not a bad idea, in any particular car.

We totally agree on this. Argue with anyone but reality. ;-)

Thank you for supplying an important missing piece of this puzzle.
I would add that if your battery starts to get a little flakey and the voltage is sagging pretty low during starting, you can have a large increase in the load dump voltage at the battery, even if you have made the seperate connections you describe, just because of the increase in the battery impedance.

One of the most common electrical system problem in cars is loose battery terminals, and I'll bet not one person in a hundred, that installs separate leads to the battery, terminates them as you describe. So when I hear stories of a load dump causing damage, I always wonder about how clean and tight those terminals were.

I replaced my original equipment GMC pickup battery with a Sears Die-Hard with four ternmials. Two of the terminals are the standard GMC terminals on the side and two of the terminals are old-style posts on top. I tie my transceiver to the two posts on top.

Neat idea!

I've noticed that some of the Optima batteries (e.g. the blue-top dual-application type) come with two sets of battery posts - standard car-type posts, and smaller (threaded - SAE?) studs. Might be a good idea to connect radios to the threaded studs, using heavy-duty ring terminals on the ends of the wires.

Most radios do not have much for DC line filtering in them. Maybe a 500 to 1000 mfd cap if that. With a current draw of around 20 amps for the typical transmitter 1000 mfd is not much capacitance at 12 volts.

As to the "load dump" problem, when the radio draw swings from around 1 amp to 20 amps at an audio rate I have to believe that the alternator regulator would have a hard time keeping up and not allowing overshoot or holes in the supply current.

Alternator filters can help filter out alternator noise but some times they fail to do so even when the radio is fed directly from the battery.

I have one ancient but probably still valid reference to alternator load dump. It indicates that it can be simulated by connecting a 6000 uF capacitor charged to 120 volts to the system. The result is a 120 volt spike with a decay time of several tens of ms. (The reference doesn't show the load current or impedance, but presumably this is with a typical automotive load and wiring system.) It also shows how a so-called "'A' line filter" -- an L network of 200 - 400 uH and 1000 uF reduces the peak voltage to a mere 40 volts but with a stretched decay time. The conclusion is that robust automotive electronic devices should be able to withstand this. I got this from an app note for a National audio amplifier IC which was designed to be used in automotive applications and so can withstand momentary 40 volt spikes.

(snip)

If I had a radio that had a 20 ampere power swing through the supply leads at audio frequencys, I would consider it a poor choice to run those power leads more than a few inches without adding some serious storage at the radio end of the wires, just to reduce the IR (reduce peak amps to something closer to average) and inductive drop of the power wires. The same applies to an audio amplifier of similar current draw. It is very common for large audio amplifiers to have serious capacitance at their end of the power wires. This also reduces the peak voltage during a load dump.

just a word of advice, your ISP is now aware of your intent. should you carry it out, I am fairly certain that they will take action against you do it and you'd better find yourself another ISP.

743. 30 Steps for all New Hams

Thanks to WA8ULX for original post.
KB7ADL

The 30 Steps below will help all New Hams, it will also help you to find others just like yourself. These 30 steps should also be added to the present writtens.

Step One: Use as many "Q" signals as possible. Yes, I know they were invented solely for CW and are totally inappropriate for two meter FM, but they are fun and entertaining. They keep people guessing as to what you really meant. I.E. "I'm going to QSY to the phone." Can you really change frequencies to the phone? QSL used to mean, "I am acknowledging receipt", but now it appears to mean, "yes" or "OK". I guess I missed it when the ARRL changed the meaning. It is also best to use "OK" and "QSL" together. Redundancy is the better part of Lid-dom.

Step Two: Never laugh when you can say "HI HI". No one will ever know you aren't a long time CW rag-chewer if you don't tell them. They'll think you've been on since the days of Marconi.

Step Three: Utilize an alternative vocabulary. Use words like "destinated" and "negatory". It's OK to make up your own words here. I.E. "Yeah Tom, I "pheelbart zaphonix" occasionally myself."

Step Four: Always say "XX4XXX" (Insert your own call) "for I.D." As mentioned in Step One, anything that creates redundancy is always encouraged. That's why we have the Department of Redundancy Department. (Please note that you can follow your call with "for identification purposes" instead of "for I.D." While taking longer to say, it is worth more "LID points".

Step Five: The better the copy on two meter FM, the more you should use phonetics. Names should be especially used if they are short or common ones. I.E. "My name is Al... Alpha Lima" or "Jack.. Juliet Alpha Charlie Kilo." If at all possible use the less common HF phonetics "A4SM... America, Number Four, Sugar Mexico." And for maximum "LID points", make up unintelligible phonetics. "My name is Bob... Billibong Oregano Bumperpool."

Step Six: Always give the calls of yourself and everyone who is (or has been) in the group, whether they are still there or not. While this has been unnecessary for years, it is still a great memory test. You may also use "and the group" if you are an "old timer" or just have a bad memory. Extra points for saying everyone's call and then clearing in a silly way "K2PKK, Chow, Chow."

Step Seven: Whenever possible, use the wrong terminology. It keeps people guessing. Use "modulation" when you mean "deviation", and vice-versa.

Step Eight: If someone asks for a break, always finish your turn, taking as long as possible before turning it over. Whenever possible, pass it around a few times first. This will discourage the breaker, and if it is an emergency, encourage him to switch to another repeater and not bother you.

Step Nine: Always ask involved questions of the person who is trying to sign out. Never let him get by with just a "yes" or "no" answer. Make it a question that will take him a long time to answer.

Step Ten: The less you know on a subject, the more you should speculate about it in the roundtable. Also the amount of time you spend on the subject should be inversely proportionate to your knowledge of the subject even though you have no damn clue.

Step Eleven: Always make sure you try to communicate with only a handheld and a rubber duck antenna. Also, make sure you work through a repeater that you can hear very well, but it cannot hear you. This will put out a kind of "LID mating call": "Well, Joe, I can hear the repeater just fine here. I wonder why it can't hear me?" You will score maximum LID points if you are mobile, and with the radio lying in the passenger seat.

Step Twelve: If you hear two amateurs start a conversation, wait until they are twenty seconds into their contact, and then break in to make a call, or better yet to use the auto-patch. Make sure you keep the repeater tied up for at least three minutes. This way, once the two have re-established contact, they won't even remember what they were talking about.

Step Thirteen: You hear someone on the repeater giving directions to a visiting amateur. Even if the directions are good, make sure you break in with your own "alternate route but better way to get there" version. This is most effective with several other "would-be LIDs", each giving a different route. By the time the visiting amateur unscrambles all the street names whizzing by in his mind, he should have moved out of the range of the repeater. This keeps you from having to stick around to help the guy get back out of town, later.

Step Fourteen: If an annoying station is bothering you, make sure your other "LID" buddies have a "coded" frequency list. Even though "CODES" are strictly forbidden on Amateur Radio, it's really neat to practice "James Bond" tactics.

Step Fifteen: Always use the National Calling Frequency for general conversations. The more uninteresting, the longer you should use it. Extra points are awarded if you have recently move from an adjacent frequency for no reason. Make sure when DX is "rolling" in on 52.525 that you hang out there and talk to your friends five miles down the road about the good old CB days!

Step Sixteen: Make sure that if you have a personal problem with someone, you should voice your opinion in a public forum, especially a net. Make sure you give their name, call, and any other identifying remarks. For maximum points, make sure the person in question is not on the repeater, or not available.

Step Seventeen: Make sure you say the first few words of each transmission twice, especially if it is the same thing each time. Like "roger, roger" or "fine business, fine business". I cannot stress enough about encouraging redundancy.

Step Eighteen: If you hear a conversation on a local repeater, break in and ask how each station is receiving you. Of course they will only see the signal of the repeater you are using, but it's that magic moment when you can find a fellow "LID", and get the report. Extra points are awarded if you are using a base station, and the repeater is less than twenty-five air miles from you.

Step Nineteen: Use the repeater for an hour or two at a time, preventing others from using it. Better yet, do it on a daily basis. Your quest is to make people so sick of hearing your voice every time they turn on their radio, they'll move to another frequency. This way you'll lighten the load on the repeater, leaving even more time for you to talk on it.

Step Twenty: See just how much flutter you can generate by operating at handheld power levels too far away from the repeater. Engage people in conversations when you know they wont be able to copy half of what your saying. Even when they say your uncopyable, continue to string them along by making further transmissions. See just how frustrated you can make the other amateur before he finally signs off in disgust.

Step Twenty One: Use lots of radio jargon. After all, it makes you feel important using words ordinary people don't say. Who cares if it makes you sound like you just fell off Channel 19 on the citizen's Band? Use phrases such as "Roger on that", "10-4", "I'm on the side", "Your making the trip" and "Negatory on that".

Step Twenty Two: Use excessive microphone gain. See just how loud you can make your audio. Make sure the audio gain is so high that other amateurs can hear any bugs crawling on your floor. If mobile, make sure the wind noise is loud enough that others have to strain to pick your words out from all the racket.

Step Twenty Three: Start every transmission with the word "Roger" or "QSL". Sure, you don't need to acknowledge that you received the other transmission in full. After all, you would simply ask for a repeat if you missed something. But consider it your gift to the other amateur to give him solace every few seconds that his transmissions are being received.

Step Twenty Four: When looking for a contact on a repeater, always say your "listening" or "monitoring" multiple times. I've always found that at least a half dozen times or so is good. Repeating your multiple "listening" ID's every 10 to 15 seconds is even better. Those people who didn't want to talk to you will eventually call you, hoping you'll go away after you have finally made a contact.

Step Twenty Five: Always use a repeater, even if you can work the other station easily on simplex ... especially if you can make the contact on simplex. The coverage of the repeater you use should be inversely proportional to your distance from the other station.

Step Twenty Six: When on repeaters using courtesy tones, you should always say "over". Courtesy tones are designed to let everyone know when you have unkeyed but don't let that stop you. Say "over", "back to you" or "go ahead". It serves no useful purpose but don't worry, it's still fun!

Step Twenty Seven: Use the repeater's autopatch for frivolous routine calls... especially during morning or evening commute times. While pulling into the neighborhood, call home to let them know you'll be there in two minutes.... or, call your spouse to complain about the bad day you had at work. After all, the club has "measured rate" service on their phone line so they get charged for each autopatch call. Your endeavor is to make so many patches in a year that you cost the club at least $20 in phone bills. That way you'll feel you got your money's worth for your dues!

Step Twenty Eight: Never say "My name is ....." It makes you sound human. If at all possible, use one of the following phrases: a) "The personal here is ..." b) "The handle here is..."

Step Twenty Nine: Use "73" and "88" incorrectly. Both are already considered plural, but add a "s" to the end anyway. Say "73's" or "88's". Who cares if it means "best regards" and "love and kisses." Better yet, say "seventy thirds"! (By the way, seventy thirds equals about 23.3).

Step Thirty: If the repeater is off the air for service, complain about the fact that it was off the air as soon as it's turned back on. Act as though your entire day has been ruined because the repeater wasn't available when you wanted to use it. Even thought you have never paid a penny to help out with the upkeep of it.

Hello, Frank

My thought is to not try and turn fm into rec.radio.amateur.policy and flame newcomers. I had someone once tell me his "preferred personal" (gad, I did cringe, but didn't let on). I simply replied that my name was Jim.

Only one time someone got to me. I think it was one of the "radio police" that was ragging on and on about the necessity of cw (what he was doing on 440 fm beats the heck out of me!). Fortunately, the repeater owner was on and usually hangs out on 40 cw at 30 words per minute plus. Also fortunately, a sidetone was available with the equipment to key it. A quick ask for permission to switch to modulated cw .... and .... 30 plus words per minute broke out.

Shut the guy up :))

There are some very disturbing things being said by amateurs about freebanders. Those of us who use the frequencies between the 11 and 10 meter bands aren't any different from licensed hams. We are good operators and have knowledge of propagation and skip conditions.
We use Yaseus, Kenwoods and Icom radios just like you do, so we know technical issues as well or better. It isn't like we've gone to the local Wal-Mart and bought a Cobra 40-channel close-out for $35, and attached a mag-mounted antenna. We've put thousands of dollars into our equipment, so we respect it and know how to use it.
However, the attitude of some hams toward us is rude and condescending. We are treated like 2nd class citizens, partly because we don't want to be part of the elitist "clique" that amateur radio has become. This should not be. We have the same rights under the constitution as legal hams do.
For those that do not wish to be under Uncle Sam's thumb, freebanding is a viable alternative to getting a ham radio license. What I am saying is that maybe the next time you meet a freebander it might be wise to talk with him before you condemn him.

Years ago I had a car where the battery terminals came loose every couple of weeks, despite tightening the clamps to a fare-thee-well. I couldn't figure out why until a very car-smart friend pointed out the clamp that held the battery was loose. Normal road vibration caused the battery to wiggle around just enough to loosen the clamps.

Here's another.

I once had a battery with a very slight leak around one of the posts, and the terminal kept corroding and making poor contact. I took the terminals lose, cleaned everything with baking soda, rinsed and dried all the parts then sanded the posts and inside of the clamps to get a fresh lead surface.

Here is the tip. I coated both surfaces with a film of heavy silicon grease (Dow 111, or similar) and re clamped the terminals, squeezing out the excess grease as the clamps tightened. Even though the outside of the terminals still got visibly corroded the connection remained perfect till the battery failed a couple years later. I have pretreated every battery, when new, ever since, and have never had a connection problem. The grease completely seals out moisture, acid and oxygen, but is about as easy as air for the lead surfaces to break through to make perfect contact.

I see that some headlight bulbs now come pre-glopped with a dollop of such grease to protect the wiring terminals from moisture.

Freebanding's illegal and for good reason.

Freebanders are thieves. In usurping these frequencies for thier recreational activities, they have interrupted legal and often critical business and military communications. Freebanders can spin the dial and find themselves on another frequency...those land mobile users can't.

The letter tries to suggest that just because they use state of

they have Motorola tatooed on thier butts.

WD-40 also works quite well, as it penetrates and lubricates, and there is less mess. I run dual Optima yellow tops in my Wrangler, and a heavy duty conventional (normal maintenance) battery in my XYL's Grand Cherokee and in my Cherokee, and WD-40 has kept corrosion off of the terminal for years now. Works much better than the soaked red and black corrosion inhibiting felt rings. Just a thought...

Keep the bolts tight. Don't forget to run a heavy enough gauge fused wire pair to the rig to make up for voltage drop over your run length (lest you end up with a 30A load dropping the voltage to 10 or 11V and diminished RF output). Your rig was designed to operate as rated at 13.8VDC. With the engine off, you might get 12VDC. With too light a gauge of wire in a long run, you'll see your display dim or go out as the voltage to the rig drops below the minimum required voltage at the radio when keyed.

Oh really, besides not being licensed and operating without authorization in spectrum you have no business being in?

if you are such good operators, why haven't you gotten your tickets yet? is there some reason why you can't get your license? or is it that you don't feel like it?

so then, whats the matter with spending $10-$15.00 and taking a relatively easy test and being legal?

rude? condescending? more like "until you get your license, we are not allowed (by force of regulation) to speak with you". there are some in the ham community that would much rather you be drawn and quartered, for they have worked a lot harder than some to achieve their ham ticket (and the equipment with which they exercise that privilege). I am a little more forgiving, but only just (having been a former cb'er, I know the temptation that one has with trying to push the envelope and do what few others have done).

remember this, those who choose to exercise outside the law are still subject to its rules. Thats the way the current system works. Don't like it? get it changed, but quit whining about your illegal activities. all you do is serve notice to others how exceptionally foolish you are.

legal and proud of it!

When I get a battery terminal with the corrosion and oxidation on it, I sometimes pour a small quantity of Coca Cola on it. Cleans them right off. I will then put a small amount of conductive grease on it.

It's not my "will", Markie.

"Larry", despite his self-proclaimed expertise, knowledge, and experience doesn't seem to understand what the term "crossband" means as it pertains to Amateur Radio application.

He came in purporting to "know a better way", yet obviously didn't know what he was talking about. He offered to leave and I suggested he duck that swinging door.

Bwa HAHAHAHAHAHAHA!! All Forte news readers put 4ax.com into their Message-ID headers, because the domain belongs to Forte Internet

That "law" - which was snuck into an appropriations bill by the low life Senator Arlen Specter from PA - will not be enforced. In fact, Bush is being urged to do the same thing Clinton did when confronted with a similar law and to issue a non-enforcement executive order for what is obviously an unconstitutional provision. The courts would toss it out in a heartbeat, so it would be a waste of taxpayer dollars to even attempt enforcement.

With your uninformed blustering, it is clear that you didn't read the legal opinions issued by the lawyers at the EFF. You also seem to be a control freak very much like Steve Robeson, the Paper Tiger of RRAP.

Gonna sue him now that you've got him pinned down to the wrong domain?

From what I see, anyone that operates a radio transmitter between those frequencies and not properly licensed is a law breaker. That does not equate illegal operation to legal operation. Just because the DoD seems to have abandoned the 27.5 to 28.0 MHz spectrum does not mean it is orphaned and any one can use.

Trust me if the DoD wants to used that frequency again, then be prepared to suffer the consequences.

Freebanders are squatters. They disdain the authority and the ability of the FCC and the Federal Government to allocate frequency spectrum.
Instaed they self employ the "Use it or Lose it" mentality. If no one is going to use it then we will. That is not like amatuer radio. Yes there are those within the frequency spectrum allocated to amatuer radio that do illegal operation. But to draw an analogy of Freeband usage and legal amature radio usage is a very large leap.

just my opinion

Hi Steve

Unfortunately it wont go away real fast! Since there is world wide use of 27-30MHz in many places where enforcement is too expensive or non existent, any officially sanctioned use of the band may as well be dropped. I dont like that personally but it is the reality of the situation. Fixing it in the US for example wont help interference issues that peak every 11 years!

And hey I have had to wade through Indonesians using 2m FM handy talkies on/near the input to OSCAR freqs. Its almost exciting at first until you find out they are comparing the size of their fish catch...

Sounds like a nice thing to do but I doubt effective. Its a distance from source problem. You cant effectively interfere with two stations a mile apart from (say) 20 miles away.

What would be nice if they allocated it to BPL instead! <grin>

And might I gently enquire as to why this has been cross-posted to 3 different groups?

As to knowlege, I note discussion concerning stainless steel whips versus silver plated whips. Hmmmm .... is anyone aware of the radiation resistance of a vertical? How about a dipole? Does anyone think (considering that even a stainless steel whip is not a small wire) that .1 ohm (or even 1 whole ohm) is going to make any discernable difference in a signal when the radiation resistance is 36 ohms for a vertical or 72 ohms for a dipole? Not to mention that most of the radiation occurs near the feedpoint; very little near the ends. Of course, a poor ground connection can result in a lot more loss, but that is not what I am addressing.

Of course, it can be pointed out that antenna tuners use large copper coils, often silver plated. Ever consider that in a circuit that has large circulating currents that .1 ohm may be huge? In some loop antennas at even the 100 watt level, currents in a capacitor or feed loop can be many tens (or even hundreds) of amps. In that case, you want very low resistance or you may loose most of your signal.

Whilst you try to make a point, a friend of mine in British Columbia is constructing a phased 80 meter array. I suspect that might be a bit out of your league, but I could be wrong. I had one fellow trying to claim there was no such thing when I mentioned end-fire or broadside arrays. He thought I was blowing smoke. Sigh ...

Whilst you try to paint amateurs as elitist, I've never had a problem with new folks using cb lingo and certainly wouldn't put them down for it. I suspect, however, that the biggest problem is that folks who claim they don't want the amateur license do so for one of two reasons. Either they don't want to have to take the tests, or they don't like regulations. Mostly the latter.

As has been pointed out, the regulations are there for a similar reason that there exist regulations for driving on highways. Back in the early 20th century, there was little or no need to regulate either radio or driving as there were few radio stations and very few horseless carriages. Things change. Get used to it.

With all due regards from Rochester, NY

Because it's a troll.

Ideally.

Not entirely accurate. The EM wave is a product of both the high current -and- the high voltage segments of the antenna. That's why a center-loaded 1/4-wave vertical works better than a bottom-loader, all else being equal.

Hudreds of amps at 100 watts? Not a very common occurance in 11m equipment.

How about because the interests of the radio hobbyist (which may be a more appropriate term than 'amateur') may not be covered by the scope of the ARS? or maybe because the thought of being stereotyped as a nacho-addicted disaster-junkie isn't too appealing? I've heard several other reasons over the years; however, none of them were valid enough to justify freebanding, IMO.

Regulations are fine. Dictatorial mandates from the FCC aren't.
Freebanding won't solve the problem but neither will nagging.

Hammies and dog-pound refugees would do well to read my scintillating prose and learned insights on the fine art of freebanding. A pet peeve of mine is that hammies (certain ones) put down radio hobbyists like myself just because they are CBers and just because they use gear that's advanced. I have logged more DX on the freeband than most 2 meter hams have in a lifetime. Why shouldn't I be treated with respect? All I am asking is that the issue of legality be put aside and my acheivements be recognized for what they are.

http://sporadicwaves.tripod.com/page7.html

If you take the time to read this you will see that we on freeband have problems with troublemakers too. They don't abide by our rules.
They don't care what others think. They jam and make noises on 27.555.
Read about it in my article. They are wrecking my freeband and they should be stopped.

http://sporadicwaves.tripod.com/page7.html

I admit I get all upset when hammies tell me I am breaking rules. I don't care about rules. I don't care what others think. If I want to operate freeband it is my responsibility and I don't like to hear anyone putting me down for it. Read about how we have created our own little illegal alternative to ham radio on the freeband. You hammies can be jealous.

http://sporadicwaves.tripod.com/page7.html

Hammies try to say that there are goverment users on 27.555 and above. I have never heard any myself so that proves there are none.
Because of course what I say is true and everyone else is a liar.
Read my wonderful prose and see for yourself.

http://sporadicwaves.tripod.com/page7.html

Geniuses like me don't need to obey laws since we are above the masses. Take that, you pussy-footed hams.

Like many Alpha Tango members I have DXed over 100 confirmed countries on 12 whiskey SSB, worldwide without the need for license or expense of ham radio.

I have everything a man could ask for without the additional volunteer headache Uncle Charlie could induce by means of harassment.
Besides,,I like the freeband way better than the HF hammie bands and repeaters.

And I do it barefoot 99% of the time..only time I use power, is when it's something really rare and I have exhausted myself with my 3 watts..then, and only then, I may elect to toss out a hundred watts,,,maximum. That "crime" is less than the fine and imprisonment that you can get for taping a movie from HBO.

No cber has been prosecuted (during this or the last administration) for merely operating an amp or talking DX or freebanding without receiveing a warning. So, to set the record straight, a warning letter outlining the infractions is to be issued to the offending station as a warning.
Fail to heed the warning and you may find yourself facing a fine.
Underline the word "may". This reduces the relative risk and associated penalty to a petty infraction comparable to jaywalking.

I have spoken to Mr. Hollingsworth personally, and I can assure you, even if he thinks that slightly exceeding power limits is ok, he can't verbalize it due his present position.

There are many hammies on the freeband...and guess what? They are cool as all get out!!! Us cbersare a friendlier lot. We really don'tgive a rat's azz if a hammie talks on cb,,,we'lll talk to him anyways...probably why they come on down in the first place,,,so they can escape the frequency fuzz and just......enjoy radio.

Organized, long term freebanders are very aware where they operate and take great measure to ensure against talking on an amateur f requency or one that isn't heavily used on the freeband.
If the non-U.S. stations can operate ssb there, why shouldn't I, especially if I want to have a nice DX contact with one of them?

Many of us LIKE the law as it is, it keeps "yes men" off the freqs. Same analogy as the gun issue...when guns are outlawed only outlaws will have guns...no, yoo won't find many freebanders lobbying fo r change to open the freqs because the law as it reads, doesn't bug us.

No rationalization is even needed except to reply to folks that repeatedly ask over and over, "Why?" It is these folks that feel they need a reason why we do what we do, not us.

"There are some very disturbing things being said by amateurs about freebanders. Those of us who use the frequencies between the 11 and 10 meter bands aren't any different from licensed hams."

Yes you are different, you break the law.

" We use Yaseus, Kenwoods and Icom radios just like you do,"

And use them illegally.

"so we know technical issues as well or better."

That is highly debatable.

"We are treated like 2nd class citizens,"

I agree, you should not be treated as 2nd class citizens, you should be treated as the lawbreakers you are.

" We have the same rights under the constitution as legal hams do."

Please show where the Consitution gives you the right to break the law.
Hams have a right to use the airwaves by virtue of the fact they have obtained a license that gives them the right, you have not.

If you don't want to be treated as a criminal, then don't be a criminal.

"Why shouldn't I be treated with respect?"

Do something respectful and you might be. Breaking the law isn't respectful.

"All I am asking is that the issue of legality be put aside and my acheivements be recognized for what they are. "

I suppose the legality of robbing banks should be put aside and the thief should be respected for acheiving wealth.

"Hammies try to say that there are goverment users on 27.555 and above. I have never heard any myself so that proves there are none. "

Doesn't matter if you have never heard any users on those frequencies, those frequencies are allocated. Just because you see an automobile that appears to you that no one is using it, doesn't give you the right to take it, but then you are a lawbreaker so you thinking isn't very logical.

becuase you are a fool \

it is well estatalished that one has the right the right to choose to comit a crime

only a cartoon denies that fact interesting question something like have I stopped beating my wife yet?

I don't break the law in the exercise of my sexuality Mr Steve Slit what I enjoy wether you like it or not is not against the law guess you have been follwing the news

but back tothe topic

the Freebanders have ervery right to break the law if they choose, and the FCC should be trying harder to make them pay for doing so. it is how the game works

If you want to use the semantical argument, you have the right to -choose- even though you may not have the right to actually -commit-the crime. Or, from a social viewpoint, you may have the -natural-right to do anything within the limits of your abilities, but that doesn't mean you have the same -legal- right.

It's the capacity for rational thought that gives us the ability to distinguish between what is 'right' and what is 'wrong'. It also draws a line of seperation between men and monkeys.....

it also gives us the points of law concerning where we had to break the law to serve some higher good which is the legal basis for "justifacation" defenses

An -act- may or may not be a -crime-. For example, homocide is an act that might be committed in self-defense. That's not a crime since the act is justified. Even HDT acknowledged that there are no justifiable crimes.

>but oer all freebanding is low on the pole of sins against mankind

True. Nor does it rank among the top ten as crimes that "serve some higher good".

In preparation for your new adventures on the freeband, there are a few things that you must be willing to change as far as your previous operating habits. The main thing to realize is that almost all operating techniques that you have learned or developed while operating your CB radio on the standard AM channels 1 - 40, no longer apply while operating single sideband mode on the Freeband. Operating on the freeband is a totally different world that requires totally new and different procedures for development of acceptable operating techniques.

Gone are the CB handles, gone are the 10-codes, gone are the toys, noisemaker gizmos and ECHO microphones that have proliferated over the years on the AM CB band. Gone is the use of CB lingo and jargons. Gone is the use of channel numbers ....You will now be referring to frequencies instead. As you will soon see, there are many things different about 11 meter Freeband DXing that you will need to know.

It is the intent of Freeband Land 11 Meter DX Academy to provide you, the new 11 meter Freeband DXer, with an accurate, concise and useful source of 11 Meter DXing information that focuses on acceptable operating techniques rather than serving as an exclusive resource for other activities related to 11 meter DXing.

Freeband Land 11 Meter DX Academy will try to guide you toward a better understanding of the world of Freeband DXing by informing you, up front, of what to expect. It is perhaps different than what you have been used to.... but don't be intimidated by it ! Just spend a little time to learn about it ! In addition to the written information here at the Academy, you can implement another very important process of learning. It's called listening .

When you hear what sounds like a serious DX QSO (On air conversation) in progress, listen to the operators. Take note of their techniques and mannerisms. Listen for unfamiliar words, phrases and uses of numbers that seem to be showing up quit often during on the air QSOs. To the experienced DXer, the use of these keywords and numbers simply reflect now instinctive and acceptable operating procedures that all contribute to creating the preferred radio environment. They would have it no other way!

Listen for DXpeditions or Special Event Stations while they are active. On a good day, you will hear the proper use of preferred and specific techniques by operators attempting to work the event. On a more typical day, you may be earwitness to classic examples of how NOT to work these special activations! We will be discussing the topic of working DXpeditions and Special Event Stations in an upcoming " lesson".

really care. I just hate lame excuses.

Dudly is an easy case. He's socially isolated and has low self-esteem.
He gives value to his accomplishments by how he thinks they are valued by others, and so measures his self-worth from his limited view of society. But because of this narrow perception, he sees himself as an underachiever. Subsequently, he overcompensates with passive-agressive behavior and self-aggrandizing lies, always being very careful not to expose any flaw that could possibly scratch the false image he is trying to present to others.

IOW, he's the type of person who is obsessive about keeping his house immaculately clean, but only where others can see; the attic is full of junk, the cellar is infested with rats, the dishwasher is loaded with maggots, and the whole house reeks from too many air fresheners.

Does that clear things up?

Hello, Frank

You make a very good point. I bit hard on what was probably planted by the American Kennel Club LOL.

As to the radiation resistance, you are correct - the type of ground and distance over that ground will affect the radiation resistance considerably. My point was that an extra ohm in the resistance of the antenna will likely not be noticeable unless you are talking about loop (or, of course, a tank circuit). Circulating currents in resonant circuits can (possibly) be extreme.

As to the put-down, I think I owe an apology to a lot of folks. I bit pretty hard on the hook .... :))

Again, your point is well taken.

"not on Freeband CB "

There is no such thing as "freeband cb" you idiot. Freebanders aren't cbers and cbers aren't freebanders. There is no such thing as the freeband, all those frequencies are allocated to other services.

What's wrong with a little crack cocaine? Even better is to sniff a used jock strap. Take it off the wall, get a big old sniff, and go a' freebanding, yelling and making noises like a monkey with fake call letters. I can talk to saucer men on freeband any time I want. I even had a personal phone call from Riley H. and he told me, I swear ta God, that he did not give a crap about illegal freebanders and that I could run as much power as I want on any frequency I want. Of course he can't publicly admit this you see, but I know it to be true, true, true. Because Twistedhed knows all and can do things the average citizen cannot, because he is special and not of the common folk who must obey laws and conform to society. Bah, I pee on society's rules. I am a freeband outlaw prince and the swamplands of Tampa Bay are my kingdom. Come on by, the fishin' is fine. Third stump from the end of the dirt road. Just honk your horn, I'll come a runnin'.

I'm an "underachiver" only in that there's ALWAYS something better

It's called "goals".

What micron thin skin?

Mine's no-more-no less than any other caucasion male in my age bracket.

No it's not.

"Larry" engaged himself on his own volition. I didn't bring him in here.

He disengaged himself of the same volition. No one held a gun to his head. Perhaps due to the fact that despite his alleged expertise in electronics he didn't seem to know what "crossband" means as it pertains to Amateur Radio applicatons and was unable to sustain his "argument" in the face of that ignorance. Or perhaps because he didn't find an immediate "Gee Why Didn't I Think Of That" convert to his "just get on the computer" mantra.

It's not my terms. It's the industry's.

And if he's the technician he claims to be, standardization of terms in electrionics is basic. As it pertains to Amatuer Radio use, "crossband" means you transmit on one frequency in one band while receiving on another frequency in yet another band.

There's no "varriation" to it.

That's how the "crossband repeater" on the ISS works. It receives on 70cm and retransmits on 2 meters. I addressed NO OTHER aspect of communications to/with the ISS.

You're welcome to reference any Amateur Radio text you care to.
It's the same in all of them.

> > He came in purporting to "know a better way", yet obviously didn't

> no you a lying again

Nope.

It's all right there.

Larry does NOT know what "crossband" means...Either that or he convieniently ignored it in favor of promoting his own agenda, which was the use of VoIP/Echolink.

Those are fun, I am sure, but I am more interested in the actual ground-station techniques.

VoIP/Echolink is fine if that's all you care to do. I was hoping to stir some interest in some ISS repeater contacts. What emerged was the ####ing contest that "Larry" brought on and sustained by you.

I should have known better.

Nope. More of YOUR "micron thin" skin, FatBoy.

Depends on the interest in AR Ace!

A project I want to look into is using very low data rate (less than 10Hz b/w) on the 13.5Mhz non license band to transmit GPS data from my car - so the family knows where I am! I suspect that given the b/w in use the range using low power will be exceptional.

Realising that one can just pick up the phone, but thats one of the first things to break in an emergency!

Its actually a more difficult project than would first seem. One needs very high stability and low phase noise oscillators.

I'll admit though that QRO is great for those cold nights out in the shack!

For good reason:

1. They advocate free-banding on the HF aeronautical frequencies (which aircraft utilize for transoceanic communications);
2. They're federal lawbreakers.

No 73 for them,

Wait, the scope wasn't seeing the signal, or shorting out the higher freq. They do run well into the shortwave range. I had one up to 13 mhz with no problem using junk box parts, an dthe scope probe set to X10,

Let clear something up, first off I never posted anything on here or email steve anything about "dig up information on steve roberson" The post/ email were fake. I went to check my email one day and I got that nasty letter from steve. I could really fuck about that asshole but I will suggest this to him, He better make sure those EMAIL and or posts are from me or I WILL go after his ass for harassment. I done playing this fucking game.

Second off, I did pissed at Schwartz and complain to Googles and DOJ about his blog and it was took down. Same thing for those fucking Nazis at NIM. Same thing for other bitchwhore boards who use my copyrighted property.

No more fucking games anymore. I fucking seriously going after all you thief bastards including biggest bastard roberson.

no spell check under Google and none under my other newsreader

I'll apologize ot your for your eyes but the demand made under threat (good mr ky4z has made plenty) that I must use one is something I refuse the exra time is just too costly and I do nothing under threat

I could get spelcheck for some fee on the other newreader but with it is being demanded I refuse on principle

Joe:
Installing FT-857D in my 97 Ranger. About 90% complete, few bonding jumpers need to be installed.
Have many digital photos at Yahoo groups: FT-857 or Mobil Radio

940. "Ultra" portable MW-SW-FM receiver recommendations?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.misc

I currently own a Radio Shack DX-399 (same model as the Sangean ATS-606), which is a quite solid, portable LW-MW-SW-FM receiver with quite good sound quality when delivered to ear buds (FM stereo to earbuds.)

I mostly use this radio for local MW and FM listening, but will occasionally listen to SW broadcasts, and DX-MW using a Radio Shack loop.

I love this radio for its portability, but am looking for another to put one of them away in a Faraday box for use in case of a major emergency.

So, what other makes/models should I consider? Repeating some of the above, here's my criteria:

1) The size of the DX-399 or smaller.

2) General coverage MW-SW (up to 30 kHz), and with stereo FM (when fed to earbuds). Don't need LW.

3) Good sound quality (especially of FM) when fed to earbuds.

4) As good or better sensitivity than the DX-399 for MW dxing and SW.

5) Don't need SSB, but would be nice.

6) Don't care too much about speaker quality, since I would use it exclusively with earbuds.

7) Don't care about the other bells and whistles (e.g. alarm), but some station memory would be nice.

So what are my other options? New and/or used (buyable through eBay) will be considered.

Thanks!

Roger

Buy a second DX-399 if you can find one. Either that or a Sangean ATS-606. It's clear that you like the radio a great deal, so why mess with a good thing?

I own a DX-399. I bought it when Radio Shack lost its mind and dumped the Radio Shack brand SWRs. I think it is a terrific little radio. Its oddest likable attribute has to be the multiple voltage wall wart. With the included adapter, you can use it in Europe on 220 Vac.

Seems like the Grundig/Eton YB-400 would fit the bill for you as well.
Might be slightly bigger than your Radio Shack model, but has the features you mentioned, and then some.

Hello All,

Keith (ZS6TW) received at 4 februari (12:45UTC) SUITSAT on 50 degrees elevation.
Keith could hear Russian language from SUITSAT.
The equipment ZS6TW used:
Transceiver: Yaesu FT-847
Antennas: 2 X F9FT 17 elements yagis (16dBd gain).
Keith reported that it is importand to use FM narrow to receive the weak (narrow) signals out the noise (doppler correction is requered!!!).
He received SUITSAT at the same place as ISS, so the Suitsat was (at 4 februari 12:45UTC) not far behind the ISS.

The audio file is for public use so spread arround the world!

Possibly the original meaning, concerning temperature. SuitSat froze and its batteries froze up on its second orbit. Now that is cool! In fact, downright bloody cold!

Don't know what size your Radio Shack DZ 399 is but I have had the Sangean 909 for years and it works great and it is a good travel radio or emergency one too. It may have more bells and stuff than you what but in an emergency they may be handy to have as well!

hi folks,

this is the second time i've posted this, for some weird reason it didn't post the first time ... i waited pretty much all day to see if it showed up to avoid posting the same thing twice, but i'm tired of waiting i need answers. :)

having trouble with my icom ic-706-mkiig and ah-4. i think it's working ok, in general, i have it all hooked up like i understand it should be. i'm using a whip antenna on the truck at the moment and it is hooked up to the tuner and that to the radio. the whip is one of those hamstick types that says it was for either 20m or 40m, i forget. anyway, i tune the radio to about 3.6mhz and hit the tune button and the tuner makes all kinds of scary sounding noises, and then the tuner button lights up red and stays lit. i understand that this is good, that it means it tuned ok. then i go up to a higher frequency and try the same thing and at some point in the bands, say around 10mhz lets call it, things stop working right. at lets say 10mhz (it might be higher or lower) i hit the tune button and i get the same scary type of sounds out of the tuner and the red light on the radio is flashing while it tries to tune, then suddenly .... the radio just turns off!! what is going on ? it happens reliably, anytime i try to tune above a certain frequency the radio shuts itself off and i have to turn it back on to continue using it.

any ideas what is going on ? i thought if it couldn't tune an antenna it just sits there with the light off and the radio bypasses the tuner. and is all this noise normal from the tuner, is it supposed to be making all this racket ? it sounds like mechanical relays switching or something, like a crackling electro-mechanical type of a sound. i've never seen a tuner used before, so it could just be normal .. and my problems are probably just user error!

finally, something bad happened too. out of the back of my radio and my cb i have an external speaker connection that goes to an amplifier through some various things that massage the signal into something useful. anyway, that has all been working great, i have a subwoofer hooked up to it, etc, and it's all wired up through a good sized amplifier. well, something bad happened when i hit the tune button on the radio ... a few times i heard a loud "thump" in my speaker system, which i didn't think much of really because that happens even when i turn the ignition on and off sometimes. but then suddenly the amplifier stopped working when i hit the tune button. i wonder what happened ? i don't seem to have burned up any fuses, i think i may have actually damaged it!! but it doesn't seem to be hooked up wrong, all the wires look right to me. maybe the antenna tuner put some kind of a spike into my batteries through the radio and that got to my amplifier somehow ? they are all using the same deep cycle battery system.

any help greatly appreciated, or pointers to help. i'm going to call icom during business hours and see what they say about it. i could also call the store where i got all the stuff but i don't know how much help they are going to be ... i'll try that though.

Let clear something up, first off I never posted anything on here or email steve anything about "dig up information on steve roberson" The post/ email were fake. I went to check my email one day and I got that nasty letter from steve. I could really fuck about that asshole but I will suggest this to him, He better make sure those EMAIL and or posts are from me or I WILL go after his ass for harassment. I done playing this fucking game.

Second off, I did pissed at Schwartz and complain to Googles and DOJ about his blog and it was took down. Same thing for those fucking Nazis at NIM. Same thing for other bitchwhore boards who use my copyrighted property.

No more fucking games anymore. I fucking seriously going after all you thief bastards including biggest bastard roberson.

shemales, come to

The Shipwreck Lounge
23 Ohio St
Glen Dale, WV 26038
Main Phone: 304-845-3500

every Saturday night. You can't miss it because it is right at the end of Ohio Street between the RR tracks and the river. Be sure to bring yer cents of humor with you, plus carry a weapon.

Instead of karaoke, The Shipwreck holds a blinds peeking contest ever Saturday nite at 11pm sharp. You peeks out from behind some special blinds and the patrons try to guess who you are. Right now, the town hiding champion is someone named Mr Woger, and so he is the one to beat.

Besides that, The Shipwreck has a cussing, farting, and nose-picking triathalon you can watch or even enter yerself. Mr Woger, the Merv Griffin of scat, thought it up all by hisself. It starts right after the blinds peeking contest.

We have fun, fun, fun, fun, fun ever Saturday night. Be there or be

Tell us more about your emergency scenario?
Although it's possible to come up with a situation where there's an EMP that doesn't get thru your faraday box and doesn't kill you, either directly or indirectly...
I think you're much more likely to succumb to a dirty bomb or car bomb or bird flu or be hit by a bus or killed by a jealous spouse or your HMO.
What are the other parts of your survival strategy? Radio doesn't do much good if you don't have food/water/shelter.

Hmmm, wonder if the radio transmitters are in Faraday Boxes?

I was wondering why he needs to put the radio in a faraday cage myself. I've read that a typical EMP pulse bomb like Al Qaeda would most likely use would mostly work on anything that was on the same frequency. That means that if you're not in the immediate area, and your radio antenna isn't harmonic with the wavelength of the pulse, you have nothing to worry about. Dark Angel type scenarios where the whole country is wiped out by an EMP pulse apparently aren't very realistic, but they make for good TV. I think a dirty bomb is more likely. But the real threat is bioweapons-if Iran could weaponize bird flu or smallpox and make it into a super killer then the shit would hit the fan. Smallpox has the potential to kill 9 out of 10 people, that's what it did to the Indians. I'm more worried about a flood since I live in a part of California that has frequent major floods. I just worry that I wouldn't have the presence of mind to take my Degen, since I'd have 15 minutes to evacuate. A lot of the New Orleans refugees didn't have radios, and the lack of info caused by that and govt bungling caused much of the panic.

987. callsigns in ham conversations

Sometimes I listen to ham radio conversations and take notes on what is being discussed. (Most of my HF listening is of international shortwave broadcasts.)Two recent conversations I've heard have been about shipping companies (fedex, ups, dhl, etc).

Hams often mention their callsigns, but I unfortunately don't hear them clearly enough. The main reason I'm interested in callsigns is if I hear someone say something interesting, and I want to look for their email address to write to them about it.

Lately I use my Sony ICF SW7600GR for ssb reception. I can clarify the signal quite well, but the noise level affects the clarity.

Are there any others in this newsgroup that are strictly listeners? What have your experiences been like?

Woger has gone on record in denying the fact that he has ever set foot in the Shipwreck. Of course anyone who knows Roger is well aware that Roger is a congenital liar, so his denials are most likely bogus.
It will be interesting to see what Roger has to say about this post...or should I say, "Not Roger"? The vertically challenged Jammer has much to say, but all in the third person.
Poor Woger...he stands about five foot four inches in his high heels...and his mouth far overloads his ability to get physical with anyone half his size.

Best watch out, Wog. Get Toad upset enough and one of these days little Toad may work up enough courage to send his Mommie to pay you a visit.
Maybe Toad can enlist the aid of Chief Norm Stenger of the Glendale PD to get you to shut up. After all, Wog, the Chief knows you well, eh?

i am for the moment. i'm still studying for my morse code test but my rig is hooked up, so of course i'm going to get some kind of use out of it! i sit and listen to morse code down around 3.5mhz, and also up in the 7mhz range where i can find it, trying to decipher other peoples conversations. i also try to catch peoples callsigns so that i can look them up and see how good my reception is, how far away i can catch a signal. it's fun ... would be more fun if i was able to perceive cw at 30wpm as being more than a string of random beeping sounds hahaha. the only reason i know it's 30wpm+ is because i've been using G4FON software to learn in the evenings.

Al Qaeda has no bombs. They don't need them. The destroyed the USA

I am not a listener only, I am one that talks! <grin>

Despite supposed international conventions about how one says their callsigns they are often peppered with strange nuances and abnormal phonetics.

Callsigns are often also rushed or abbreviated if those talking know each other and talk often. I have found this makes things very difficult. Of course its easy if you can ask them to slow down!

I find the best way is to record (on a PC) then play it back a few times to work out what is being said.

It might be worthwhile trying to tackle your noise problem too. Care to elaborate? Rememeber that the brain is a very effective filter. You just have to keep at it.

"Ultra" portable inherently means a very small ferrite bar antenna for LW-MW reception. Which will preclude any strong stand alone performance on LW-MW without an external LW-MW antenna like the Terk Advantage AM loop or something else for LW.

My picks for the ultimate "Ultra" portable are the Sony ICF-SW100 or ICF-SW07. Both have Synch Detectors.

999. Degen/Kaito 1103 (where to get?) (was: "Ultra" portable MW-SW-FM...)

I thank everyone for replying to my inquiry about the best small portable MW-SW-FM radio meeting my list of specs.

With regards to the various "Faraday Cage" comments, I'll not reply to them in any substantive way since that is off-topic here (want to focus on "radios"), but for those interested, just do a Google search on "EMP Faraday," and several informative articles will result.

Now, as I look things over, I'm getting more and more intrigued with purchasing a Degen/Kaito 1103 portable.

So, where can I find this model at the lowest price? Also, should I stick with a Kaito (for the American market), or can I consider a Degen? (I heard the walwart with the Degen is not for U.S. voltages.)

Thoughts? Recommendations?

Thanks!

Roger

> i know it's 30wpm+ is because i've been using G4FON software > to learn in the evenings

i wanted to brag a little too that i finally made a breakthrough on morse code.

i had been trying to learn morse code by learning individual letters at high speed. i would set the G4FON software to play the letter over and over at 30wpm and try to learn it's "sound" .. that is, instead of learning dashes and dots, i just tried to learn the overall sound the letters made. this was good, it was working, just very slowly, and i would forget the sound of the letter soon after i learned it, i just could not keep it in my mind.

then i got the HF rig working and started listening to some real morse code on the radio. it was similar because it's going pretty fast but i couldn't understand a bit of it, it's just too fast, and i can't recall the letters as i hear them. i started realizing all the time i was spending trying to learn letters just wasn't bearing any fruit.

then my motivation changed ... i started thinking, you know, to hell with it .... i'm going to skip all this crap i've been trying to learn and just try to figure out what the hell is going on in these radio conversations. instead of trying to figure out what every little letter is i just want to get some idea what they are talking about. so the way to do that, i discovered, was to take an entirely different approach. sort of a "wheel of fortune" kind of approach where you just learn enough letters to guess what the word is hahaha. so, what letters do i need to know ? THE SAME LETTERS YOU NEED IN WHEEL OF FORTUNE!!!

so i learned all the vowels first. then i started using G4FON's "common words" setting at 30wpm, and WOW! even just knowing the vowels you can make out an amazing amount of what's going on. and you learn a few other letters while learning the vowels just by the nature of doing it ... like "T" is at first easy to mess up with "E" because "E" is just a single beep sound. whereas "T" is a longer beep sound. so you learn 2 for the price of one because you have to be able to tell them apart. and learning "O" is a big help too, the vowel, because it's 3 long beeps and gives your mind a moment to pause and get back on track when it is recognized. do you know how many words have "T", "E", "A", "I", and "O" in them ? a freaking lot, that's how many. :) you can even make out some words just knowing those five letters.

so basically in about an hour i started comprehending some morse code that i wasn't able to do for weeks before using my other methods. i can even listen to the radio now and pick up a few words just because of the vowels and the very few other letters i know, and you can kind of see where the sentence is going just because you can pick up "a" and "on" and "be" and some other short words pretty easilly.

just thought i'd post that, maybe it will help someone else who is trying to learn it ...

"Since a couple of you are simply dying to know my true identity, let me give you a few tantalizing hints to see what you can do with them. I'm going to tell you about my father (I used to call him "Dad" when we were alone).

Daddy was a basketball star at Notre Dame University in South Bend, Indiana. He lettered during all of his seven years as an undergraduate, but then lost his eligibility when he took time out to write a thesis on the quantum electrodynamics of degenerate stellar atmospheres.

Unfortunately, the use of the word "degenerate" in his thesis nearly got him kicked out of Notre Dame. He straightened the situation out, and managed to graduate "semper ubi sub ubi" with the class of 1940, and immediately left for his favorite Chicago suburb -- Calumet City -- to start his life as a brand-new astrophysicist.

It was then that he got drafted into the army, so he put his ambitions aside and served his country as one of the most accomplished martial artists of the WWII era.

He had learned martial arts as a boy member of the Mafia in Chicago, and he single-handedly invaded several Japanese islands during WWII. Mayor Daily awarded him with the keys to the brothels of Chicago when he returned from the Pacific theatre, and that's how he met my mother.

Oh my. I may have given too much away: By now, you probably know precisely who I am."

Well, David recommended I look at the Sangean PT-80 ProTravel, so I assume his comment about me needing psychotherapy is because I did not take his recommendation.

David (and others), how does the PT-80 compare to the Degen/Kaito 1103 with respect to MW and SW reception performance?

I save quite a chunk of change going with the 1103, plus the 1103 is a little smaller and lighter. Also, my research indicates the 1103's performance in several important categories appears to be better than the PT-80. To me, it seems like a no-brainer.

Comments?

Thanks.

Er, ok.

Anyway, I'm considering using the Degen as my daily listener, and relegating the DX-399 to storage. So I am interested in the here and now ("pre-Cheney bomb".)

So, let's get back on track and compare. Let's compare the relative sensitivity (MW-SW), and audio quality using earbuds between the following "ultra" portable models:

Sangean PT-80
Sangean ATS-606 (essentially same as Radio Shack DX-399)
Degen/Kaito 1103
Sony ICF-SW7600GR
Sony ICF-SW100

(Of course, there's a great variation in price, and in features. The ATS-606/DX-399 does not have SSB, which to me is not important, but to others is important. When I bought my DX-399, I paid ~$35, so it was a no-brainer to get -- I should have bought two.)

I'm sure a couple others could be added to the above list, but they should not be any larger than the largest already there.

Roger

The Sangean 909 is aka the Radio Shack DX-398, which I also acquired at the same time that I acquired the DX-399. The DX-399 is about the half the size. It is really a terrific choice for a backpacking tour of Europe, Australia, Asia, etc. What a gem.

* PLEASE NOTE: The report "could" contain "Pirate/SLIM" operations or more likely a "BUSTED CALLSIGN". As always, you never know - "Work First Worry Later" (WFWL).

3B8, MAURITIUS. Operator Jurgen, DJ5HD, is now active as 3B8/DJ5HD until February 15th. Activity will be on 80-10 meters CW/SSB. He was heard this past on 40 meters CW after 1900z. QSL via his home callsign.

3Y, PETER I ISLAND. Probably by the time you read this the 3Y0X DXpedition should be on the air. Activity is expected to start Monday, February 6th, and last for about 12-14 days. This is probably the biggest DXpedition to hit the airwave to date. As this was being written, the 3Y0X Web page reported "Our current ETA at Peter I is Sunday, Feb. 5th at 2300 hours. Our first reconnaisance flight will be at first light on Monday morning about 0700Z weather permitting!" It also reports, "First four men ashore will be Erling/LA6VM, Bob/K4UEE, Ralph/K&#65533;IR and Bob/N6OX. The plan is to set up OP B and make it self-sufficient before building the main camp. This way if WX deteriorates, we will have a 'foothold' on the island with two stations QRV. If WX is OK, we will proceed with building the camp before going on the air." This operation should be fun to work with 9 stations on and with activity on 160-10/6/2 meters and 70cm. QSL via N2OO (Please read the note under QSL INFO AND NEWS...). Don, N1DG, Chief 3Y0X Pilot Station, states, "For up to the minute news on Peter I including videos from the Island the best source is the Peter I Web site.... There will be no releases by the team other than what we post as news on the Web site on a daily basis." The Web site is: http://www.peterone.com

4X, ISRAEL. Operator Isaac, 4Z4TL, will be active as 4X0L in the CQ WW WPX RTTY Contest (February 11-12th) as a Single-Op entry. QSL via 4Z4TL, direct or by the bureau.

4Z, ISRAEL. Alex, 4Z5KJ, will be active as 4Z5J in the CQ WW 160 SSB Contest (February 25-26th) as a Single-Op/Low-Power entry. QSL via W0MM.

5T, MAURITANIA. Jean, ON8RA/5T0JL, who is in Nouakchott, continues to be very active on 80/40/20/15/12 meters CW. Watch 80 meters between 0400-0630z, 40 meters between 2130-2300z, 20 meters between 2000-2200z, and 15/12 meters between 1500-2000z. QSL via ON8RA (correct on QRZ.com).

6W, SENEGAL. Dave, G4WFQ, is now active as G4WFQ/6W until February 17th. Activity will be on 160-10 meters including the WARC bands, mainly on CW and RTTY with some SSB. He was quite active this past week on 20/15 meters CW. Look for him to participate in next weekend's CQ WW WPX RTTY Contest (February 11-12th). QSL via G3SWH, by the bureau or direct with SAE and adequate return postage. Also, bureau QSLs can be received by sending and E-mail to: phil@g3swh.demon.co.uk

They include the "Certificates of Excellence", "Honor Rolls", "Basic Awards and "Operator Certificates" issued through December 31st (2005).

Vlady, R1ANN (RU3HD/ANT), is still on Novolazarevskaya Base (WAP RUS-09). He was heard on 80/40/30 meters CW and 20 meters SSB this past week. Vlady will leave the Russian Base on February 15th, and will head to Capetown, South Africa, onboard the M/V Akademik Federov. He hopes to operate as R1ANN/MM and RU3HD/MM on the way home. QSL via RZ3DJ.

Bhagwati, VU3BPZ, he is still at Maitri Base (WAP IND-03) for another week (contrary to the announced schedule) before sailing onboard M/V Paardeberg for the trip back home via Capetown, South Africa. He should operate onboard as VU3BPZ/MM. For Antarctic hunters, Bhagwati can be found on 14180 kHz around 1600z and later on between 14205 and 14280 kHz. QSL via VU3MKE at the following address: Mr. Manoj Kumar Dhaka, Trupati Valley No 7, D-Lane, Kewal Vihar, DEHRADUN, Uttaranchal - 248001 INDIA.

C6, BAHAMAS. Ivars, KC4PX, will be active from Nassau as C6APX during the CQ WW RTTY WPX Contest (February 11-12th) as a Single-Op/Low-Power entry. Activity will be on 40/20/15 meters. QSL via KC4PX.

CU2, AZORES. Toni, OH2UA, will be active as CU2A in the ARRL DX CW Contest (February 18-19th) as a Single-Op/All-Band/High-Power entry. QSL via OH2BH.

CU7, AZORES. Operators DL1MGB, DL5AXX and DL8WAA will be active here between February 12-20th. The team will be active in the ARRL DX CW Contest (February 18-19th) as a Multi-2 entry. QSL route and contest callsign (but possibly CU7/DL*) is not yet known. Outside of the contest the operators will focus on the low bands for Asia.

DXCC NEWS.....
Bill Moore, NC1L, ARRL DXCC Branch Manager, informs OPDX that the following operation is approved for DXCC credit:
YI9VCQ - Iraq, November 30, 2004, through November 5, 2005

Bill Moore, NC1L, ARRL DXCC Branch Manager, wants to remind everyone that the deadline for the next Honor Roll list is rapidly approaching. In order to be shown in the next list that will appear in the August 2006 QST, you must be current on the DXCC Honor Roll as of March 31, 2006. Applications must be postmarked no later than March 31, 2006. In order to qualify for the DXCC Honor Roll you must be within the numerical top 10 of the overall entities on the DXCC List. There are 335 current entities on the DXCC list, making the minimum level for the Honor Roll 326 current entities. (Deleted entities do not count towards this level). Wall plaques are still available for anyone who is currently on the Honor Roll. (If you were previously an Honor Roll member you can still order the wall plaque for this achievement). See the DXCC website for the latest order form at: http://www.arrl.org/awards/dxcc

DX MAGAZINE'S MOST WANTED SURVEY RESULTS. The DX Magazine has announced the results of their "2005 Most Wanted Survey" which was conducted between September and October for 2005. The top 10 Most Wanted DXCC Entities are:
1) Scarborough Reef 6) Navassa Island
2) Lakshadweep Islands 7) Desecheo Island
3) North Korea 8) Bouvet Island
4) Peter I Island 9) Glorioso Islands
5) Yemen 10) Andaman & Nicobar Islands

DXPEDITION TO ANTARCTIC AND SOUTHERN OCEAN. Members of the Trowbridge & District Amateur Radio Club TDARC, Jan/G0BBL and Chris/G0HFX, will travel to Terra del Fuego (IOTA SA-008) and Patagonia from February 3-13th.
They will be using the callsigns LU/G0BBL and LU/G0HFX. They are planning to be active on 15/20/30/40 meters, depending on the band conditions. Chris informed OPDX that the Radio Club of Ushuaia, LU8XW, has invited them to use their club station and let them work from IOTA SA-008 during their visit. The probable date is February 8th; the Radio Club of Ushuaia's monthly club night. This is probably going to be the best chance to work them as LU8XW since they have a contest grade club station. See the following Web page for details at: http://www.geocities.com/rcushu/Jan and Chris will leave February 13th on the Tall Ship "BARK EUROPA" and will be active on the high seas using the callsign PA5D/mm. Once they reach the British Antarctic territories, they will be signing VP8DJK. The two operators plan to land and operate from several islands of the South Shetland Islands Group (IOTA AN-010) through March 6th. Track the Tall Ship "Europa" via the following Web site at:
http://www.sailwx.info/shiptrack/shipposition.phtml?call=PDZS

FAR EAST TRIP (Update/IOTA Op). XYL Aniko, HA5TAA, was rewarded just before Christmas with a Far East trip by the company she works for. She will travel to the Far East and stay for 14 days and 12 nights between February 27th and March 12th. Her schduled route is the following:
2 nights in Bangkok (HS)
2 nights in Kuala Lumpur (9M2)
7 nights on the Island of Tioman (AS-046) (9M2)
1 night in Bangkok (HS) Aniko is very happy with receiving this reward, but disappointed that Feri (OM) can't come with her. Rashid, 9M2RS, is helping in get her a license (9M2/HA5TAA). She states that there are no resident HAMs on Tioman.
She will take the couple's station with a simple dipole and expects to work on 20 meters SSB.

FO/A, AUSTRAL ISLANDS. Operators Wulf/DL1AWI, Mat/DL5XU and Erik/DL9AWI are now active from Raivavae Island (OC-114, Austral Islands, FO-122) as FO/DL9AWI and FO/DL1AWI. Activity will last until February 14th. Activity will have an emphasis on the lower bands, especially 160m. Their Web site will be updated frequently at: http://www.radioklub.de/cgcg QSL via DL3APO, by the bureau or direct. JUST A REMINDER: Operators will travel to Auckland, New Zealand (IOTA OC-036) next. Activity will be between February 17th to March 2nd using the callsigns ZL/homecall/m.

HK, COLOMBIA. Girts, YL2KL, will be active as HK1/YL2KL from HK1AR's QTH in Cartagena, February 10-20th. Activity will include the CQ WW WPX RTTY and ARRL DX CW Contests as Single-Op/All-Band/High-Power entries. He will also emphasize activity on 160/80/40 meters. QSL via YL2KL.

IOTA NEWS.....
EU-170. Look for 9A0CI to activate the Lighthouse Veli Rat on Dugi Otok Island, April 14-22nd.

OC-258. Operators Jerry/P29ZAD, Norm/P29NB, Tommy/P29TL and Peter/P29KPH will activate Kranket Island (Papua New Guinea's Coastal Islands North), March 17-20th (Starting 0000z). Callsign will be P29K. Activity will be on 80-6 meters. QSL via LZ1JZ. For more info, please visit: http://p29k.blogspot.com

J75, DOMINICA. The W2RZS Amateur Radio Club will be returning to Dominica for the 2006 CQ WPX SSB Contest in March. They expect to arrive on March 22nd and depart on March 28th. Last year they logged over 6500 QSOs. This year they hope to be able to break that record. They will be concentrating more of their activity on the low bands; 160/80/40 meters, and hope to increase their number of RTTY QSOs. Their expected callsign will be the same as last year: J75RZ. All QSLs should be sent to W2RZS with a SASE, or sent ONLY to W2RZS via the bureau. The operators will be: Mike/WA2VQW, Bob/WB2NVR, Bob/N2DVQ and Adam/N2DHH. Their location this trip will be Sea Cliffs Cottages, a location that is a bit closer to the ocean than the one they had last year.

JV800, MONGOLIA. Naran, JT1BV, Member Board of MRSF, informs OPDX that all JT HAM's will be celebrating the 800th anniversary of the Great Mongolian State using the special event prefix "JV800" with their own callsign suffix (ex. JV800BV via JT1BV) until the end of this year. QSL via their home callsigns (QRZ.com address).

JW, SVALBARD. Operators Tony/LA9VDA (JW9VDA), Andy/LA8AJA (JW8AJA) and Morton/LA9DFA (JW9DFA) will be active from Spitsbergen Island (EU-026) between February 23rd and March 1st. Activity will be on all bands, CW, SSB and RTTY. QSL JW8AJA and JW9VDA via LA9VDA: Trond Johannessen, Helgedalen 13, N-1528 Moss, Norway. QSL JW9DFA via LA9DFA: Morten Kvenmoen, Brodbol, N-2224 Austmarka, Norway. PLEASE NOTE: QSL cards for JW9VDA can be requested via E-mail to: la9vda2003@yahoo.no
For direct QSLs, please include a self-addressed envelope and sufficient return postage. For postage to EU and the rest of the world, 1 USD is not enough. Please provide at least 1 IRC or 2 USDs. Direct QSLs without sufficient return postage and SAE will be answered through the bureau.

KH6, HAWAII. Operators KH6YY, KH6ND, KH7U, WH6R, AH6OZ, AH6NF, I8QLS, W1NA, W6NV, K6NA, N6ND and N6TJ will be active as KH6YY during the ARRL DX SSB Contest (March 4-5th) as a Multi-Multi entry. QSL via K2PF.

NEW OFFICERS FOR 2006. Members of the South Florida DX Association (SFDXA) have elected the following people to serve in the 2006-2007 Board of Directors for their club:
President Steve Romagni, W4DTA Director Kappy Kapplan, WA4WTG
V.President Bruce Phegley, W4OV Director Mark Horowitz, K2AU
Treasure Bill Marx, W2CQ Director Don Search, W3AZD
Secretary Richard Gillingham, W1RG Director Norm Alexander, W4QN

P4, ARUBA (Contest Update). John, W2GD, will be active as P40W between February 16th and March 8th. Activity will be on the WARC bands and 160 meters. Also, look for him in the ARRL DX CW Contest (February 18-19th) as Single-Op/All-Band entry and the CQ WW 160 SSB Contest (February 25-26th) Single-Op/High-Power entry. QSL via N2MM.

PIRATE ALERT. Art, ZL2HE (YJ0HE), informs OPDX that a pirate station has been using the YJ8UU callsign for the last 2 years. Stuart/YJ8UU and Art dismantled the station and antennas in September 2002. There are still plenty of QSL cards available from these two stations via ZL2HE. 2 USDs or one IRC will bring a quick response. View QRZ.com for the new ZL2HE address.

PY0S, ST. PETER AND ST PAUL ROCKS. Joca, PY0S/PS7JN, who will be or is about to go QRT from the scientific Brasilian base on St. Peter and St. Paul Rocks, has posted some photos of his previous expeditions to the Rocks on the following Web site: http://www.geocities.com/ps7jn/
PLEASE NOTE: The QSL information on that site looks to now be obsolete. Joca has posted in some detail on QRZ.com how to go about QSLing the current PY0S/PS7JN operation.

QSL INFO AND NEWS.....
QSL BUREAU ACTIVITY ON A DECLINE??? (Story continues!) Nenad, VE3EXY, informs OPDX that the VE QSL Bureau has also experienced a decline over the last 6 years. He states, "... a decline of 60 kg in the year 2005, or almost 300 kg less than in its best days (2001). The rule of thumb is that 1 kg = 333 QSL cards (e.g. 500 kg = 165000 cards). This trend is mostly driven by solar activity, but also by increasing postal costs, aging DX population, and electronic QSLing alternatives."
PLEASE NOTE: It would be interesting to hear from other area QSL Bureaus to see if they are experiencing the same decline. QSL Bureau Managers are welcome to send a small report to OPDX.

3Y0X, CE0Z AND XR9A QSL INFO. QSL Manager Bob, N2OO, reports that QSLs for XR9A/8, XR9A/MM and XR9A can be sent in the same envelope via N2OO. He asks that QSLs for CE0Z sent via N2OO be sent in a separate envelope. For more detailed info, go to: http://www.qsl.net/n2oo/history/qsl-n2oo.htm
Bob also asks that QSLs for 3Y0X be sent in a separate envelope via N2OO.
3Y0X QSL info: http://www.peterone.com/qsl.htm
Sending cards for multiple calls in one envelope will SERIOUSLY delay your QSL. Please send separately if at all possible!

QSL Manager Emir, 9A6AA, informs OPDX that the logs for 9A150NT (all 9A counties) are available at: http://www.hamradio.hr/9a150nt
Logs will be updated from time to time during 2006. More information about the special event station, 9A150NT, and the "Nikola Tesla Award" is available at: http://www.inet.hr/9a6aa/9a150nt.htm

NEW QSL MANAGER. Phil, N1KI, informs OPDX that he is now the QSL Manager for the T40C contest station. The station is currently manned by Winston/CO2WF and Willy/CO2UG. Look for T40C to be active in the important CW Contest such as CQ WW DX, CQ WW WPX, ARRL International and possible ARRL 10m International Contest.

NOT THE QSL MANAGER. Raul, DK3KC, who is the QSL Manager for their local section of the DARC, reports that DL5NAM is "NOT" the QSL Manager for ST2M and ST2BSS. In the past he has received a lot of QSL cards for DL5NAM (for ST2M and ST2BSS). All of the QSL cards are being returned to the sender via the bureau.

TOP 5 QSL MANAGER SURVEY HAS ENDED. John, K1XN, announced this past week that the "2005 TOP 5 QSL Manager Survey" has ended. John states, "The survey this year was lacking in interest by the DX community as a whole. Less than 100 responses were received from USA/CANADA. Less than a thousand responses in total were received. Nothing like the response from years past. Maybe this indicates that everyone is getting their contacts confirmed by LoTW or eQsl!! It distrubs me that DXers will not take a few minutes to respond to a survey to honor a group of guys/gals that give of so much time and money so the rest of us can enjoy receiving awards and other benefits of DXing. I guess times are changing more rapidily than I thought. The Top 5 survey WILL NOT be conducted for 2006. Maybe this will give DXers time to work some stations and have the benefit of using the best QSL service in the world 'QSL Managers'." Here is the complete list of the nominees for the Top 5 awards for 2005:
CE6TBN EA5KB IZ8CCW KU9C N7RO VE3XN WV7Y
DJ2MX EA7FTR IZ8CGS LU4DXU ON5NT VK9NS YB9BU
DJ2YE F6AJA IZ8EDJ M5AAV PA3GIO W2GHK

DJ9ZB G3SWH JE1LET N2OO RU6FZ W5UE
DK7YY G3SXW K1BV N3SL RW6HS W7EJ
DL4XS G3TXF K2PF N4AA RZ3EC WA3HUP
DL7AFS HB9BOU K3PD N4JR SM1TDE WA4JTK
DL7CM I2MQP K4TSJ N4XP UA3DX WA4WTG
DL7DF IT9DAA K8LEE N5FTR UA4WHX WB3DNA
EA4URE IT9YRE KB6NAN N6RT VE3HO WD9EWK

The Top 5 QSL Managers that received the most nominations will be selected and will be announced very soon. An award plaque or plate for a plaques will be awarded via mail to the winners. John thanks all of you that responded with your choices of the best of the best QSL Manager world wide. He also thanks all QSL Managers for helping the rest of us enjoy our hobby of DXing. He certainly hopes that many rewards come to you for giving of your time and money to make the rest of us happy..... "QSL MANAGERS ARE #1" de John K1XN

SF7, SWEDEN (Attention Prefix Hunters!). Sten, SM7WT, will be active (using a new prefix) as SF7WT, starting February 15th, to celebrate his 50 years as a ham. QSL via SM7WT. Sten states, "All prefixes from SA0 to SM7 can be expected to be used in the future."

SV3, GREECE. Nick, SV1VS, will be active as SV1VS/SV3 from KM-16 and KM-06 (EU-158 - Peloponnisos [Messinia] Region Group), August 20th through September 29th. Activity will be on 80-6 meters CW/SSB/RTTY/FM, and also 2m and 70cm all modes. QSL via SV1VS.

SX5, DODECANESE. Operators SV5AZP, SV5DDP, SV5DKL, SV5FRB and SV5FRD will be active as SX5P in the CQ WW WPX SSB Contest (March 25-26th) as a Multi-2 entry. QSL via: HATJIGAVRIIL DIONISIOS, P.O.BOX 437 GR 85100, RHODES ISLAND, GREECE .

T7, SAN MARINO. John, T77CD, will be active during the CQWW RTTY WPX Contest (February 11-12th). QSL direct only via I0MWI.

V25, ANTIGUA. Operators Bob/W4OWY and Mark/W9OP will be active as V25WY and V25OP, respectively, between March 13-19th. Activity will be on 160-6 meters CW/SSB/RTTY. They will focus on the low bands. QSL via their home callsigns, by the bureau or direct.

VU4, ANDAMAN ISLANDS. David, K3LP, has announced that he will be active from April 18-20th, as VU4/K3LP or another assigned callsign to be issued prior to arrival. Activity will be on 160-10 meters and the 10 MHz band. David plans to arrive on April 14-15th, and depart May 3rd. If the operational time is extended by the Government of India beyond April 20th, look for David to be on the air until his departure date. QSL via W3ADC. Also, watch the following Web page for updates at:
http://www.K3LP.com

YI, IRAQ (Remote Station/Clarification). Brad, K6WR, informs OPDX the W7DXX InterNet Remote Base Group now has an InterNet Remote Base system operating in Baghdad, Iraq, under the callsign YI9DXX. The system is available when there is AC power from the mains, but that is usually only a few hours per day, and the hours are not necessarily consistent from day to day. The system is usually active on 75 meters between 2100-2300z and on 20 meters between 1300-1600z. For more details on the operation, please visit: http://www.w7dxx.com

ZD8, ASCENSION ISLAND. Operators Bill/W4WX and Jan/K4QD will be active as ZD8WX and ZD8QD, respectively, on February 20th. They will remain on the island until March 2nd. Bill is taking a new 160m vertical (MA160V) provided by Cushcraft. They will also have antennas for 80-10 meters. Look for them on CW, PSK-31, RTTY and SSB. QSL ZD8WX direct to W4WX and ZD8QD via the Bureau or direct to K4QD. Read all about the island at:
http://www.ascension-island.gov.ac/
Also, visit Bill's Web page at: http://www.geocities.com/w4wx1

ZD9, TRISTAN DA CUNHA. Operator Simon, IZ7ATN, will be active as ZD9ADT now through February 12th. QSL via IZ0CKJ. No further information was given.

I'm not a big fan of Sony. They break.

I have an ATS-606A (it has 1 KHz fine tuning). I enjoy it. The PT-80 intrigues me.

Thanks for your reply. I have recorded from my shortwave radio before but never thought about recording ham conversations for deciphering. I should do that. Also I should point out that I am referring to voice communications rather than morse code.

During the warmer seasons, I prefer to take my radio outside and listen while walking around. This lets me get far away from interference sources. While indoors, I am getting adequate reception from international broadcasters with some noise. Last night while listening to some ham radio operators, I was able to clearly hear a nearby person (in San Jose) but some others were faint.

I posted a few weeks ago in rec.radio.shortwave asking for some interference reduction advice. I'm on the top floor of an apartment building. There are dimmer switches in my apartment, and I turn them off when listening. I have a DE31 active loop antenna, but it typically doesn't improve the reception vs. the whip on my SW7600GR. My whip antenna is right by my window. Recently I've been placing the whip antenna horizontal, which I've heard can reduce some interference. I always run my radios with rechargeable NiMH batteries.

I've only been involved in shortwave radio for several months, so I'd be glad to hear any additional advice regarding interference.

thanks!

Will everything everywhere be wiped out by the bomb? Will all transmitters be wiped out? I figure that Europe will be spared, and thus

I can listen to the BBC. EMP covers a narrowly defined area. You can't get it to cover whole continents unless you send it REALLY high up in the atmosphere. The only rogue state with ICBMs is North Korea, and if Kim would launch anything, he'd launch an actual bomb instead of an EMP device. Of course, the USA could send up an EMP device over Iraq, but they already have ways to counter cell phone triggered IEDs (now the insurgents run wires).

Isn't "Miss Nude Islam" an oxymoron? In fact, isn't the beauty pageant considered to be against Islam? In fact, we'd probably have Dialing For Jihad, an imam will say a prayer to help your car bombing be successful, and will read appropriate verses from the Quran. All for 499 riyals. We'd have game shows like Tribal Feud, people try to guess what Muhammad actually said (And the Prophet Says...) with the winners killing the losers. We'd have Jerry Springer like shows: My Wife Shows Her Ankles In Public! The host would give the husband a scimitar to behead his whorish wife with, then the audience would attack each other. Ah, the brave new world of the universal Islamic caliphate!

Well, you won't find as good of a deal as Radio Shack had. The PT-80 is cheap and is a better clock than a radio, according to Passport. If you like the 606, get another one, but you won't get it for anywhere near $35. If you want a Degen (either the 1103 or the sister rx the 1102) then you can find new ones for $50 on Ebay. If you want a Sony, you'll pay through the nose ($150 for the 7600-IF you can find one). When there are better, cheaper portables out there, why bother? Bottom line: if you want an identical twin to what you've got, buy the Sangean. If price is a concern, buy the Degen. Oh, and ignore David, he's a weirdo.

Well, price is a consideration, but so is performance.

When it comes to receiver performance (sensitivity/selectivity/etc.)
how does the Degen/Kaito 1103 compare with the Sangean ATS-606?

From what I've read, the 1103 is a better performer in this regard. It is supposedly at least as good in audio quality (to earbuds.) And throw in SSB to boot.

The one downside to the 1103 compared to the 606 is that it is slightly larger in size and weight (but not much.)

Anyone here done a side-by-side comparison between the 1103 and 606 (or the equivalent RS DX-399) with respect to MW-SW reception?

And where can I get a Degen 1103 for $50? I checked on eBay, but haven't found a seller yet at this price. The best price I've found for any 1103 is $89 (and a Kaito which is for the American market.)

Anyone?

Roger

Try an ebay seller named Liypn, his store is V Com Collections. His radios are labeled Degen and are for the Chinese market (but mostly labeled in English) and run around $45 or so. He doesn't use the name Degen at all in his posts, just the model "1103". Search for "1103" or some other radios he carries like "Tecsun" (called Grundig or Eton in the US) and some ads from him should pop up. Whenever I need to find his site I search for "Tecsun" and then look in the results for V Com Collections (be careful not to click the wrong store-two or three show up). I don't have either radio, so I can't give you a side by side test. Ask someone who has 100 radios (there are several here) for an opinion.

Poor Markie, he only has sex with his altzheimer's ridden daddy and little boys in the Chappell, MI area.

All the time, faggot......and it's heterosexual, unlike your perverse sex habits.

I heard that when you got arrested for fucking that pumpkin, Davies, that Officer Taylor
relly felt like she didn't have to call a male officer to strip search you, since you had the equipment of a woman......

I heard that when you got arrested for DUI last Novermber you whined that Officer Taylor actually get a male officer to do it ddespite the fact that when she arrested you for fucking that pumpkin before, she saw that you had the "equipment" of a woman. "No wonder you are still a

I personally have some major power line interference nearby that even makes noise on 144MHz. One day I'll go and track it down! (Not that the power company will do anything!)

- You'll generally find that a horizontally polarised antenna will receive less local noise than a vertical. Note I am not talking about close noises sources (say less than 100 yards) but those up to a ground wave distances away. Also keep in mind that the receiver you are using may have some of its antenna "internal" in the form of a ferrite etc bar that might alse be responding to other polarisations. (ie also try rotating the radio)

- Many noise reduction techniques come out of specialized receiver design. This of course doesnt help you!. DSP techiques for example sampling much more than the usual AM/SSB bandwidths to apply digital filters make a huge difference nowadays.

- It is also conceivable that what you perceive as noise may even be fundamental overload of the receiver front end with strong signals. ie the radios selectivity isnt good. There are various ways to combat that. If the active loop antenna has a tuning adjustment this can make a huge difference. The main help will be a directive antenna of some variety.

- I should point out that I have heard anecdotal evidence that a magloop antenna receives less noise but I have never found out why. I dont know if your active loop antenna is one of these. They would normally have a manual adjustment for frequency - that I dont see...

- You can use phase addition/subtraction techniques to suppress interference/noise from a single source. Probably not helpful in your case but still worth mentioning.

- The active antenna may be helpful if it has a reception/radiation pattern nulls that can be positioned to point at the noise source.

- Noise blanker and noise limiter circuits are useful if the receiver has them. If I was into SWL nowadays I'd be using a DSP filter, possibly by using a PC soundcard.

- If you run a remote antenna (eg an outside dipole) ensure that the currents in the feedline are balanced. (Use a balun etc) This makes errant signal pickup along the feedline length less of a problem. (Or coax transmitting RF if it is connected to a transmitter)

- An RF ground is important for noise reduction. Given your top floor location though this may be difficult. Not a good idea to use the power/utility ground as that will be full of noise. Note that a balanced antenna system removes the need for RF earthing as one side of it "works against the other" rather than against a ground counterpoise.

- The best noise solution is to tackle the sources.

- Ham radio ops will generally be much weaker than broadcast stations. An antenna (or 3) tuned for the job may even be a good investment.

Probably not all that helpful, sorry.

Cheers Bob

Yes. The 1103 wins in sensitivity and sound over the 606. MW reception on the 1103 is excellent too.

How about (RVolger at cityofglendalewv dot com) as a place to send copies of your posts? I'm sure that Volger can contact both Google and Microsoft to find proof of your real ID.

After that, he can have you recomitted to the mental hospital.

This threat of war is fake. The pigs want to scare you into

On Ebay you will get the best price for a Degen DE 1103. The Kaito badged DE 1103 can be had in the U.S. for about $30.00 more.

Rather than trying to use the built-in wall wart charger I opted to rotate two sets of NIMH batteries and a separate charger. The built-in set-up for charging was not well designed because you have to set the number of hours for charging - no auto sensing circuit on either model. Leaving a portable hooked up for 12 hours seemed to defeat it's purpose as a portable.

BWHAHAHAHAHA..no such email address exists, dumbass. How about Chief Harper of the Athens police Department would be interested in your firebombing of those churches, tubby.
You know from Nim Busters he does have an addy, dont' you?
They can't contact anybodylike Google or Microsoft without a court order, fatty, and it sure won't come back to Roger Wiseman, even if they did.
That shows how little you know.

> After that, he can have you recomitted to the mental hospital.

Roger was never committed to a mental hospital, dumbass. But you spent a year in one at Independance Iowa, didn't you?
That was right after your mommy caught you stealing money from her purse and you physically assulted her.

How is it YOU know all the gay bars, Lloyd? Oh, that's right, the only reason you are a 32 year old virgin is because you are homosexual. And Lloyd, you are the one who enjoys being hugged and kissed by a man.

My Doug keeps a hot plate in the petro toilet so he can make grilled smegma cheese sandwiches form home grown trucker cheese. He is quite a singer too....he greets the truckers with this little diddy.....

Wink at me
And I'll slurp up your pee pee
I am duggie

I'll do gayboy things
If you want me to
I am duggie

They are yours
My mouth and anal hole
Hammies, you've got full control
I am duggie

Pull another string
And I'll suck your ding a ling
I am duggie

Snap your fingers
And I'll turn gay sex tricks for you
I am duggie

Your wish for some head is my command
I'm the biggest fag
On the CB band
I am duggie

I'm just a queen
A fag-assed little queen
Why are you hammies so mean?

You have control
I do what I'm told
I'll do just anything for you
I am duggie

I am duggie

Just pull down your zipper
And I'll deep throat your dong
I am duggie

Make me get butt fucked
Or make me your gay slut
I am duggie

Use me hard
I love those hard gay tricks
Im a big faggot
And I love to suck on dicks
I am duggie

I'm your sukkin, fukkin
Jizz eatin' little faggot
I'm dyin for some cock
I'll blow the Anti flock

Blow you
Rim you
Triiiiiiiick fooooor youuuuu

I am N8WWM DUGGIE

Three times to listen for a Ham callsign
At the beginning of a contact
Hams must Identify every 10 minutes
Hams must give their callsign when signing off

Once you have the callsign - go to QRZ.com URL:
http://www.qrz.com/
Enter callsign and in the results look for their e-mail address
It's given in jpeg to avoid the spiders from harvesting - so write it down and compose a new e-mail

Handy to have a pencil and scratch pad ready -- you may only get part of the call
Keep listening to fill in the rest

In case the Ham jargon is jibberish -- see AMATEUR RADIO GLOSSARY JARGON, ABBREVIATIONS AND TERMINOLOGY

At URL:
http://ac6v.com/jargon.htm

Good luck es 73

Oh, I didn't realize that part. I assumed this was to address the closest noise sources.

I agree there. In some cases I can use the antenna trimmer on the SW7600GR to improve the signal.

I guess I'm not sure if there are any differences between a magloop and an active loop antenna. Most of what I know about active loop antennas is from this antenna review:

Ah, that's good to know. Most hams I've heard seem to ignore the "identify every 10 minutes" part though! I'll chalk that up to not noticing the passage of time.

Spiffy, thanks for that URL and the jargon link as well.

1114. Why is my car radio acting strangly?

My 1999 Toyota radio has just started acting strangly: the FM seems fine, but the AM radio is producing a wierd kind of static every time I drive over a bump. Even a little bump. The "static" sound is similar to the sound you hear when listening to AM during a storm and there is lightening nearby. It's quite annoying.

Is my radio going bad?
Is the antenna connection loose?
Could it have to do with static control (somehow) because of the winter weather?

Any advice?
Thanks!

Sounds like a loose wire or something scraping metal on or near one section of the whole radio/antenna setup. if you grab a piece of wire and scratch it back and forth on the radio case (metal) you will get the same effect. Start looking for loose connections/case/wires under dash etc.

Any time 2 pieces of metal rub together they can create the radio static you describe. Something's loose in your car and it's not necessarily the wiring.

Brake static discharge!! Brake dust can cause static also.

Many times when rotors are changed or removed for machining the static spring is left out. Static electricity is built up on the tires and with no path to the body builds up until a bump is hit causing the wheel to bounce up, reducing the gap to the point discharge takes place.

Still doesn't mean it's a real workibg address, shithead. You stick to that "Weekend Computer" sticking in obsolete ram chips because you don't know shit about the computer, tubby.
In fact the ionly working e-mail adress for them is the tip e-mail adress. You lose, mentally ill moron.

> You lose again, dumbass Wiseman!

BWHAHAHAHA no such address exists.. your lies have been expossed, fatty.

You see Roger everywhere, fatty......you are his gay stalker.

PS. The FBI has been made aware of your attitudes about blacks and your threats to burn down churches..have fun thinking about them knocking on your door again, kiddie porn maker. They know you are behind the latest torchings in Alabama.

Still doesn't mean it's a real workibg address, shithead. You stick to that "Weekend Computer" sticking in obsolete ram chips because you don't know shit about the computer, tubby.
In fact the ionly working e-mail adress for them is the tip e-mail adress. You lose, mentally ill moron.

What is "expossed"?????

And what is http://www.cityofglendalewv.com/gdpolice.links.html, huh?

CITY OF GLEN DALE POLICE DEPARTMENT

402 WHEELING AVENUE

GLEN DALE, WEST VIRGINIA 26038

TELEPHONE 1-(304)-845-5511

And Sgt. Vogler? What is RVogler@cityofglendalewv.com , huh?

No such address exists? BUAHAHAHAHAHA!

Looks like YOU are the one who has been "expossed", little man. I hope the good Sgt. enjoys your comments.

1141. SWR VS Power Output

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.misc

From: lkokot <lkokot@sonic.net>
Message-ID: <43e957d8$0$58091$742ec2ed@news.sonic.net>
Source record: 45440

I have noticed a strange phenomenon when tuning up on different bands. On 40 meters, using a nearly resonant dipole, the SWR drops as I increase power and the tuner responds much better, i.e. tunes out all the reactance. On 15 meters, using a nearly resonant dipole, the opposite occurs. At low power, SWR is well behaved, and it is easy to get a match using the tuner. As you increase power past a certain point, about 30-40 watts, SWR shoots up, and the best the tuner can do is about 1.5 to 1. or so. I am using #18 guage insulated wire for the 15 meter dipole and #14 guage bare wire for the 40 meter dipole. My feedline in both cases is 50 feet RG-8X, a .25 inch d. low loss (@2 db/100 ft at 30 MHZ) coax to a coax balun at the antenna feedpoint.

Thank you, and 73

What is "Menatl" Roger?
What is a "Duid" Roger? Is that one of those Shemales that you love so well.
Can you spell Independence? Can you spell anything correctly, you 12th grade flunkout?
Oh, I forgot that you can't spell independence because you don't understand the meaning of the word.

What is "heer" and "ina" Roger? Heer rhymes with Queer and that's you Woger.
But that's the effect of attending the crappy schools in West Virginia and Florida, Bubba Boy!

You seem to obsess over Roger. It sounds as if you are the queer of the HUD apartmert complex you have to live in with those niggers you and your whore mommy suck off on a nightly basis. And, you are so in love with Roger, but he isn't a queer like you are.
But, all you will ever be is a minimum wage pizza delivery BOY.................

Hi Lee

I'd suggest its a non linear frequency response of the devices (diodes?) that are used in the SWR measurement circuit.. At the higher freq you also get the other variable of a higher sense voltage for the same Po. (larger fraction of a wavelength)

And depending on your configuration what you read as SWR will vary depending where you are on the feeldine. No doubt others that know all the theory on this will jump in and comment on this.

Do you know if the balun really is leaving the feedline current balanced?

ie quite a few variables to contend with.

If you really want to find the reason I would suggest using a resistive load for an experiment. I'd suggest that the behaviour would change..

Cheers Bob VK2YQA

1178. Code practice or numbers station on 10125 khz?

I've heard on several occasions a very strong (S9 to 20dB over S9 in mid-atlantic US) CW transmission on 10125 kHz with 5-letter groups, separated by BT's and AR's. Speed is probably 10 or 15 WPM. Hours are sporadic but it happens most often the middle of the night (like 0500 through 1000 GMT).

Is this some sort of scheduled code practice transmission, or is this a variation on the "numbers stations" coded messages?

Way back when Roger was but a toddler, back when his mommy was a

Hi,
I have a slightly sick Cushman CE50-TG-1 service monitor and was wondering if anyone has taken any voltage readings from a working unit they would be willing to share.
I need to check the voltages at test points 3 & 4 on the 29000 board with the frequency set between 9.9999mhz and 100khz. That should give me the normal range for both the A & B VCO's control voltage's. (referenced to chassis ground) Any other voltages would be helpful so I can note them for future reference.
Sure would have been nice if Cushman would have provided some basic voltage readings on the schematics.

Any help would be appreciated,
Thanks,
RoD

Roger cannot post these sorts of things because he has been forever banned from having an Altopia account due to past abuses. Yes, Chris Caputo has banned Roger for life and refuses to have anything to do with Roger.
Roger is afraid of losing yet another ISP and besides, he has a policeman from Glendale, WV, a Sgt. Vogler, keeping an eye on him. (the Glendale police officers ALL know Roger) The Glendale officers are well aware that Roger has mental deficiencies and is considered a "person of interest".

Hi Lee

Well the first thing is to pull the tuner out and try;

rig - swr meter - dummy load

Assuming you have the meter as a separate entity. This will verify the dummy load. If not at least check its resistance with an ohm meter. Not a perfect check but if its open you know there is a problem there as well! Your test against the load then antenna though implies the antenna is close to perfect without the tuner!

I'd suggest though that the tuner has a major problem that needs a look. Why not open it and have a poke around? Bypass mode should be a direct connection to the output but I'll admit I dont know the model. Is it a coaxial antenna connection thing or open wire feeder? You could argue that anything that detunes a almost perfect match to a dummy load implies it is broken!

What are the specs/power handling of the tuner?

But look there: Microsoft keeps logs of who had what IP address at what time, as well as who was using their proxy servers at any given time. All that Sgt Vogler has to do is to subpoena those records by filling out a standard form that he probably keeps in his desk drawer.

After that, poor mentally ill Roger will be busted.

ARRL LOOKING FOR MONEY

It seems the Asshole Radio Relay League (ARRL) is looking for money to run W1AW......Hmmm sounds to me like pecuniary interest to me.

>From the ARRL Website

Help support W1AW . . . more than an Amateur Radio tradition! (Feb 8, 2006) -- Since its dedication in 1938, ARRL Maxim Memorial Station W1AW has served as a beacon for the Amateur Radio community in the US and around the world. While a symbol of the past, W1AW continues to play an active role in Amateur Radio's present and in helping to forge its future. Experiments at W1AW include work with cutting-edge digital technologies and satellite reception techniques. Continuing traditions are code practice and bulletin transmissions. The stop at the historic little brick building in front of ARRL Headquarters also is the highlight of any visit to the League. Radio amateurs thrill at having the opportunity to operate from W1AW, often generating pileups of stations equally excited about making a contact with what may be the world's best-known ham radio call sign. Now you can take part in helping to preserve and advance W1AW as a tradition and a trendsetter. ARRL is working to build a permanent fund to cover W1AW's annual operations and capital needs. "Your support will help keep W1AW at the cutting edge of technology," said ARRL CEO David Sumner, K1ZZ. "I know you share with me a strong sense of history and a desire for W1AW to continue as an active and vibrant station, contributing to the Amateur Radio community for years to come." The League invites contributions in any amount--or a pledge spread out over time to the W1AW Endowment Fund. Help to ensure that W1AW will remain the flagship station of the ARRL! For information on other giving options, contact ARRL Chief Development Officer Mary Hobart, K1MMH, 860-594-0397.

[N9OGL NOTE] Where's the FCC when this pecuniary interest is happening?? Answer: jacking off behind W1AW with ARRL Fun money in pocket!!! and Hollingworth hand down Sumner pants!!

Kind of like your small brain huh Wogie. But we all know that how small your brain is. It's exhibited by the IQ you show every time you open your freezer mouth. I guess in that case your freezer mouth should not be accepting all that meat.

When my car radio had that problem, I FINALLY fixed it by running an extra wire from the negative side of the battery to the car's body. It was hard to trace an intermittent ground. I gave the ole multimeter a good workout that day.

I have heard from reliable sources that not only do BPL trials reveal interference issues for HF users, but have shown to be susceptible to external interference i.e. radio transmissions and other electrically generated noise.

Should I suggest that we do monitor trials, but participate in them with completely legal operations within close proximity with open wire lv main that are involved in the trials.

that raises a good question. had there been any engine work where they may have inadvertantly left the ground strap from the body to the engine off or loose? keep in mind as posted below the body is grounded to the engine block, and the battery neg goes to the engine block.

Greetings,

I am looking for a TB-37 Tower Base for my HG-37-SS Crank Up Hy-Gain / Telex Tower.

Does anyone have anything like this lying around?

Does anyone know of any other radio operators would possibly have one?

Any help would be appreciated.

The American Radio Relay League (ARRL) needs to be fined for it recent campaign to weasel money out of amateur radio operators. It does seem funny that K1MAN gets fined a total of $21,000, while the ARRL which is basically doing he same crap don't get fined at all. Lets look at some REAL FACTS:

1. K1MAN runs an Information bulletin
2. W1AW runs an information bulletin

3. K1MAN has interfered with ongoing communications
4. W1AW has interfered with ongoing communications

5. K1MAN has used his station for Pecuniary interest by giving his website address www.k1man.com
6. W1AW has used it station for pecuniary interest by giving out their website address www.arrl.org

7. K1MAN was fined $21,000 dollars for the stuff listed above.
8. W1AW has NEVER been fined for the stuff listed above.

9. The FCC isn't in K1MAN pocket
10 The FCC is in the ARRL pocket

K1MAN APRIL 14, 2004 LETTER

April 14, 2004

Mr. Glenn A. Baxter
RR 1 Box 776
Belgrade Lakes, ME 04918

RE: Amateur Radio license K1MAN

Dear Mr. Baxter:

This letter explains in what ways your Amateur station has come into compliance with Commission rules since our letter to you of January 29, 2002; and notifies you of two areas of operation that, if not corrected, will lead to enforcement action against your license and/or designation of your renewal application for a hearing.

By letter dated January 29, 2002, the Commission notified you that your understanding of various Amateur Radio Service rules was incorrect. We outlined your apparent misconceptions regarding station control, publishing a transmitting schedule and how that related to interference, threats made to licensee complainants, including threats made with so-called "felony complaint affidavits", broadcasting and broadcasting of tape recordings and telephone conversations.

The January 29 letter detailed complaints received by the Commission, and explained that your method of station control, i.e., "a timer from Radio Shack", did not achieve compliance with the Commission's Rules when you were not present at the control point for your station and, therefore, did not satisfy the Commission's Rules regarding automatic control of a station. We explained to you that to comply with the Commission's Rules you must be at the transmitter, or at the transmitter control point, every moment your station is transmitting when your station is locally or remotely controlled; and that if the station is controlled by telecommand from the control point using a radio link, the frequencies used for telecommand must comply with the Section 97.201 requirements for an auxiliary station (may transmit only on the 1.25 m and shorter wavelength bands, except 219-220, 222-222.150, 431-433 and 435-438 MHz segments).

By letter dated March 4, 2003, the Commission's Boston Office notified you that Commission monitoring and numerous complaints filed with the Commission indicated that the problems outlined in January 2002 had not been corrected. The letter stated that your Amateur station was apparently being used for broadcasting various programs having nothing to do with Amateur Radio; and that transmissions from your station were being used for deliberate interference and for communications in which you apparently had a pecuniary interest. The Boston Office letter stated that transmissions started and ended erratically, were sometimes repetitive and abruptly ended with no identification as required by Commission rules, and that such operation indicated that the transmissions were not under proper control of a licensed operator. The letter noted also that you continually broadcast notices of so-called "felony complaint affidavits " that you claimed to have filed with the United States Justice Department against other Amateur Radio licensees whom you perceived to have interfered with your broadcasts, or refused to relinquish their operating frequency to you.

The Boston Office's letter stated that transmissions from your Amateur station included references to a degree program and directed listeners to your website that advertised an "American Radio School Technician Degree in Electronics" for "$299.95". On that web site you solicited donations for radio equipment, advertised a credit card, and solicited donations and advertised for "IARN" and "AARA". The letter from the Boston office pointed out that such use of your station was in apparent violation of Section 97.113(a)(3) of the Commission's rules, which prohibits "Communications for hire or for material compensation, direct or indirect...." and "Communications in which the station licensee or control operator has a pecuniary interest..."

The letter from the Boston Office requested that you provide substantial additional information about the operation of your station, including submission of a log detailing the information on a weekly basis until further notice. In January 2004, the Boston office notified you that you could discontinue the log submissions, and referred the case to this office.

We have reviewed the information you submitted, as well as numerous complaints filed against your station. Additionally we have reviewed tape recordings made by Commission personnel of your transmissions at various times during 2003 and 2004 subsequent to the Boston Office letter of March 3, 2003.

It is the finding of this office that you are, with some exceptions, generally in compliance with the Commission's rules in the Amateur Service related to broadcasting and information bulletins, and we explain as follows. Broadcasting is prohibited in the Amateur Radio Service, with some exceptions. Section 97.3(a)(10) defines broadcasting as "transmissions intended for reception by the general public, either direct or relayed." One-way transmissions are limited in the Amateur service, but an exception is allowed in Section 97.111(b)(6) for "Transmissions necessary to disseminate information bulletins."

Information bulletins are defined by Section 97.3(a)(26) as messages "directed only to Amateur operators consisting solely of subject matter of direct interest to the Amateur service." There are no specific time limits placed upon information bulletins by Commission rules. A review of your programs at random times since March 3, 2003 indicates that your transmissions were directed to Amateur Radio operators, not to the general public, and that the individual bulletins were related to the Amateur Radio Service. The only notable exception was the offering of a reward for information leading to the identity of parties making threatening telephone calls to you.

The station control problems outlined to you in warnings from the Commission appear, with minor exceptions, to have been corrected. During the monitoring period your station abruptly ended transmission with no identification in one instance, and started transmissions in mid-sentence in another instance.

There are, however, two areas in the operation of your Amateur station that must be corrected in order to avoid enforcement action and/or a designation of your renewal application for hearing to determine if you are qualified to remain a licensee. These are: 1) deliberate interference resulting from your commencing operation on top of ongoing communications, in violation of Section 97.101(a) and (d); and 2) use of your Amateur station for pecuniary interests, in violation of Sections 97.113(a)(2)and (3).

Regarding deliberate interference, we receive continuing complaints, and our monitoring verifies, that your transmissions start up on top of existing communications of individual licensees as well as nets such as the Salvation Army Team Emergency Radio Network. Such operation constitutes deliberate interference. Stations engaging in ongoing communications are not obligated to stop transmitting when K1MAN wants to start transmitting on a frequency, and complainants are so advised by the Commission. You appear to believe that the publication of a transmission schedule gives you the right to begin transmitting on a certain frequency at a certain time, even if the frequency is occupied. It does not.

All frequencies in the Amateur Radio Service are shared--no frequency is assigned for the exclusive use of any station, and your Amateur station has no greater rights to a frequency at any particular time than any other Amateur station. Section 97.101(d) of the rules prohibits an Amateur station from willfully or maliciously interfering with any radio communication or signal. Moreover, publishing a schedule is merely one of the several conditions necessary for the control operator of a club station to accept compensation for transmitting information bulletins, pursuant to Section 97.113(d) of the Commission's rules. Your station K1MAN, however, is not a club station.

Regarding use of an Amateur station for pecuniary interest, we note that your Amateur Radio program transmissions regularly advertise your web page at www.K1man.com, and on those pages you advertise items for sale by the American Amateur Radio Association (AARA), including T shirts, hats and a "Technician Degree Diploma". You advertise the sales commissions and "overrides" that your State Directors and Section Managers can receive, and detail ways in which your Section Managers can earn money by recruiting members, selling hats, name badges or T shirts.

Section 97.113(a)(2) prohibits communications for hire or for material compensation, direct or indirect, paid or promised. Section 97.113(a)(3) prohibits communications in which the station licensee or control operator has a pecuniary interest.

We remind you that any attempts to threaten or intimidate Amateur radio licensees operating on the Amateur bands will reflect adversely upon your qualifications to remain a Commission licensee, and would be the subject of a license revocation or renewal hearing. By letter dated December 11, 2001, you were warned against the sending of your so-called "felony complaint affidavits" to various Amateur Radio licenses that you perceive to either cause interference to your station or which do not relinquish to you the frequency on which they are operating.

Complainants were advised by the Commission to forward any such "affidavits" they received to the Commission, and that they could otherwise be ignored. The United States Attorney for your jurisdiction also warned you that the mailing of such "affidavits" is contrary to law. Apparently you have discontinued those threats. We also remind you that, in regard to the taping and broadcasting of telephone calls, you must comply with applicable state laws.

In conclusion, failure to correct the deliberate interference caused by K1MAN, and the continued use of K1MAN for pecuniary interests, will lead to enforcement action against your license. Either would be sufficient to designate your renewal application for an evidentiary hearing to determine if you are qualified to remain a Commission licensee.

An adverse finding in regard to threats to complainant licensees, or violation of state law regarding recording and broadcasting telephone conversations, would lead to enforcement action against your license and would be sufficient to designate your renewal application for an evidentiary hearing to determine if you are qualified to remain a Commission licensee. You would have the burden of proof in such a proceeding.

You should be aware that in 1990, the Commission revised its character qualifications policy, expanding the types of non-FCC-related misconduct that it would consider as bearing on licensee or applicant character qualifications (Policy Regarding Character Qualifications in Broadcast Licensing, Policy Statement and Order, 5 FCC RCD 3252 (1990)

(Character Policy Statement), recon. granted in part, denied in part, 6 FCC Rcd 3448 (1991), further recon. granted, 7 FCC Rcd 6564 (1992). The Commission concluded that "a propensity to comply with the law generally is relevant to the Commission's public interest analysis, and that an applicant's or licensee's willingness to violate other laws, and, in particular, to commit felonies, also bears on our confidence that an applicant or licensee will conform to FCC rules and policies. The 1990 Character Policy Statement applies to Amateur Radio licensees just as it does to all other FCC licensees (See, e.g., Herbert L. Schoenbohm, Decision, 13 FCC Rcd 15028 (1998), recon. denied, 13 FCC Rcd 23774 (1998), aff'd in part, dismissed in part sub nom. Schoenbohm v. FCC, 204 F.3d 243 (2000), cert. denied, 121 S. Ct. 405 (2000); Leslie D. Brewer, Order to Show Cause, Notice of Order of Suspension, Notice of Opportunity for Hearing, and Notice of Apparent Liability for a Forfeiture, 16 FCC Rcd 5671, licenses revoked, 16 FCC Rcd 12878 (2001).

Accordingly, we will continue to review the operation of K1MAN in light of the issues outlined above.

NOTICE OF APPARENT LIABILITY FOR FORFEITURE

Released: June 7, 2005

By the District Director, Boston Office, Northeastern Region, Enforcement Bureau:

I. INTRODUCTION

1. In this Notice of Apparent Liability for Forfeiture (``NAL''), pursuant to Section 503(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended (the ``Act''), we find Glenn A. Baxter, licensee of Amateur Radio Station K1MAN, apparently liable for a monetary forfeiture in the amount of twenty-one thousand dollars ($21,000). We conclude that Mr. Baxter apparently willfully and repeatedly interfered with ongoing communications of other stations in violation of Section 97.101(d) of the Commission's Rules (the ``Rules'')2. We further conclude that Mr. Baxter apparently willfully and repeatedly transmitted communications in which he had a pecuniary interest in violation of Section 97.113(a)(3) of the Rules. We find that Mr. Baxter apparently willfully and repeatedly failed to file requested information pursuant to an Enforcement Bureau (``Bureau'') directive. We further find that Mr. Baxter apparently willfully engaged in broadcasting in violation of 97.113(b) of the Rules3 and apparently willfully failed to exercise control of his station in violation of Section 97.105(a) of the Rules.4

II. BACKGROUND

2. Mr. Baxter has a license to operate an amateur radio station, call sign K1MAN. Mr. Baxter also is executive director of the American Amateur Radio Association (``AARA''), which has a website at www.K1MAN.com. Mr. Baxter uses his amateur station to advertise his website, which offers items for sale, including an annual newsletter published by ``Glenn Baxter, K1MAN'' for forty-five (45) dollars per year. The website also provides a schedule of K1MAN radio transmissions.

3. In response to numerous complaints of deliberate interference caused by transmissions from Mr. Baxter's Amateur station K1MAN to ongoing radio communications of other stations, including stations participating in the Salvation Army Team Emergency Radio Net, the Bureau issued a Warning Notice to Mr. Baxter on September 15, 2004. The Bureau requested information from Mr. Baxter with regard to the method of station control and what action, if any, was being taken in response to the complaints of interference.5 The Warning Notice also reminded Mr. Baxter that the Bureau previously warned him in a letter dated April 14, 2004 that enforcement action would be taken if he failed to correct the deliberate interference being caused by his station.6 The April 14, 2004 letter also cautioned Mr. Baxter that if he continued to use the station for pecuniary interest by advertising his website he could be subject to further enforcement action.

4. By letter dated October 14, 2004, Mr. Baxter responded to the September 15, 2004 Warning Notice stating ``[n]o corrective actions are necessary at K1MAN'' and ``[n]o changes are needed with regard to station control which is in full compliance with all FCC rules.'' Mr. Baxter's letter further stated that ``K1MAN is in full compliance with all FCC rules, state laws, and federal laws. I encourage you to take `enforcement actions' and look forward to seeing you in court (s).''7 Mr. Baxter's response did not provide the required information requested regarding station control.

5. The Bureau issued a second Warning Notice to Mr. Baxter on October 29, 2004.8 The Warning Notice explained that Mr. Baxter's response to the September 15, 2004, Warning Notice was insufficient and explained Mr. Baxter's obligations as a licensee to furnish the information requested by the Bureau. The Bureau provided Mr. Baxter an additional twenty days to provide the specific information requested. The Warning Notice also indicated that the Bureau had received two additional complaints of deliberate interference caused by Mr. Baxter's station. The Bureau requested information from Mr. Baxter regarding the identity of the control operator and method of station control for station K1MAN on the dates and times specified in the recently-received interference complaints.

6. Mr. Baxter responded by letter dated November 2, 2004, stating that ``[m]y letter to you dated 14 October 2004 in response to your letter to me dated 15 September 2004 provided all the information required by FCC rules and by federal law.''9 Mr. Baxter did not provide any information regarding the identity of the control operator or the method of station control.

7. On November 25, 2004, Commission personnel monitored Mr. Baxter's Amateur station on 14.275 MHz between 9:21 a.m. and 2:12 p.m. EST. During that time, Mr. Baxter's station transmitted numerous on-the-air references to his web page at www.K1MAN.com. On November 27, 2004, Mr. Baxter's Amateur station K1MAN began transmitting on top of ongoing communications at 5:54 p.m. EST on 3.890 MHz, disrupting the communications by the other licensees.

8. On November 30, 2004, agents from the FCC's Boston Office conducted an inspection of Mr. Baxter's Amateur station K1MAN. The method of station control appeared to be a telephone line connected to an interface board, which was connected to the transmitter. Mr. Baxter claimed that he monitored the station from a mobile receiver when not at the transmitter and that he could control the transmitter through a land-line or cellular phone. During the inspection, Mr. Baxter demonstrated that he could control the transmitter.

9. On December 1, 2004, on the frequencies 3.975 MHz and 14.275 MHz, Mr. Baxter's station K1MAN transmitted a pre-recorded program lasting nearly seventy minutes, which consisted of an interview by Mr. Baxter with Mr. Jeff Owens. During the broadcast, Mr. Baxter explained that Baxter Associates was a firm that engaged in ``management consulting, executive search and executive career management.'' The program consisted of a lengthy broadcast of the telephone interview with Mr. Owens. Mr. Baxter explained the fees involved, how Mr. Owens could invest in franchises of Baxter Associates, and how Mr. Baxter planned to market the franchises of Baxter Associates. Nothing in the program related to Amateur radio and no station call sign was given until the conclusion of the seventy-minute program.

10. On December 8, 2004, FCC agents found that Baxter's station K1MAN commenced transmitting at 7:10 p.m. EST on top of existing radio communications on 3.890 MHz. On December 19, 2004, from 5:44 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. EST, on frequency 3.975 MHz, Mr. Baxter's Amateur station K1MAN broadcast transmissions of an apparently defective pre-recorded audio tape, which resulted in the repeated transmission of a nine-word phrase, and segments thereof, without any intervention of a control operator and without the identification of the station's call sign. Mr. Baxter's Amateur station went off the air abruptly at 6:30 p.m. EST in mid-sentence.

11. On March 30, 2005, monitoring personnel observed station K1MAN advertising the www.K1MAN.com web site at approximately 7:19, 7:28, 7:33 and 8:05 P.M. EST on 3.890 MHz. On March 31, 2005, at 7:28 P.M. EST, monitoring personnel observed transmissions from station K1MAN begin on top of existing communications on 3.890 MHz.

III. DISCUSSION

12. Section 503(b) of the Act provides that any person who willfully or repeatedly fails to comply substantially with the terms and conditions of any license, or willfully or repeatedly fails to comply with any of the provisions of the Act or of any rule, regulation or order issued by the Commission there under, shall be liable for a forfeiture penalty. The term "willful" as used in Section 503(b) of the Act has been interpreted to mean simply that the acts or omissions are committed knowingly.10 The term ``repeated'' means the commission or omission of such act more than once or for more than one day.11

13. Section 97.101(d) of the Rules states that ``[n]o amateur operator shall willfully or maliciously interfere with or cause interference to any radio communication or signal.''12 On November 27, 2004, December 8, 2004, and March 31, 2005, Baxter's Amateur station K1MAN commenced transmitting on top of existing communications on 3.890 MHz in apparent willful and repeated violation of 97.101(d) of the Commission's rules.

14. Section 97.113(a)(3) of the Rules prohibits an Amateur station from transmitting any communications in which the station licensee or control operator has a pecuniary interest. On November 25, 2004 and March 30, 2005, Mr. Baxter's station repeatedly transmitted references to his website, which offers various products for sale, including a monthly newsletter published by Glenn Baxter and offered for sale for forty-five dollars per year. In addition, on December 1, 2004, Station K1MAN transmitted a seventy-minute interview with a person who was considering whether to retain Baxter Associates, an employment-search firm owned by Mr. Baxter. During the transmission, Mr. Baxter discussed fees, investments, and franchising opportunities. We find that Mr. Baxter apparently willfully and repeatedly violated Section 97.113(a)(3) of the Rules on each of these occasions by transmitting communications regarding matters in which he has a pecuniary interest.

15. Section 308(b) of the Act provides that the Commission ``during the term of any (such) licenses, may require from ...a licensee further written statements of fact to enable it to determine whether such original application should be granted or denied or such license revoked . . . .''13 Although Mr. Baxter replied in part to the Bureau's demand for information in the Warning Notices dated September 15, 2004 and October 29, 2004, Mr. Baxter failed to provide information regarding how the station is controlled and the identity of the control operator. Mr. Baxter's statements that ``[n]o corrective actions are necessary'' and ``[n]o changes are needed with regard to station control'' are insufficient. We therefore conclude that Glenn A. Baxter apparently willfully and repeatedly failed to comply with a Bureau directive to file information regarding control of Station K1MAN.

16. Section 97.113(b) of the Rules prohibits, with limited exceptions not applicable here, an Amateur station from engaging in any form of broadcasting or transmitting one-way transmissions. Section 97.3(a)(10) of the Rules defines broadcasting as ``transmissions intended for reception by the general public.'' 14 We find that the pre-recorded seventy-minute interview with a person interested in retaining Baxter Associates, during which there was no station identification, constitutes a ``broadcast'' and an impermissible one-way transmission. Therefore, Mr. Baxter apparently willfully violated Section 97.113(b) of the Rules.

17. Section 97.105(a) of the Rules provides that the control operator must ensure the proper operation of the station.15 On December 19, 2004, station K1MAN repeated the same pre-recorded phrase, and segments thereof, for 45 minutes on 3.975 MHz after which the transmissions ended abruptly in mid-sentence without the station identification required by Section 97.119(a) of the Rules.16 The continuous transmissions of the same pre-recorded phrase and segments thereof, and the abrupt ending of those transmissions in mid-sentence without identification, suggests that Mr. Baxter did not exercise control of his station. We conclude that Mr. Baxter apparently willfully violated Section 97.105(a) of the Rules.

18. Pursuant to The Commission's Forfeiture Policy Statement and Amendment of Section 1.80 of the Rules to Incorporate the Forfeiture Guidelines ("Forfeiture Policy Statement"), and Section 1.80 of the Rules, the base forfeiture amount is $7,000 for willful or malicious interference, $3,000 for failure to file required information, and $3,000 for violation of transmitter control. 17 There are no base forfeiture amounts for violations of the rules prohibiting broadcasting or pecuniary interest in Part 97 of the Commission's rules. We conclude, however, that violations of the Part 97 rules prohibiting broadcasting and the transmission of any communication in which the operator has a pecuniary interest are similar to violations of the Commission's requirements pertaining to broadcasting of lotteries and contests, which carry a base forfeiture amount of $4,000 for each such violation.18 In assessing the monetary forfeiture amount, we must also take into account the statutory factors set forth in Section 503(b)(2)(D) of the Act, which include the nature, circumstances, extent, and gravity of the violations, and with respect to the violator, the degree of culpability, and history of prior offenses, ability to pay, and other such matters as justice may require.19 Applying the Forfeiture Policy Statement, Section 1.80, and the statutory factors, a $21,000 forfeiture is warranted.

IV. ORDERING CLAUSES

19. Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED that, pursuant to Section 503(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended,20 and Section 1.80 of the Commission's Rules,21 Glenn A. Baxter, is hereby NOTIFIED of this APPARENT LIABILITY FOR FORFEITURE in the amount of twenty-one thousand dollars ($21,000) for willfully and repeatedly failing to furnish information requested by the Bureau, willful and repeated violation of Section 97.101(d) of the Rules, willful violation of Section 97.105(a) of the Rules, willful and repeated violation of Section 97.113(a)(3) of the Rules, and willful violation of Section 97.113(b) of the Rules.

20. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that, pursuant to Section 1.80 of the Commission's Rules, within thirty (30) days of the release of this NOTICE OF APPARENT LIABILITY, Mr. Baxter SHALL PAY the full amount of the proposed forfeiture or SHALL FILE a written statement seeking reduction or cancellation of the proposed forfeiture.

21. Payment of the forfeiture must be made by check or similar instrument, payable to the order of the Federal Communications Commission. The payment must include the NAL/Acct. No. and FRN No. referenced above. Payment by check or money order may be mailed to Federal Communications Commission, P.O. Box 358340, Pittsburgh, PA 15251-8340. Payment by overnight mail may be sent to Mellon Bank /LB 358340, 500 Ross Street, Room 1540670, Pittsburgh, PA 15251. Payment by wire transfer may be made to ABA Number 043000261, receiving bank Mellon Bank, and account number 911-6106.

22. The response, if any, must be mailed to Federal Communications Commission, Enforcement Bureau, Northeast Region, Boston Office, 1 Batterymarch Park, Quincy, MA 02169-7448 within thirty (30) days from the release date of this Notice of Apparent Liability for Forfeiture and must include the NAL/Acct. No. referenced in the caption.

23. The Commission will not consider reducing or canceling a forfeiture in response to a claim of inability to pay unless the petitioner submits: (1) federal tax returns for the most recent three-year period; (2) financial statements prepared according to generally accepted accounting practices ("GAAP"); or (3) some other reliable and objective documentation that accurately reflects the petitioner's current financial status. Any claim of inability to pay must specifically identify the basis for the claim by reference to the financial documentation submitted.

24. Requests for payment of the full amount of this Notice of Apparent Liability for Forfeiture under an installment plan should be sent to: Chief, Revenue and Receivables Operations Group, 445 12th Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20554.22

25. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that a copy of this NAL shall be sent by Certified Mail, Return Receipt Requested, and regular mail, to Glenn A. Baxter, at his address of record.

The letter advised Mr. Baxter about the Commission's rules regarding interference, station control, broadcasting, and pecuniary interest. The March 4, 2003 letter advised Mr. Baxter that the Bureau continued to receive complaints about his station's operation, indicating that he had not corrected the problems outlined in the January 29, 2002 letter.

no whatneeds to hapenn (and something less likely to happen than the ARRL geting fined) is for the FCC to bite the bullet and write rules accross the brard that are clear and that they intend to enforce (and have to power to enforce)

True, the rules are very vague and need to be narrowly-taliored for goverment interest at the same time not infringe on the amateur radio operators right to free speech. my whole thing in regards to K1MAN is simply that if the the rule applies to one it should apply to all.

agreed One rule shoudl govern and one rule does govern Mob rule the difference between theARRl and K1MAN seem largely one of popularity the arrl is more popular (prehaps with just cause) than K1Man

Explain something moron, if someone is a virgin that means they haven't had sex. Therefore, they have never participated in sexual activity. Which obviously makes sense that they wouldnt be queer because to be truly queer like you, you would have to participate in sexual activity. If you dont participate then youve never had homosexual sex. But in your case with your mouth violated every night that does make you queer. Oh, thats right, You're here and you're queer. Thats your motto isnt it boy

Far as I'm concerned the ARRL and K1MAN can go "F" off with each other.
Both of em are full of hot air and mutually destructive to the future of Ham Radio.

of Ham Radio.

Oh? The ARRL is easily ignored and placed on the back shelf. Their recent mass mailings looking for new members tells a tale, but we can toss those mailings aside. Put em' in the recycle bin.
Not so Glenn Baxter, who continues with his "in your face" confrontations on 20 meters.

Wait...now that I ponder this? Yes! Why not ignore both and use the VFO that comes with most radios these days? What a concept!!
You know how it is with the television stations, don't you? See or hear something you don't like? Easy and simple solution...turn the damned thing off! And for you technically challenged types? Unplug the power cord!

Dittos for Baxter...shut the son-of-a-bitch off! How a complicated is that???
And the ARRL? Same for them...shut their broadcasts off, too.
Baxter thrives on controversy, so why engage him in same? Why?

If the ARRL and Baxter run out of listeners...if nobody responds? Ignores them? The end result is a fairly simple conclusion.

Now, wasn't that ever so simple? And painless? Don't you incontinent old geezers wish you'd have come up with this simple solution long ago?
You guys could have dropped your systolic at least ten points and saved a few bucks on your Relys, too.
But then, that would be much too much to expect, wouldn't it?

Coax cable, even old used stuff makes a great power cable. When I was running hf mobile I ran and old piece of RG8 directly from the car battery terminals to the rig. The dc current carrying capacity is more than enough than for any rig. You also have the advantage of a completely shielded power line and the battery acts as a giant capacitor, filtering out the fun little rf components that are present in so many modern cars.
I only wish I had an old diesel rig, the kind without any electronics!

you do miss the point for many of the "geezers" the point is that no one else may say or do anything they don't approve of that is seen in the posting Dave Heil and Steve Robeson on here (and formaly Dan as well) some from Jim only viewpoints that are approved may be heard

I don't know but I suspect that W1AW hasn't eve gotten one the political strengh of the ARRL at the FCC has likely gotten any matter that could have headed that way taken care of long before anything got to that stage

It was an old Buick - no telling how much work had been done.
The ground strap was still there.
The 12¢ in of #12 from the negative terminal to a screw on the body fixed it, and only cost 60¢ or so.
I had started tracing circuits from the + side, so it took longer to figure it out than it took to find the ¢ key and the ¢ key on my keyboard.

[snip all the stuff i wrote about ah-4/icom 706 problem]

problem solved. the ground for the ah-4 wasn't good enough, so i moved it to a thicker cable and ran it directly to the chassis instead of going the extra 12 inches to the shared ground that went directly to the chassis. i was worried about ground loops, and still am, but it's working much better with a fat 2 inch wide braided strap going to the chassis.

but that didn't fix it completely ... the final answer was to put ferrite beads on each end of the control cable that goes between the remote display and the radio itself. the control cable was picking up rf from the tuner and that was making the radio cut off, the beads fixed it.

so thanks everyone for all your help (snickers nobody even answered my post!)

The whole point of this thread is this, K1MAN was fined for doing the same-thing that W1AW is doing. I believe that the rules should apply to all, instead W1AW and the ARRL has never been fined and it raises questions on where is the ARRL is in bed with the FCC.
Bottom line the rules should apply ALL and no one should be exempted from them.

Does this include Kiddy Porn too, Todd? Oh, wait. Sure thing. Your version of Kiddy Porn is in cartoon form and is thus legal, but it still exemplifies just how sick your warped little mind really is.
Do your parents know about your sick proclivities, Todd? Maybe they do and maybe that is why they keep you locked in the basement and away from society at large.
I wonder what your parents would think if someone were to send them the URL of your sick little site??
You, Todd, are a potential child molester if you are not already so.

You and Wiseman both belong in the same Loony Bin.

Dear Internal Revenue Service:

Enclosed you will find my 2005 tax return showing that I owe $3,407.00 in taxes. Please note the attached article from the USA Today newspaper; dated 12 November, wherein you will see the Pentagon (Department of Defense) is paying $171.50 per hammer and NASA has paid $600.00 per toilet seat.

I am enclosing four (4) toilet seats (valued @ $2,400) and six (6) hammers valued @ $1,029), which I secured at Home Depot, bringing my total remittance to $3,429.00. Please apply the overpayment of $22.00 to the "Presidential Election Fund," as noted on my return. You can do this inexpensively by sending them one (1) 1.5" Phillips Head screw (see aforementioned article from USA Today newspaper detailing how HUD pays $22.00 each for 1.5" Phillips Head Screws). One screw is enclosed for your convenience.

It has been a pleasure to pay my tax bill this year, and I look forward to paying it again next year.

Sincerely,

A Satisfied Taxpayer

This group only became a cesspool after you, Roger and Todd dirtied it.
Of course you don't get it, do you?
Your ignorance can be overlooked and even forgiven. Your blatant stupidity, however, is another matter.

satire and humor aside, we, as a nation, really need to start curbing this kind of problem. these manufacturers that are charging such exorbitant fees for products are contributing to an ever increasing national debt and, in the long run, a collapse of the government itself.

I am rather surprised that someone in the GAO hasn't started telling all agencies that purchasing at walmart or lowes or home depot would be the preferred method of procurement.

BWHAHAHAHAHA says the twat Davies who hid from Oris when he came knocking on his door....but then Fatass Davies ran his mouth then was a no-show at Dalton hamfest!...just like Davies, gopher face Tunder hid behind his cell phone shivering in fright out on the street in his idling rusted out white truck.

Oris even posted an account of his visit to Lloyd's HUD apartment:

I happened to be traveling through Huntsville, Alabama early this morning, I decided to stop in Athens and see just how tough Lloyd Davies was going to act when he saw me in person.

Many of you know that a few years ago, Lloyd got smart with several people in the Deja Newsgroup (now Google) and I issued a challenge to him. I told him I would be attending the Dalton, Ga. Hamfest if he wanted to continue the conversation. He said he would be there and he was going to kick my ass.

Well, Lloyd was a no-show and continued the verbal assault on the newsgroups.
He always talks tough behind his keyboard. And, I understand he is now doing the same sort of thing on the NIM Busters Board.

Well, about 8.35 this morning (December 23, 2004) I located his apartment in a nasty looking section of town. I'm a pretty good sized man, but I put my gun in my back waistband after exiting the car. I located his apartment and knocked on the door. The doorbell was missing and bare wires were sticking out of the wall. I heard someone say I'm coming and shortly the door opened with a safety chain lock still engaged. He asked what I wanted and I introduced myself and asked if we could have a conversation. He turned white as a sheet and attempted to slam the door, but I already had a foot wedged in the opening. He started shaking uncontrollably and was shouting leave me alone, leave me alone! I told him he didn't seem so tough now face to face and then noticed a putrid odor of urine and he was pissing his pants and crying like a baby. Please leave me alone Oris he said, I was just having fun and meant no harm, please leave, please. I could see the filthy floor of this apartment and the dirty floors and the stench of a grown man pissing on himself were almost enough to make me want to vomit, and I don't have a queasy stomach. Upon telling him that this time he would escape a ass kicking and not to ever get a smart mouth with me again and a verbal yes from him, I departed. That apartment complex looked like a crackhouse, niggers everywhere, filthy grounds and stairwells. Junk cars everywhere and garbage overflowing the garbage cans.

This Lloyd is nothing more than white trash that delivers pizzas and could afford to take a trip out of town if the ticket cost $5.00.

I'm sending this to a friend who despises Lloyd Davies and he wanted to post it for everyone to see just what kind of chickenshit asshole this Davies really is.

Oris Grimm

they are embarrassed to say he is their son.

Junk cars aren't allowed in Roger's neighborhood, fuckwit. Unlike in your HUD apartment complex , where they are considered even lower rent apartments. Is that why you keep that rusted out second car, Davies?

please feel free to call the FBI Need the number for the local Filed office?

or would you prefer the number for the Houghton County Sherriff?

you have but to ask and they will be provided to you

I am not a fraid of the FBI. I have done nothing of any interest to them

OTOH if you call them and make you false reports you will get the Martha Stewart treatment and spend some time in jail most likely, prehaps the same way it seems Steve is doing right now

* PLEASE NOTE: The report "could" contain "Pirate/SLIM" operations or more likely a "BUSTED CALLSIGN". As always, you never know - "Work First Worry Later" (WFWL).

3W, VIETNAM. Stan, OK1JR (ex-5N0MSV, D2FGC, YB0AJR, ZA/OK1JR.....etc.), as been in Vietnam for 4 months and has finally received the callsign 3W9JR. He informs OPDX that the licence is limited, and he can only operate on 14, 18, 21 and 24 MHz CW/SSB only. The licence is for 1 year, and he expects to stay in Hanoi approx. 2 years. Stan hopes he will get permmision to operate on the low bands, 6m and the digi modes soon. He can only operate during his spare time. So, look for him during the weekdays after his working hours around 1000-1600z. However, he is planning more activities during weekends and contests. His equipment is an FT-1000MP MKV Field w/100w into a 12 element LPD 10-30MHz (LW, dipoles later). QSL via OK1JN ONLY (It's his dad and the address is on QRZ.com). A Web page will be available soon; more details are forthcoming.

3Y0X, PETER I ISLAND NEWS. The 3Y0X team is now active. The ship reached the island early February 6th around 0135z. The first helicopter load landed on Peter I Island at 1830z on February 7th. All but three members of the Team went ashore; the last helicopter trip for the day was at 0230z. Only 80% of the gear was transferred that day, and the remaining three Team members stayed on the ship. On February 11th, around 0230z, the weather cooperated and they were (finally) able to get the other three Team members ashore along with all of the remaining supplies and gear. By the time you read this, the team plan (as this was being written) is to have 8 stations active on Monday. According to the 3Y0X Web page, the Team will always be transmitting on/near the indicated frequency below and listening up the band (spread to be announced by the operator). Please do NOT call on their transmitting frequency!

BAND	SSB	CW	Digital
10	28475	28023	28092 (Listening up!)
12	24987	24893	24928 (Listening down only!)
15	21295	21023	21102 (Listening down!)
17	18145	18073	18108 (listening down only!)
20	14190	14023	14084 (Listening up!)
30	N/A	10103	10135 (Listening up!)
40	7093	7023
80	3750	3523
160	1842.5	1822.5

Online logs are now available on: http://www.peterone.com/p1log.html Don, N1DG, Chief 3Y0X Pilot Station, states, "Please be reminded that the online logs are not official. Some 20 meters QSOs may have wrong mode, and a few 17 meters QSOs may be missing as well." REMEMBER: For up to the minute news on Peter I, including videos from the Island, the best source is the Peter I Web site. There will be news posted on the Web site on a daily basis. The Web site is: http://www.peterone.com

7Q, MALAWI. QSL Manager Allan, G0IAS, informed OPDX that Harry, 7Q7HB, is back in Malawi (he set off on Saturday morning, February 4th, for the 30 hour journey) and will be in 7Q-land for not less than 12 weeks. This time he has taken with him software to be active on the Digital modes. He was heard this past weekend on 15 meters SSB around 21325 kHz after 1420z. As usual, the QSL route is via G0IAS DIRECT only. Allan is good in any callbook, or on QRZ.com. If anyone has a question, they can E-mail Allan, for scheds etc.. (he cannot guarantee anything, but Harry will try...) at: allan.g0ias@btinternet.com
PLEASE NOTE: Allan states, "Also the clock is winding down for outstanding QSL cards for ZD6RM and 7Q7RM. I will close the logs on the anniversary of Rons death in September. I have ALL his hand written logs covering more than 50 years of operating from NYASALAND (ZD6) / MALAWI, and the log of GM3EAK from 1947 if there is anybody out there that still needs one of those cards....! This should be of special interest to the 50 MHz Gang. Most of the avid Dxers on that band will have worked Ron for a first or ONLY 7Q on 6 meters. Regards and best wishes, Allan."

ATTENTION PREFIX HUNTERS! There is a new E-mail reflector up for those in the DX community who like to chase prefixes and/or the CQ WPX Award. You can subscribe at: http://groups.yahoo.com/group/CQWPX/

C6, BAHAMAS (Topband/IOTA Op). Bill, NE1B, will once again be operating as C6ANM from the Bahamas for the CQWW 160 SSB Contest (February 24-26th). He states, "We should have a good signal from our salt water Quarter Wave Vertical a few feet from the beach." Bill will be on the air starting February 23rd through March 6th. This will include IOTA activity from Chubb Cay, Berry Island Group (NA-054) on March 1st and the ARRL DX SSB Contest on New Providence (NA-001), March 3-5th.

C9, MOZAMBIQUE (Ops Needed!). Frosty, K5LBU, reports that he has lost 3 of his operators who were going with him to Mozambique in June for the IARU Contest (See OPDX.738). If any of you would like to join him, send him an E-mail or check out his Web page at: http://www.tdxs.net/C9.html

DAYTON HAMVENTION NEWS (SWODXA Dinner). The SouthWest Ohio DX Association (SWODXA) is pleased to sponsor the 21st annual DX Dinner to be held in conjunction with the 2006 Dayton HamVention ®. The dinner will be Friday evening, 19th May, at the Crowne Plaza Hotel, located in Dayton city center. This is the same venue as in years past. They expect to have another interesting program at the dinner and expect it to be a bit different than those in recent years. In addition, there will be some nice attendance prizes - last year the main prize was an Icom IC-756 Pro III! Tickets are 34.00 USD per meal, payable in U.S. funds to SWODXA. (Sorry, they do not process PayPal or Credit Card payments.) You may order from Jay Slough, K4ZLE, at his CBA. SASE would be appreciated. They attempt to honor group seating requests when tickets are ordered together. In an attempt to provide a better view of the speaker, they are changing the seating this year. There are ten seats per table and space is limited. Come join them for an evening of fun and fellowship where some of the best DXers gather during HamVention ®. Further information may be obtained from Jay at: k4zle <at> arrl <dot> net.
His CBA is 8183 Woodward Dr., West Chester, OH 45069

DXCC (ARRL) NEWS.....
*Bill Moore, NC1L, ARRL DXCC Branch Manager, informs OPDX that the following operation is approved for DXCC credit:

This list details the Challenge Top Ten as of September 30, 2005. The current DXCC Challenge standings can be found at:
http://www.arrl.org/awards/dxcc
Beginning in 2006 the DeSoto Cup winners will be based on the Challenge standings at the end of the calendar year.

*NEW DXCC FAX NUMBER. The DXCC desk now has a direct Fax machine for all DXCC, Awards Branch and Contest Branch issues. The number is (860) 594-0346. The old number (860) 594-0259 is still active, but it is not in the immediate DXCC area. PLEASE NOTE: This number generally pertains to items such as documentation, plaque orders and special requests as requested by the DXCC Manager. This does not include field checked applications. Field checked applications still must be sent to DXCC by the traditional means through the postal system or other select methods.

*Wayne Mills, N7NG/1, Manager Membership Services Department, sent out the following press release:
CAC/DXAC Study Assignments
ARRL advisory committees to consider contesting, DXCC changes: The ARRL Programs and Services Committee (PSC) has asked its Contest Advisory Committee (CAC) to consider whether the current method of scoring ARRL Affiliated Club competition is adequate or whether is should be revised to better "reward a combination of activity, effort and achievement." The PSC also wants the CAC to determine whether a return to the policy of assessing a three QSO per error penalty in electronic logs--as currently assessed for hard-copy logs--is in the best interest of the ARRL contesting program. Both CAC assignments followed presentations to the PSC on both topics by ARRL Southwestern Division Director Dick Norton, N6AA. The PSC also has asked the DX Advisory Committee (DXAC) to study the impact of amending the DXCC "political entities" rule. The change under consideration would revise Section II, "DXCC List Criteria," under "1. Political Entities," to add a Paragraph c) reading, "The Entity contains a permanent population, is administered by a local government and is located at least 800 km from its parent." The CAC will seek public input in completing work on its tasks, and a progress report is due June 19. The PSC has asked the DXAC to report back by March 15.

FM/TO3, MARTINIQUE. Roberto, IV3IYH (NQ5W), will be active as TO3W in the CQWW WPX SSB Contest (March 25-26th). Look for activity from Roberto on the WARC Bands and RTTY, before and after the contest either as FM/IV3IYH or FM/NQ5W. QSL via IK2ILH (100% via bureau or direct).

FS & PJ7, ST. MARTIN AND ST MAARTEN ISLANDS (Update/Reminder). Operators David/K3LP and Clint/W3ARS will arrive on St. Martin on February 15th and will depart on February 22nd. Both will use the following callsigns:
FS/K3LP St. Martin, PJ7/K3LP St. Maarten
FS/W3ARS St. Martin, PJ7/W3ARS St. Maarten
Look for David to be active in the ARRL DX CW Contest (February 18-19th) as FS/K3LP and as a Single-Op/All-Band/Low-Power entry. Look for Clint to be active on 6 meters, the satellites and the WARC bands, and also possibly PJ7/W3ARS during ARRL DX CW Contest. QSL via the operators' home callsign (QRZ.com). Visit David's Web page at: http://www.k3lp.com

HQ9, HONDURAS. Operators Heikki/OH3JF and Henri/OH3JR will be going here for an operation between February 23rd and March 17th. They have received their license and callsign HQ9F. They will be equipped with two HF rigs, two amplifiers, and antennas for 160-10 meters, including low band verticals, a "jungle beam" for 30/17m, and a "spider beam" for 20-10m including the WARC bands. They will be on CW, SSB and RTTY targeting Europe and Japan on the low bands. QSL via OH3MKH. Look for them on:
CW - 1827, 3507, 7007, 10107, 14007, 18077, 21007, 24897 and 28007
SSB - 1840, 3795, 7045, 14195, 18145, 21295 and 28495 RTTY - 14077, 18097 and 21077 kHz.

IOTA NEWS.....

AS-076. Look for operator JA5BEX/5 to be active February 25th from Debajima Island (JIIA AS-076-New), JA5 Tokushima Prefecture, Shikoku Islands Group. QSL via his home callsign, direct or by the bureau.

AS-169. Operators Basappa/VU2NXM, Mickey/VU2IZO and Sarla/VU2SWS (YL) will operate with the special callsign AT0EI from Elephanta Island, off the coast of Mumbai, from now through February 14th. See QSL information for AT0EI on QRZ.com.

IS0, SARDINIA. Mauro, IN3QBR, will be active as IS0/K7QB between February 15-21st. His activity will include the ARRL DX CW Contest (February 18-19th) as Single-Op/Single-Band(?) entry. QSL via IN3QBR (via the bureau is preferred). Look for activity before the contest on the WARC and Low Bands. Mauro also mentions to OPDX to look for SSB activity from IS0/IN3SAU. QSL via his home callsign.

J3, GRENADA. Harry/AC8G and Will/VE3EBN will be active as J37K from March 1-6th and be active in the ARRL DX SSB Contest (March 4-5th). QSL to AC8G, Stateside direct with SASE. For others sending by the bureau, please clearly mark for QSLs to go to AC8G.

LX, LUXEMBURG. Heinrich, DL2OBF, will be active as LX/DL2OBF in the CQ WW WPX CW Contest (May 27-28th) as Single-Op/All-Band/Low-Power entry. QSL via DL2OBF (via the bureau).

MJ, JERSEY. Pete/K8PT and Craig/K3PLV will be taking what has become their annual DXpedition to the Channel Islands and will be operating as MJ/homecall from the Island of Jersey (EU-013) from March 8th-15th.
This year Tom/W8JWN and Jim/N1NK will accompany them allowing for two stations to operate 24 hours per day with a third station as needed.
Operations will cover 160-6 meters (SSB, CW, RTTY & PSK) with an emphasis on the low bands. QSL via their home callsign. Please refer to the following Web page (which is presently under construction) for further information at: http://users.adelphia.net/~crahill/

NP2, U.S. VIRGIN ISLANDS. Operators Frederick/K9VV, John/NP2B, Bruce/W4OV

others will be active as OH0Z during the ARRL DX SSB Contest (March 4-5th) as a Multi-Single or Multi-2 entry. QSL via W0MM.

PJ7, ST. MAARTEN. Ron/ND5S and Sue/KF5LG, will be active as PJ7/homecall from February 14-25th. Ron will work the ARRL CW DX Contest as Single-Op/All-Band. Outside of the ARRL Contest they will work on CW/RTTY/SSB (this order) on 160-10 meters. More details can be found on their Web site at:
http://www.qsl.net/nd5s/nd5s8.html
Over 30,000 contacts have been made in past years from this island. QSL direct to ND5S, or the QSL Bureau.

PJ7, ST. MAARTEN. Bil/W8EB and his wife Dorothy/W8DVC, will be on the Island of St. Maarten from February 21st through March 26th as PJ7/homecall.
They will be on the air 160 meters and up on CW/SSB/RTTY and PSK31. Bil will operate in the ARRL DX SSB Contest as PJ7B or PJ7/W8EB, depending on getting the contest callsign, as Low-Power/Single-Operator. All QSLs go to the home callsign.

QSL INFO AND NEWS.................
RESULTS OF TOP 5 QSL MANAGERS! John, K1XN, from the GoList, has announced the "Best of the Top 5 QSL Managers". John states, "These are the managers you, the DX community, have indicated to be your favorite managers by a wide margin for 2005. Just a note, there were very few people that sent in nominations that did not list W3HNK. Joe was listed on more than 100 messages more than the next nominee. Joe also has been selected by you each and every year that the survey has been active and has been the most votes getter each year...." Here are the Best of the Top 5:
W3HNK, IZ8CCW, G3SWH, G3TXF and G3SXW

The 5H1C online logs are now available at: http://5h1c.free.fr/log_uk.php

NEED A QSL MANAGER? Scott, KA3QLF, is interested in volunteering to become a QSL Manager. Scott states, "Whether it is a contest station, a home call, a DXpedition, or an IOTA expedition..it matters not. I can be contacted through my information on QRZ.com." He told OPDX a while back, "I have no special requests or conditions, I just want to lend a QSLing hand to all." His E-mail address is: petty@teisprint.net

QSL TR0A (ONLY for the past week) via IZ8CLM, by the bureau or direct. Operator was Salvatore, IZ8CLM, from RADIO CLUB AGRA.

V3, BELIZE. Operators Carl/K3RV and Doug/W3NO will be here between March 21-28th. They plan to be active as V31RV in the CQ WW WPX SSB Contest (March 25-26th) as a Multi-Single entry. Outside the contest (before and after), they will use the callsign V31NO on all bands 160-10 meters on CW and SSB. QSL both callsigns via W3NO.

VQ9, CHAGOS (Top-bander Take Note!). Larry, VQ9LA (aka WD0HSP), on Diego Garcia has been quite active on 160 meters. Look for him on/or above 1814 kHz between 1130-1530z and 2200-0100z. Larry has just added another beverage antenna toward North America. He will be looking for NA stations he has not been able to hear before. Bill, W4ZV, suggests that "if you have VQ9, PLEASE do not add to the QRM. He normally listens up 1-2 kHz. EU please give NA guys a chance for this very long haul DX from here."

VU4, ANDAMAN ISLANDS. Babs/DL7AFS and Lot/DJ7ZG have announced that they have plans to go to the Andamans and preparations are on there way. They have requested licenses. Look for updates to be posted on their Web site at: http://www.qsl.net/dl7afs/

WP3, PUERTO RICO. Joachim, WP3F, will be active in the CQ WW 160 SSB Contest (February 25-26th) as Single-Op/Low-Power entry. QSL via OK1DOT.

WP3, PUERTO RICO. Alfredo, WP3C, will be active in the CQ WW WPX CW Contest May 27-28th) as a Single-Op/All-Band/Low-Power entry. QSL via W3HNK. Visit his Web page at: http://www.wp3c.qth.com

YJ, VANUATU. Operators Markus/DJ7EO, Dietmar/DL3DXX, Tom/DL5LYM and Uwe/DL9NDS are planning a DXpedition to Vanuatu. They will leave Germany on February 22nd, 2006, and will arrive in Port Vila on February 24th. The team expects to possibly be on the air the same day. They'll receive their licenses and callsigns upon arrival. Their location will be the Worawia Holiday Haven in Port Vila. The team will have two complete stations, a Titanex V80E lowband vertical, a Spiderbeam, a Butternut HF9, a K9AY loop plus possibly other antennas depending on the transport capacities. Their activity will have an emphasis on the low bands 160/80/40 meters - mainly CW - plus RTTY, WARC and some SSB. An online log search will be available here if they have Internet access at the hotel. The team plans to QRT on March 11th and travel back on March 12th. They are looking for sponsors to cover at least some of the transportation costs. Please contact Dietmar if you like to help in the expenses via: DL3DXX@darc.de
A Web site was established by Bernd, DF3CB, who will stay in touch with the operators during their stay. Please visit: http://www.df3cb.com/yj/

First came the Muhammad cartoons, then the Hampster Dance Mohammed web site, now witness the Muhammad blow-up sex doll:

http://www.thesun.co.uk/article/0,,2-2006060507,,00.html

"MUSTAFA SHAG DOLL
Your own inflatable escort for your Hen Night adventures. Mustafa comes with his own penis. Blow him hard to inflate him and watch his 7 incher come to life."

(Note: No word yet if he comes with his own explosives belt and blows himself up after so-many 'sessions' - but heck folks! He's only 7 INCHES??? I thought those ragheads in the Middle East were all hung like horses....)

bottom feeder: n.

1. An Internet user that leeches off ISPs - the sort you can never provide good enough services for, always complains about the price, no matter how low it may be, and will bolt off to another service the moment there is even the slimmest price difference. While most bottom feeders infest free or almost free services such as AOL, MSN, and Hotmail, too many flock to whomever happens to be the cheapest regional ISP at the time. Bottom feeders are often the classic problem user, known for unleashing spam, flamage, and other breaches of netiquette.

2. A person who has more or less failed in life and is at peace with it.

In West Virginia, the houses are mobile and the cars aren't. In West Virginny, they have trash sitting on the porch. If they have a mountain, they just toss it down the hillside rather than taking it to a dump or burning the trash. Yee haw West Virginia

Here's what I posted before you cut part of it out. Dumb ASS.

That's interesting there idiot. I bet you really did flunk high school math and probably elementary too. Oh thats right, wasn't that when was in Floriduh. Spelled Florida but the DUH is for your Dumb Ass. You know, its pretty easy to find property values and with technology it's getting easier Wiseman.

I have been playing around with receiving AIS (Automatic Identification System) signals. AIS is used on ships, it is used to send information about your position, etc via VHF to the surrounding ships. But know this started to get a bit boring. So know I wan to try to se if it is possibly to receive the VMS signals from Inmarsat-C. The VMS system is manly used on fishing vessels. On the ship there is a box with a gps and satellite tranciver. The position information is send each hour, to a land earth station, were it is distributed to the different authorities.

The first thing is to receive the signals. But also to decrypt the data can be complicated.

Any help or advices are welcome. Also if you have some good links to people ho have been dealing with projects like this, could be useful.

Cheers Michael

Greetings All,

You are invited to download and use the new version of GeoAlert-Extreme Wizard. The default download is known as QSL-ware. Which basically means freeware. <G>

The QSL-ware version has no time limit and automatically downloads and displays solar indices in a friendly - at a glance - manner.

www.taborsoft.com/gawiz/

Although many will be satisfied with the default version, advanced features are, of course, available when registered. Free 60-day trial also available.

Cheers,
Jim - KU5S

Greetings,

You are invited to download and use the new version of WinCAP Wizard. The default download is known as QSL-ware. Which basically means freeware. <G>

This QSL-ware version provides unlimited point-to point and NCDXF beacon predictions, prefix search, numerous prediction views and more.

www.taborsoft.com

The registered version adds coverage analysis and user batch prediction modes. A 60-day trial key is available upon request.

If you use a competing tool, not to worry, they can surely add a few of the new features. <VBG>

Cheers,

Reward offered for a genuine (no dirty mobile homes) photograph of Roger Wiseman's castle, er, bungalow, er, shack.
Since Roger feels it is fair play to post photos of the homes and street addresses of others, then turnabout should be his reward.
After all, what is he do about it? Call Chief Stenger or his buddy the Sgt.????

Some of your mots:

"breaddead" - LLoyd hasn't got anything upstairs in the oven
"defenseive" - Lardass is "defensive" of his ignorance
"counter-offenseive" - When LARDASS LLoyds attack "nights" - Athens ASSHOLE was referring to last "night's" masturbation session
"I forget to set the playlist in Winamp to repeat!" - Mongolloyd also "forgets" the use of past tense, or maybe he just does as usual, fucks up!
"Techincal" - Lloyd just hates those "technical" things
"Dalkes" - Lloyd's granddad remembers when movies became
"talkies" too bad LARDASS learned to Dalk <sic>
"That it!" - When Mongolloyds get real mad, they talk like Tor Johnson
"Woger" - LARDASS closely identifies with Elmer Fudd with his lack of hair and all, not to mention the same lisp!

"decide on weather or not" - It's always "stormy weather" with Lloyd deciding "whether" or not to use correct English
"can not" - Mongolloyd is wondering how he "cannot" seem to get ahead in life
"is'nt" - "Isn't" LARDASS cute when he is mad?
"PAINFULL" - How LARDASS' bathroom scale feels when he steps on it in the morning, real "painful"
"I wish for Roger Wisemand" - Lloyd liked thosed thingd ford Rogerd
"alot" - Davies dreams he can communicate in English a lot
"thier" - Lavender Lloyd sure does lisp after a night behind the dumpster
"dont" - Lloyd says "dont", the rest of the world says "don't"
"Isreal" - Is FATASS Lloyd's retardation for real, or can he blame Israel?
"juist jelous" "extermenate" - A three for one post Athens Asshole axiom
"footting" - What LARDASS doesn't have, an equal "footing" anywhere
"Cant" - Emmanuel?
"th" - When Lloyd gets nervous, he stutte, er stutters
"enfighting" - Lloyd's two brain cells are infighting for control of his stupidity
"YOU STUPID JEW!" - Wasn't Jesus Jewish, so called Christian LLoyd?
"Tonite" - There's nothing in Lloyd's brain "tonight" or any night
"segmant" - What Lloyd's communications are, only sentence "segments"
"I just listening" - Too bad he doesn't listen to his poor English
"buffon" - The Athens, Alabama "buffoon" strikes again!
"museium" - Where LARDASS LLoyd keeps his "muse"
"nastey" - How everybody describes LARDASS' body stench, especially in the ghetto
"loose" - Lloyd's description of his spinchter muscles...
"wont" - Lloyd refuses to learn English, it's Lloyd's "wont"
"awhile" - It will be "a while" before Davies gets a clue
"freinds" - Lloyd's conglomeration of "friends" and "fiends"
"thier" - "There" just isn't any hope for LARDASS Lloyd "ill-educated" Davies

Pecuniary Interest??

Help support W1AW . . . more than an Amateur Radio tradition! (Feb 8, 2006) -- Since its dedication in 1938...(SNIP FOR BREVITY)

UNQUOTE

OK...That came FROM THE WEBSITE...NOT solicited OVER THE AIR.

QUOTE

The League invites contributions in any amount--or a pledge spread out over time to the W1AW Endowment Fund. Help to ensure that W1AW will remain the flagship station of the ARRL! For information on other giving options, contact ARRL Chief Development Officer Mary Hobart, K1MMH, 860-594-0397. Sounds to me like pecuniary interest, I mean here the FCC went after K1MAN for pecuniary interest and here the ARRL is begging for money for W1AW. It seems to me that the ARRL has the FCC in it'd pocket, if they are able to not get fined by the FCC.

UNQUOTE

Hey Toiddie Roidie...WHERE is the "pecuniary interest" as it pertains to the operation of W1AW?

"Pecuniary Interest" means someone made a profit.

The ARRL Fountation and it's support for W1AW via the Endowment Fund is an IRS 501(c)(3) approved charitable entity. Nothing in the solicitation suggests that one penny of funds would go anywhere but in support of an IRS-approved operation.

The FCC has already outlined circumstances underwhich an operator of such a station may be the paid employee of the entity and not violate this rule.

You have yet to show where there is even a hairbreadth bit of similarity between W1AW and the Maine Madman.

Idiot.

My, my, my little Chihuahua Toodles has another fag fit. You do cause QRM with your K1MAN -like "broadcasts" Toodles. I bet the FCC has taken notice of that fact, too.

Go to earth.google.com and download the google earth program and you can zoom in on 2test's little hovel. You may even be able to see all the port-a-potties lined up in his back yard that he cleans out.

That won't do. I want to see a front-on photo of the place and judging from what Dave says about it, no wide angle camera lens will be necessary.
Five rooms? 828 sq feet of living area?
That must be counting the basement, right????

Parcel ID 06-5008700000000
Tax Year 2005
Calculated Acres 0.1148
Appraised Land $14,800
Appraised Building $31,400
Total Appraised Value $46,200
Owner's Name Wiseman, Roger L.
Owner's Address 610 Glenhaven Ave.
Deed Book WB73
Page Number 448
Year Built 1928
Total Rooms 5
Living Area 828 Sq. Ft.

There's your tiny house on a tiny lot.
